

Mr. Hunter to Critics.

lived and she answered, "father looks after me. One winter I felt the cold and prayed for some blankets. The next day a rap came to my door and the blankets had been sent." Did you tell anyone else of your request, Aunt Ellen?"

"No."

Mr. Hunter then collected enough money to buy a house for this lady, but she would not leave her old home. When asked why, she said father had always looked after me, and will continue to do so.

One day the child of Elijah came down and took Aunt Ellen away to heaven.

When I go to heaven I want to go to Aunt Ellen's mansion and thank her.

Mr. Crossley then sang "The Sparrow Song." It was his first song since last Friday.

The Rev. Crossley in addressing the meeting said he wished to talk to them about Big Blunders.

Perchance all present had made one thousand and one.

The time to begeth the Christian was about the ages of 15 and 20.

In the first place people examined their feelings instead of their faith, and were prone to gauge their piety by their feelings and not by their faith.

One's feelings were affected by the liver, digestion and atmospheric changes, while one's faith was not similarly affected.

When a boy he used to read almanacs and imagined he had consumption, Bright's disease and in fact all the diseases peculiar to men, but thank God he was still spared.

In the second place some were sceptical and carped at the Bible and things divine.

Then again some were backsliders. "I won't ask you to hold up your hands, but you'd be ashamed to."

The Lord sent a special message to backsliders, "Go tell my disciples and Peter, who had denied him thrice."

Backsliders made the best Christians once they turned again to God. Some were secret Christians, not members of any church and openly confessing Him.

It was a great privilege they were offering people every evening, to come forward and confess themselves Christians. They wouldn't have to stop people in the street and ring their door bells then to tell them. Some required more feeling or conviction; it was thirty years ago since he ceased to wait on his feelings.

He once saw a strong man standing by a tree, and an ax was leaning against the tree. The speaker asked the man what he was waiting for and was told "I am waiting until I get a sweat up before cutting down the tree."

Feelings were nothing but moral perspirations, don't wait any longer; start right in.

In conclusion Mr. Crossley said the last kind of blunder was made by the seer in not coming out and seeking salvation openly.

There will be no service this evening, but all were requested to pray and prepare for the great Sabbath service.

Japanese Hand-Made Linens

We placed an order with a firm in Japan for these goods which were to have been delivered to us early in December for the Christmas trade. Through delays in shipping, however they have only just come to hand. They are not like lots of other goods, entirely and solely got up for Christmas selling, but are good serviceable lines that are useful at all times, but, as the quantity is somewhat large, we want to make a quick sale, and have accordingly priced them in such a way that you will readily see that the values are away higher than the prices.

For instance:
