

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

Mrs. E. D. Bowlby entertained a number of her friends at her home on Monday evening.

Mr. Sargent, of Tillsonburg, has commenced his new duties as clerk in the Big Store. He has rented a house from Mrs. Hopkins, Talbot St., and has moved his family here.

Mr. Roy Finch, of Toronto, was in town last week, seeing about having his furniture shipped to that city. Roy has purchased a big ready-repair shoe business in West Toronto and is doing fine.

The Aylmer Branch of the Red Cross Society will be At Home to all workers, also to those who have assisted financially, at their rooms in the Marshall block, on Friday afternoon, March 7th, from 4 to 7 o'clock. A special invitation is extended to all returned soldiers. An interesting program and refreshments will be served.

The funeral service of the late Mrs. Susan Pound, was held at the old home in the presence of a large company of sympathizing relatives and friends, on Friday, February 28th, at 2 p.m. and was conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. B. Brown, who spoke from a text chosen by the deceased, "In my Father's House are many mansions. I go to prepare a place for you." Rev. Mr. Dunlop, a former pastor also spoke a few words of appreciation of Mrs. Pound as a Christian, a neighbor and a mother. The choir sang very sweetly "I shall see Him Face to Face." The floral offerings from children, grandchildren, friends and the Mission Circle were beautiful and testified to the love and esteem in which the deceased was held. The interment was made in the Richmond cemetery. "She rests from her labors, but her works follow on."

One of the most enjoyable social events of the winter was the Assembly held by the Bachelors and Benedicts of Aylmer in the Opera House on Tuesday night. The hall was decorated for the occasion, and the music furnished by Fintel's orchestra, of Detroit, was possibly the finest ever heard in Aylmer. Many guests were present from out of town, and dancing was enjoyed until 2.30. The following were members of the committee in charge: H. M. Hambidge, Carl Thayer, George Raymond, K. Harris, Eric E. Bingham, George Bates, C. Haggan, J. P. Koyle, J. M. Young, H. Bingham, Treasurer, and R. W. Thayer, Secretary. This is the second dance this winter held by the Bachelors and Benedicts, and it is the intention to hold another before Easter.

DAWES & DAWES Auctioneers

Sales conducted anywhere in Ontario. Terms reasonable, satisfaction guaranteed. Arrangements can be made at L. O. Purdy's, Springfield, or John Dawes, Belmont, or Samuel Dawes, Springfield. Rural and Bell connection.

The Cutten homestead, south of Orwell, has been purchased by Messrs. Claude and Orion Partlow, who will take immediate possession. The farm stock, implements and household effects are being sold by auction to-day.

A very unique and novel electrolier is on exhibition in Fred W. Love's shoe store. It is a splendid pair of deer horns, nicely mounted, which have been bored out and wired. On the tip of each branch of the horns are mounted small frosted bulbs, which certainly make a pretty and valuable fixture. The horns are owned by Mr. Charles White, whose home is full of valuable trophies of the hunt.

As the weather still continues mild, Aylmer merchants and householders are wondering where their ice supply will come from this year. The ice on the H. M. Hambidge Co's. pond here is not thick enough to cut yet and it looks as though it would not freeze thick enough. In order to give their customers service next summer, Mr. Hambidge is seriously contemplating building an ice house at Springwater, where very good ice may be cut.

The remains of the late Mrs. Chas. Howarth were laid to rest in the Aylmer cemetery on Sunday last, after the arrival of the Wabash train from east at 11.48. Deceased was a former resident of Aylmer, but of late years has been making her home with her son, William, of Pembroke, N.Y. Her husband passed away while the family resided here. She is survived by but one son, Charles and a daughter, May, having predeceased her.

Lovers of good music, and clean high class entertainment had an opportunity on Wednesday evening of last week to listen to a genuine treat. The Ward-Buchner Concert Company under the auspices of St. Paul's Methodist choir, appeared in the church, before a good audience and everyone was delighted with the concert. The company have been giving concerts in Wallaceburg, Windsor, Detroit, St. Thomas and other western towns, and are on an extended tour throughout Ontario, the Maritime provinces, Maine and New York states. It is the first opportunity Aylmer has had of hearing the American violin virtuoso Corda Ward Buchner and the public are not lacking in their appreciation, every town and city making requests for a return visit. Her violin is a very valuable instrument with quite a history. The city in which she lived presented it to her as a token of appreciation of her wonderful playing at the age of twelve. Since that time her playing has developed until today she is one of America's greatest violinists. The company is well balanced and gives perfect and highly entertaining evenings' entertainment. The other members of the party are: Miss Braithwaite, Soprano; Mr. T. G. Mitchell, blind pianist; Miss Reva Horseman, Elocutionist and Miss Coughlin, accompanist, all of whom are artists in their different lines. For the benefit of those who were unable to be present, we add the program, not including the many encores; Mr. Mitchell; Caprice, Paganini. Nocturne; Chopin, Waltz; Chopin. Evelyn Holyoke Braithwaite, Break o' day, Sanderson. Reva Horseman, Selection from "A spinner in the sun" Myrtle Reed. "Almost beyond endurance" J. Whitcombe Riley. Corda Ward Buchner; Putzrak Fia, Kellar Bela. Part Second—Mr. Mitchell; Twilight, Etude de Concert, both of his own composition. Miss Braithwaite, Golden Bird, Wood. Reva Horseman, The Cattle Thief, Pauline Johnson. Corda Ward Buchner; Orientale Cesar Cui. To a wild rose, MacDonnell. Spanishher, Tanz.—Rehfeld. Miss Lenora Coughlin, Accompanist. The new piano used was a Newcombe, and was kindly loaned by Mr. Dan McLean, to whom the thanks of the choir have been extended. The quality of entertainment given by the choir in their selection of concert material is too well known to call for further comment.
