

It's a Marvel
In the Cup

GREEN, same price as Japan, only being absolutely pure it goes twice as far, and is more healthful in use. It will displace Japan tea just as "SALADA" Black Tea is displacing all other black teas.

Love's Fulfilling

CHAPTER XIV.

There was no concealment about Gladys Amory, reserved as her nature might be. It would have been impossible for her to hide any new knowledge from her father. Silence would only have widened the breach between them. Gladys did not open it, but the shock of disappointment had opened.

"I met Mr. Lindsey in New York," she said quietly, the first time she saw her father after her return. "He told me what I had not known before, by-gones, as he wrote to us both on leaving Boston."

Mr. Lindsey started and changed color. In spite of her own confession, Gladys was touched to the heart by the evident confusion in his usually calm, self-possessed manner.

"I have the letter still," he faltered, "but, Gladys, believe me, I thought I was acting for your best happiness in not giving it to you. Do you not remember when Charles Willoughby—"

"Dear papa," said his daughter, bending as she stood beside him, to kiss his forehead. "I did not ask the question, but you told me that what I love is done for what you thought my happiness, no doubt. But oh! there is such danger in being too ready to assume the responsibility of a happiness of which we cannot judge. But by-gones, as he wrote to us both on leaving Boston."

Mr. Lindsey started and changed color. In spite of her own confession, Gladys was touched to the heart by the evident confusion in his usually calm, self-possessed manner.

"I do not speak of the differences between us," Raymond had written. "With some men, I myself, should feel them so. With you I do not, for I am sure you know that what I love is done for what you thought my happiness, no doubt. But oh! there is such danger in being too ready to assume the responsibility of a happiness of which we cannot judge. But by-gones, as he wrote to us both on leaving Boston."

"I have the letter still," he faltered, "but, Gladys, believe me, I thought I was acting for your best happiness in not giving it to you. Do you not remember when Charles Willoughby—"

"Dear papa," said his daughter, bending as she stood beside him, to kiss his forehead. "I did not ask the question, but you told me that what I love is done for what you thought my happiness, no doubt. But oh! there is such danger in being too ready to assume the responsibility of a happiness of which we cannot judge. But by-gones, as he wrote to us both on leaving Boston."

"I do not speak of the differences between us," Raymond had written. "With some men, I myself, should feel them so. With you I do not, for I am sure you know that what I love is done for what you thought my happiness, no doubt. But oh! there is such danger in being too ready to assume the responsibility of a happiness of which we cannot judge. But by-gones, as he wrote to us both on leaving Boston."

"I have the letter still," he faltered, "but, Gladys, believe me, I thought I was acting for your best happiness in not giving it to you. Do you not remember when Charles Willoughby—"

"Dear papa," said his daughter, bending as she stood beside him, to kiss his forehead. "I did not ask the question, but you told me that what I love is done for what you thought my happiness, no doubt. But oh! there is such danger in being too ready to assume the responsibility of a happiness of which we cannot judge. But by-gones, as he wrote to us both on leaving Boston."

"I do not speak of the differences between us," Raymond had written. "With some men, I myself, should feel them so. With you I do not, for I am sure you know that what I love is done for what you thought my happiness, no doubt. But oh! there is such danger in being too ready to assume the responsibility of a happiness of which we cannot judge. But by-gones, as he wrote to us both on leaving Boston."

"I have the letter still," he faltered, "but, Gladys, believe me, I thought I was acting for your best happiness in not giving it to you. Do you not remember when Charles Willoughby—"

"Dear papa," said his daughter, bending as she stood beside him, to kiss his forehead. "I did not ask the question, but you told me that what I love is done for what you thought my happiness, no doubt. But oh! there is such danger in being too ready to assume the responsibility of a happiness of which we cannot judge. But by-gones, as he wrote to us both on leaving Boston."

"I do not speak of the differences between us," Raymond had written. "With some men, I myself, should feel them so. With you I do not, for I am sure you know that what I love is done for what you thought my happiness, no doubt. But oh! there is such danger in being too ready to assume the responsibility of a happiness of which we cannot judge. But by-gones, as he wrote to us both on leaving Boston."

"I have the letter still," he faltered, "but, Gladys, believe me, I thought I was acting for your best happiness in not giving it to you. Do you not remember when Charles Willoughby—"

"Dear papa," said his daughter, bending as she stood beside him, to kiss his forehead. "I did not ask the question, but you told me that what I love is done for what you thought my happiness, no doubt. But oh! there is such danger in being too ready to assume the responsibility of a happiness of which we cannot judge. But by-gones, as he wrote to us both on leaving Boston."

"I do not speak of the differences between us," Raymond had written. "With some men, I myself, should feel them so. With you I do not, for I am sure you know that what I love is done for what you thought my happiness, no doubt. But oh! there is such danger in being too ready to assume the responsibility of a happiness of which we cannot judge. But by-gones, as he wrote to us both on leaving Boston."

"I have the letter still," he faltered, "but, Gladys, believe me, I thought I was acting for your best happiness in not giving it to you. Do you not remember when Charles Willoughby—"

"Dear papa," said his daughter, bending as she stood beside him, to kiss his forehead. "I did not ask the question, but you told me that what I love is done for what you thought my happiness, no doubt. But oh! there is such danger in being too ready to assume the responsibility of a happiness of which we cannot judge. But by-gones, as he wrote to us both on leaving Boston."

"I do not speak of the differences between us," Raymond had written. "With some men, I myself, should feel them so. With you I do not, for I am sure you know that what I love is done for what you thought my happiness, no doubt. But oh! there is such danger in being too ready to assume the responsibility of a happiness of which we cannot judge. But by-gones, as he wrote to us both on leaving Boston."

"I have the letter still," he faltered, "but, Gladys, believe me, I thought I was acting for your best happiness in not giving it to you. Do you not remember when Charles Willoughby—"

"Dear papa," said his daughter, bending as she stood beside him, to kiss his forehead. "I did not ask the question, but you told me that what I love is done for what you thought my happiness, no doubt. But oh! there is such danger in being too ready to assume the responsibility of a happiness of which we cannot judge. But by-gones, as he wrote to us both on leaving Boston."

"I do not speak of the differences between us," Raymond had written. "With some men, I myself, should feel them so. With you I do not, for I am sure you know that what I love is done for what you thought my happiness, no doubt. But oh! there is such danger in being too ready to assume the responsibility of a happiness of which we cannot judge. But by-gones, as he wrote to us both on leaving Boston."

"I have the letter still," he faltered, "but, Gladys, believe me, I thought I was acting for your best happiness in not giving it to you. Do you not remember when Charles Willoughby—"

"Dear papa," said his daughter, bending as she stood beside him, to kiss his forehead. "I did not ask the question, but you told me that what I love is done for what you thought my happiness, no doubt. But oh! there is such danger in being too ready to assume the responsibility of a happiness of which we cannot judge. But by-gones, as he wrote to us both on leaving Boston."

"I do not speak of the differences between us," Raymond had written. "With some men, I myself, should feel them so. With you I do not, for I am sure you know that what I love is done for what you thought my happiness, no doubt. But oh! there is such danger in being too ready to assume the responsibility of a happiness of which we cannot judge. But by-gones, as he wrote to us both on leaving Boston."

of course so very soon, like his daily lounge at the club, his afternoon drive, his appearance together in society during the season, his punctilious presence at the morning service on Sundays; all this was taken for granted—could anything more be asked?

It was somewhat like the way in which he had met his wife when, after reading Raymond Lindsey's letter, she had come up to him, clasped her hands round his arm in mute pledge of devotion, and looked up at him earnestly, with half-tearful eyes.

"Has anything happened?" Morgan Amory asked in concern.

"Nothing," she said, "believe me, I am not nervous and unlike yourself? Yes, of course, I am a little more pale and drive with me, and the fresh air will do you good. Don't think of anything, my dear Gladys; it is so very unnecessary."

That charge was something which Mrs. Amory never seemed to forget. She was as calm, almost as indifferent as her husband now. To all casual beholders she was as calm, almost as indifferent as her husband now. To all casual beholders she was as calm, almost as indifferent as her husband now.

There were two, as beautiful as cherubs; little, home, three years old, and the baby, Amy.

[To be continued.]

JURY'S QUEER VERDICT

Strong Alibi Disregarded and Man Charged With Murdering His Wife Is Convicted.

London, March 2.—A murder case, which has been the most discussed topic of the week, was concluded to-night in the Central Criminal Court.

The body of a woman who had been lodging in Yarmouth under the name of Hood was found on the beach on the morning of Sept. 22. She had been strangled to death with one of her boot laces. The police established her identity as the wife of a man named Bennett, who was employed at a manufactory and lived at Woolwich.

After his arrival it was discovered that Bennett had separated from his wife some months before and had become engaged to a girl, with whom, on the day after the murder, he presented articles of dress and jewelry belonging to his wife. It was also stated that on the same day he arranged to marry the girl at Christmas.

Witnesses swore that they had seen Bennett and his wife together in Yarmouth on the night of Sept. 22, the day before the murder, and the servants of the hotel identified him as the man who had slept there on that night. Furthermore, his wife's watch and chain were discovered in Bennett's lodgings.

Up to yesterday this and all other evidence was against Bennett. Yesterday, however, his counsel sprung a surprise on the prosecution.

A respectable merchant came forward and identified Bennett as the man with whom he had an hour's conversation near Eltham on Sept. 22. They met accidentally, and afterwards had a social drink together at the Eltham Hotel. This would make it impossible for Bennett to be in Yarmouth on the night of the murder.

The merchant described accurately how Bennett was dressed, the name he gave, which was his own, and the story of his life as the prisoner had told it in the witness box.

A second volunteer witness came forward who swore that a man whose hands and face were scratched and with one of his boot-laces missing had rushed into his shop at Lowestoft on Sept. 24 and demanded a copy of a newspaper with an account of the murder. The man was so agitated that he was unable to find the story in the paper until it was pointed out to him. This shopkeeper informed the police of these facts.

The alibi put forward by the merchant seemed incontestable. He proved the date and the time of meeting with Bennett beyond any doubt. The jury, however, disregarded all this evidence entirely and returned a verdict of guilty.

GOOD WORK AT THE SOO.

Soe, Mich., March 5.—The plant of the American Alkali Company at the Canadian Soo at present is now turning out daily 4 tons of the most perfect caustic soda, and 3 tons of the highest quality of bleaching powder. Caustic soda is worth $69 a ton, and bleaching powder $40 a ton, making the value of the daily product $660. Additional plant to double the production is contemplated.

Nearly one-half the persons in this country die when they are children.

Walking to Work

Is the only way in which the business woman, employed in store or office, can get open air exercise. It is a wonder that she often grows pale and thin and develops a tendency to "weak" lungs.

When there is pain in breathing, soreness of the chest, obstinate cough, bleeding from the lungs or any other symptoms of disease of the respiratory organs, begin the use of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and continue the use until cured.

Ninety-eight in every hundred who have used "Golden Medical Discovery" for "lung trouble," have been perfectly and permanently cured.

"I was very sick indeed," writes Mrs. M. J. Jones, of 224 West 10th St., Des Moines, "and my doctor said I had consumption. I thought I was lost, but I felt so weak I could not sleep a room, now I can do a small washing. I feel like a new person."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure heart-burn.

Walking to Work

Is the only way in which the business woman, employed in store or office, can get open air exercise. It is a wonder that she often grows pale and thin and develops a tendency to "weak" lungs.

When there is pain in breathing, soreness of the chest, obstinate cough, bleeding from the lungs or any other symptoms of disease of the respiratory organs, begin the use of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and continue the use until cured.

Ninety-eight in every hundred who have used "Golden Medical Discovery" for "lung trouble," have been perfectly and permanently cured.

"I was very sick indeed," writes Mrs. M. J. Jones, of 224 West 10th St., Des Moines, "and my doctor said I had consumption. I thought I was lost, but I felt so weak I could not sleep a room, now I can do a small washing. I feel like a new person."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure heart-burn.

Walking to Work

Is the only way in which the business woman, employed in store or office, can get open air exercise. It is a wonder that she often grows pale and thin and develops a tendency to "weak" lungs.

When there is pain in breathing, soreness of the chest, obstinate cough, bleeding from the lungs or any other symptoms of disease of the respiratory organs, begin the use of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and continue the use until cured.

Ninety-eight in every hundred who have used "Golden Medical Discovery" for "lung trouble," have been perfectly and permanently cured.

"I was very sick indeed," writes Mrs. M. J. Jones, of 224 West 10th St., Des Moines, "and my doctor said I had consumption. I thought I was lost, but I felt so weak I could not sleep a room, now I can do a small washing. I feel like a new person."

THE WORLD OF SPORTS.

London Club Curlers Defeat Their Forest City Opponents.

Watford Hockey Players Win From Sarnia—Cricket Clubs Reorganizing for the Season—Turf and Other Sporting News.

CURLING.

A SOCIAL MATCH.

Two rinks each of the London and Forest City teams played a friendly game at the Simeco street rink yesterday afternoon. The London skips were Messrs. C. W. Andrus and J. P. Evans, and the Forest City skips were Messrs. W. T. Strong and John Burnett. The London rinks won, the total of shots up being 13.

HOCKEY.

WATFORD 16, SARNIA 3.

O. H. A. hockey team played here to-night. The visitors were easy for the home team. At no time were the Sarnia boys in the game, being outplayed at every point. The score was 16 to 3 in favor of Watford. The feature of the evening was the presentation of a half-time of a gold watch and chain to Pte. W. Richard Reynolds, of the C. M. R., who was returned from South Africa. The rink was gallantly decorated for the occasion.

ATHLETICS.

A WRESTLING MATCH.

New York, March 5.—"Prof." M. J. Dwyer, of Grand Rapids, Mich., and H. Quinn, of Montreal, met last night before the Passaic County Athletic Club, at Paterson, in a catch-as-catch-can wrestling match for a side bet of $100 and the gate receipts. Quinn weighed 190 pounds and Dwyer scaled only 150 pounds. Dwyer won the first fall in ten minutes. The second fall was won by him also. Parole, Dwyer's partner, challenged the winner for a side bet of from $100 to $500. Dwyer accepted.

FISIC.

A TEN-ROUND DRAW.

Tiffin, Ohio, March 6.—Kid Moore, of this city, and Freddy Green, of Toledo, feather-weight, fought a ten-round draw before the Tiffin Athletic Club. The bell saved Moore in the sixth round, otherwise the bout was very evenly contested.

CRICKET.

BROKE THE RECORD.

The match between South Australia and New South Wales was concluded at Sydney on Jan. 2. The game at the close of play on afternoon started with New South Wales, 157, and 7 wickets for 144; New South Wales, 158. With fifteen minutes to go, the match was in a state of suspense. The match was won by New South Wales by an innings and 66 runs. The mammoth score of 515 made by New South Wales is a world's record, the previous best being 488 by Yorkshire against Warwickshire in May, 1886. A second world's record was established in five scores of three figures each. The previous best was four by Yorkshire against Warwickshire (F. S. Jackson 157, Vainwright 126, Peel 120, not out, and Lord Hawke 160, and by Derbyshire against Hampshire (Wright 154, Storer 150, Chatterton 142, and G. Davidson 140). The ninth wicket fell at 311, and at 515 the innings closed. The time occupied was 9 hours, 20 minutes. Poole was not out, 150, and with the exception of a high and difficult chance to Hack at point, it was a perfect exhibition of batting. He hit twenty 4's and was at the wickets three hours and a half. His 150 (not out) stands as a record for a first appearance in first-class matches in Australia, the previous best being McIlwraith's 133 for Victoria vs. New South Wales at Melbourne, in December, 1885. The record score:

New South Wales—
F. A. Ireland, b. Jarvis, b. Travers, 115
V. Travers, b. Jarvis, 115
A. J. Hopkins, c. Jarvis, b. Travers, 127
G. A. Nobles, c. Jarvis, b. Travers, 127
S. E. Gregory, b. F. Jarvis, 168
R. A. Duff, st. Jarvis, b. Travers, 149
S. E. Gregory, c. Jarvis, b. Travers, 149
L. S. Poole, not out, 150
J. J. Kelly, c. Hill, b. Hack, 24
J. McIlwraith, c. Matthews, b. Bailey, 24
J. Marsh, b. Jarvis, 1
Extras 17

Total 515

THE KINGSVILLE CLUB.

An enthusiastic cricket meeting was held Thursday evening at Kingsville, at which Mr. E. O. Scratch presided and Mr. Fred Forster acted as secretary. The grounds at the Mettaws have again been secured for this season's play. The following officers were elected: Honorary president, Dr. S. A. King; president, J. Williamson; honorary vice-president, Mr. Byer; vice-presidents, Messrs. Jas. Doan, James Pastorius, O. W. Hunt, Westcott, S. L. McKee, Alex. Cowan and Charles Quirk; secretary, E. O. Scratch; treasurer, E. Brown; captain, Ernest Bailey; committee, Colin Wright, J. S. Middledough, R. Ueh, Alex. Brown and W. A. Smith.

RACING AT NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, March 6.—Track fast yesterday. Barring the third race, in which Admetus and Sir Fitzhugh were equal choices, all the favorites were beaten. Good Ale, after the last race, was run up to $200 and sold to J. P. Simma, Daniels & Co., in whose interest he ran yesterday, were suspended during an investigation of the horse's run.

First race, 6 furlongs, selling—W. J. Baker 1, Gobel 2, Elsie Del 3. Time, 1:15.4.
Second race, 1 1/2 miles, handicap, over 6 hurdles—Tommy O'Brien 1, Dick Purber 2, Miss Ransom 3. Time, 2:59.5.
Third race, 2 miles, selling—Admetus 1, Sir Fitzhugh 2, False Lead 3. Time, 3:33.
Fourth race, 1 1/2 miles, handicap—Skilman 1, Dissolute 2, Hood's Brigade 3. Time, 1:48.
Fifth race, 6 furlongs, selling—Meggs 1, Bert Davis 2, Garland Bar 3. Time, 1:38.
Sixth race, 1 mile and 70 yards, selling—Good Ale 1, Little Boy Blue 2, Blocker 3. Time, 1:48.

AQUATIC.

The London Rowing Club holds its annual meeting on Friday evening next at the Regent Hotel.

ONTARIO RIFLEMEN

Meet in Annual Session at Toronto—Election of Officers.

Toronto, March 5.—The feature of the annual meeting of the Ontario Rifle Association at the Military Institute this morning was a discussion of the need for improvements and enlargement of the Long Branch ranges at which the association meetings are held. Major J. J. Mason, of Hamilton, presided, and the reports showed a great improvement in the financial position. The officers elected were: President, E. B. Osler, M.P., vice-president, Lieut.-Col. White, Gunner, Major Mason, Hamilton; Lieut.-Col. Sam Hughes, Lindsay, and Lieut.-Col. Sherwood, Ottawa. On the council, E. B. Sales, of Essex county, replaces Capt. Carberry, of Guelph; Lieut.-Col. Macdonald, of the 48th Highlanders, Mr. W. T. Jennings, of this city, and Major Sylvester, of Lindsay, Lieut. Varcoe, of Kingston, Capt. Cartwright, definitely announced his retirement as secretary-treasurer, and the council will this afternoon appoint a successor.

REFERRED BACK TO COMMITTEE

Trustees Not Yet Prepared to Abolish Midsummer Exams.

The Matter To Be Further Ventilated—Mr. C. W. Horton's Case Also Referred Back—Falling Off in Collegiate Institute Attendance.

ABOUT $33,000

Required by the Police Force This Year—Meeting of the Police Commissioners.

At yesterday's meeting of the police commissioners the estimates for the year were made out and adopted. The meeting was held in the office of Magistrate Love, all of the members of the board—Judge William Elliot, Mayor Rumball, Magistrate Love and Chief Williams—being present.

The board decided to ask the city council to grant them $32,974.25 for all purposes, which is $254.75 less than was asked last year.

Of the $32,974.25, $30,064.25 is required for salaries. Clothing and equipment will involve an outlay of $1,560, and lighting and sundries $1,350. The board also received tenders for the supply of clothing for the year from Joseph Dambra, T. F. Kingsmill, J. & D. Ross, Slater Bros., James Slater and Deeks & Munson.

The tender of Joseph Dambra was accepted for the cloth pants and serge tunics at $14.25 for the suit. The tender of J. & D. Ross was accepted for the winter pants, which are of waterproof cloth, at $5.50 per pair. The outlay for clothing of the kinds named will be about $800.

WEALTHY BACHELOR HANGS HIMSELF.

Utica, N.Y., March 5.—Chester Tuttle, a bachelor, 70 years of age, residing with his sisters' family at Fly Creek, hanged himself in his barn, leaving no explanation for his act. Tuttle owned two of the finest farms in the county, had a farm in the west and a comfortable bank account.

No. 1 committee will report on a comparison of the Stratford and Collegiate Institute tennis club, for the monthly reports of teachers, as recommended by No. 1 committee, was referred back. The board wanted a more comprehensive report before considering the matter.

The proposal to raise Mr. C. W. Horton from one grade to another at the Collegiate Institute, involving an increase in salary, was referred back, with instructions to bring in a complete report on the grading of the teachers at the institute. The committee will also report on the matter of an increase of salary to Mr. Ferguson, of the institute staff.

The city council notified the board that their request for tenders to the amount of $17,300 had been granted. The communication was filed.

Misses Laidlaw and Pope were given leave to attend the International Kindergarten Union at Chicago during the week following Easter.

The request for a grant to the Collegiate Institute tennis club, for the monthly reports of teachers, as recommended by No. 1 committee, was referred back. The board wanted a more comprehensive report before considering the matter.

The proposal to raise Mr. C. W. Horton from one grade to another at the Collegiate Institute, involving an increase in salary, was referred back, with instructions to bring in a complete report on the grading of the teachers at the institute. The committee will also report on the matter of an increase of salary to Mr. Ferguson, of the institute staff.

The city council notified the board that their request for tenders to the amount of $17,300 had been granted. The communication was filed.

Misses Laidlaw and Pope were given leave to attend the International Kindergarten Union at Chicago during the week following Easter.

The request for a grant to the Collegiate Institute tennis club, for the monthly reports of teachers, as recommended by No. 1 committee, was referred back. The board wanted a more comprehensive report before considering the matter.

The proposal to raise Mr. C. W. Horton from one grade to another at the Collegiate Institute, involving an increase in salary, was referred back, with instructions to bring in a complete report on the grading of the teachers at the institute. The committee will also report on the matter of an increase of salary to Mr. Ferguson, of the institute staff.

The city council notified the board that their request for tenders to the amount of $17,300 had been granted. The communication was filed.

Misses Laidlaw and Pope were given leave to attend the International Kindergarten Union at Chicago during the week following Easter.

The request for a grant to the Collegiate Institute tennis club, for the monthly reports of teachers, as recommended by No. 1 committee, was referred back. The board wanted a more comprehensive report before considering the matter.

The proposal to raise Mr. C. W. Horton from one grade to another at the Collegiate Institute, involving an increase in salary, was referred back, with instructions to bring in a complete report on the grading of the teachers at the institute. The committee will also report on the matter of an increase of salary to Mr. Ferguson, of the institute staff.

The city council notified the board that their request for tenders to the amount of $17,300 had been granted. The communication was filed.

Misses Laidlaw and Pope were given leave to attend the International Kindergarten Union at Chicago during the week following Easter.

The request for a grant to the Collegiate Institute tennis club, for the monthly reports of teachers, as recommended by No. 1 committee, was referred back. The board wanted a more comprehensive report before considering the matter.

The proposal to raise Mr. C. W. Horton from one grade to another at the Collegiate Institute, involving an increase in salary, was referred back, with instructions to bring in a complete report on the grading of the teachers at the institute. The committee will also report on the matter of an increase of salary to Mr. Ferguson, of the institute staff.

The city council notified the board that their request for tenders to the amount of $17,300 had been granted. The communication was filed.

Misses Laidlaw and Pope were given leave to attend the International Kindergarten Union at Chicago during the week following Easter.

The request for a grant to the Collegiate Institute tennis club, for the monthly reports of teachers, as recommended by No. 1 committee, was referred back. The board wanted a more comprehensive report before considering the matter.

The proposal to raise Mr. C. W. Horton from one grade to another at the Collegiate Institute, involving an increase in salary, was referred back, with instructions to bring in a complete report on the grading of the teachers at the institute. The committee will also report on the matter of an increase of salary to Mr. Ferguson, of the institute staff.

The city council notified the board that their request for tenders to the amount of $17,300 had been granted. The communication was filed.

Misses Laidlaw and Pope were given leave to attend the International Kindergarten Union at Chicago during the week following Easter.

The request for a grant to the Collegiate Institute tennis club, for the monthly reports of teachers, as recommended by No. 1 committee, was referred back. The board wanted a more comprehensive report before considering the matter.

The proposal to raise Mr. C. W. Horton from one grade to another at the Collegiate Institute, involving an increase in salary, was referred back, with instructions to bring in a complete report on the grading of the teachers at the institute. The committee will also report on the matter of an increase of salary to Mr. Ferguson, of the institute staff.

The city council notified the board that their request for tenders to the amount of $17,300 had been granted. The communication was filed.

Misses Laidlaw and Pope were given leave to attend the International Kindergarten Union at Chicago during the week following Easter.

The request for a grant to the Collegiate Institute tennis club, for the monthly reports of teachers, as recommended by No. 1 committee, was referred back. The board wanted a more comprehensive report before considering the matter.

average attendance at the Collegiate Institute for the month of February was $3 less than for the corresponding month last year. The total number enrolled was 544 and the average was 491. Inspector Carson's recommendation that gloves be purchased for several of the schools was sent to committee.

A letter from Mr. W. H. Hartman, advocating the securing of legislation determining the respective rights of municipal councils and school boards, was filed.