AT THE ASYLUM

Patients and Staff Enjoy Themselves in Out-of-Door Games.

The annual sports at the asylum were held yesterday afternoon. For fourteen years this day of sports has been the great day of the summer season, a holiday for patients and staff, and a time of capital fun all round. It has a good reputation both in the surrounding country and the city, and each year many visitors have gone to the beautiful grounds at the asylum to witness the contests. Yesterday they were present in large numbers, and had a solid afternoon of en-joyment. Among the crowd were many of the best known men of the city, all of whom assisted merrily in making the day the great success it was. Races of all kinds and various other tests of skill and muscular vigor were entered in by the patients and others who were eligible, and contested vigorously. The asylum authorities had worked very hard to make the day successful in all respects, and, with the aid of delightful weather, achieved a gratifying success.

LORD'S DAY ALLIANCE

The Annual Meeting of the London Branch,

The annual meeting of the London branch of the Lord's Day Alliance was held last night in the First Presbyterian Church. The attendance was not large, but what was lacking in the attendance was made up in the attention accorded the speakers and the zeal on the part of the speakers which called forth that attention. The principal speakers were Rev. G. J. Bishop, paster of the First Methodist Church and Mr. John Patterson, K.C., of Levento. Both speakers dwelt upon the necessity of co-operation with labor unions in the matter of enforcing Sabbath observance.

forcing Sabbath observance.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Rev. J. G. Stuart; vice-president, Rev. C. T. Scott; treasurer, Mr. George W. Armstrong; auditors, Ald. Greenlees and J. G. Wright. The executive committee consists of the following persons: J. G. Wright, W. B. Saunders, Alexander Fraser, George Robinson, Thomas McCormick and the pastors of the city churches.

"A BRACE OF PARTRIDGES." "A BRACE OF PARTRIDGES."

The value of having a theater on a first-class circuit is appreciated when such plays as "A Brace of Partridges" are presented. No cleaner-cut farce-comedy has ever been put on in London. Mr. H. Reeves-Smith made good the declaration of Mr. Richard Golden that "he is without doubt the finest comedian on the English or American stage today." His impersonation of the dual role of the His impersonation of the dual role of the His impersonation of the dual role of the two Partridges was a delightful piece of work, and the large audience that was at the Grand recalled him repeatedly in enthusiastic appreciation. Mr. Reeves-Smith has not depended upon his own acting alone to make the play, but has selected a company of capable actors and actresses to assist him. Miss Margaret Robinson won the audience at the first by her natural charm of manner. The other members of the company took their her members of the company took their parts with much skill. As for the play itself, it is simply a modernized "Comedy of Errors," with nicely conceived situations and cleverly written dialogue.

SHEA'S ON MONDAY.

Tomorrow's papers will contain a full list of the artists to be offered vaudeville lovers, as numbers of the first bill presented in this city by Mr. Shea's own show, direct from his Toronto and Buffalo theaters. Mr. Shea is very anxious to place high-class vaudeville on a permanent basis in London, and promises as early headliners such noted stars as Jessie Bartlett Davis, Edna Waliace Hopper, Eugene Cowles, James J. Cor-Hopper, Eugene Cowles, James J. Corbett, etc. The Shea attractions will appear in London at exactly the same prices as in Toronto and Buffalo, the best seat in the house being offered at 50 cents. The scale of prices will be 50, 35 and 25 cents with matiness at 25 cents and 25 cents.

An engagement that will find many patrons has been made in the re-engagement of the Burrill Comedy Company, ment of the Burrill Comedy Company, supporting Laura Hulbert in a repertoire of popular plays, at the London Opera House for two weeks, commencing Monday next. The opening bill will be the strong society drama, "Felectia," a play which Miss Hulbert has had in preparation this past summer. The company is greatly strengthened by the addition of several new artists, and doubtless at their opening engagement next Monday they will be greeted by a packed house. Among the repertoire to be given for the first time in London will be "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and "Ten Nights in a Bar Room." Seats now on sale.

Brother of Preceding Witness Gives Evidence Against Gerald Sifton.

Tells of the Prisoner Calling at His Boarding House on the Night of June 29 and What Transpired --- The Mysterious Vial.

At the Sifton murder trial this morning, court resumed promptly at 9:30. The crowd in attendance was smaller than usual, several benches at the back being unoccupied.

On opening of court, James Morden again took the stand. To Mr. Riddell he said he Gerald said he had talked with his father and he had persuaded him to postpone the marriage for some time. Edgar was with me, and Edgar told him he had better be careful as to how he told about knocking the boards off with the axe, as there were only hammer marks on the board.'

On Saturday, July 7, witness saw Gerald again and had a conversation "Gerald asked me if I had seen the boys lately and how they were feeling, meaning my brother and Edgar.

I said I hadn't seen them. He said Edgar had told him we were all of the same opinion and BELIEVED HIM IN FAULT.

He asked if we were not paid were we going to squeal on him. He said He said Edgar had told him it would take the price of a fifty-acre farm to do so. I said as far as I was concerned I would not accept a soiltary cent if I was bordering on starvation. I said I thought my brother was of the same opinion as myself, but I would see him and let Gerald know. I saw my brother and then saw Gerald and told him my brother said

WOULD NOT ACCEPT ANYTHING and had no intention whatever of not keeping quiet. This was on the Sun-day following Joseph Sifton's death." To Mr. Johnston, witness said that it was about six miles from his boarding house to Gerald's. Witness did not resent Gerald's allegation about Mary McFarlane's relations with Joseph Sifton. Edgar and Martin went to Gerald's on Sunday. Before going they had been at Joseph Sifton's barn, looking around, and were interrupted in their conversation by Ephraim Bathurst. Witness told Bathurst afterwards that they were seeing how the murder might have occurred. Witness and Edgar met at James' house, and wheeled over to the Sifton barn. They went there to see the remains, but they had been removed to Gerald's house. Edgar suggested that they go to the barn and make an examination. Witness supposed Edgar

P. C. ROBERTSON.

Robert Robertson, a member of the London police force, heard of Joseph Sifton's death about 10 p.m. on Saturday, June 30. Witness identified prisoner as the man he met on Dundas street, near Ontario street, London East, at about 12:45 o'clock on Saturday morning. Prisoner was looking for a boarding house kept by a Mr. Henderson. Prisoner wanted to find a man who used to work for Prisoner mentioned the name, which witness could not remember, but thought it was Martin. Prisoner said he came about seven miles, from St. Johns. After casual conversation witness asked prisoner his name and he said it was Gerald Sifton. Witness tried to find the house for Gerald, but could not. Gerald went away, came back, and told witness that a lady said the house was next to Kilgour's. Witness found later that Martin Morden lived in the house. Gerald said he wanted to find Morden because he had a message for him. Witness offered to deliver a message before a.m., but prisoner said it would not do, as he wanted to take Morden out with him. Gerald went to the house and rang the bell. A man came, went back, and sent another man out. Gerald went into the house with him and came out at 1:30. him. Witness did not hear her broth- THE ASSASSIN'S DOOM! There was no cross-examination.

ANDREW GARDINER, living on lot 17, con. 6, of London township, last saw Joseph Sifton alive on Saturday morning, June 30, about 6:05 Sifton was driving east on con. 6, and turned south on the Proof Line road. Sifton had a lady with him but witness did not know who she was. Witness was about 40 yards away when they pass

Mr. Johnston did not cross-examine, and witness left the stand, but was recalled by Mr. Riddell to answer some further questions.

Witness went to Joseph Sifton's barn about 3 p.m. the same afternoon. Witness saw John Sifton pick up the axe and three bricks, and carry them away. There were other bricks around, some near and some farther away. Witness saw the place from which Sifton was said to have fallen. Witness WOULD NOT HAVE GOT UP THERE stood on the tie-beam, he said. From the tie-beam a man could not fall through the opening. To Mr. Johnston, witness said that after one board was off, a man might stand on the collar-beam and knock boards off, or he might get on the outside, holding by the collar-beam, and fall from there. Witness knew Joseph Sifton and knew he was a ventureso and an active man, who had met with a number of accidents in his life. Jos eph Sifton's windmill extended high above the barn, and a man who would climb up there after night would climb almost anywhere.

ANOTHER OTTAWA CASE. ardly crime. Frank Chartrand Saved From Bright's Disease by Dodd's

Kidney Pills.

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 23.-Special-Frank Chartrand, a resident of this city, has reason for gratitude to Dodd's Kidney Pills. They saved him from Bright's Disease, which cannot be cured in any other way, and he is grateful.

'I am glad," he writes, "to be able to add my name to the long list of witnesses for Dodd's Kidney Pills. I suffered with Backache, Drowsiness, and a heavy feeling in my limbs; frequent severe headaches, and other sharp pains in the top of my head which troubled me at my work. I used to have cramps in my fingers and legs, unusual and occasional near the house; the former said he had pains in the loins; dizziness, shortness of breath, pain in the left side, variuzolgosz Has a Little Over Four Weeks to Live-How the President's Murderer Took His Sentence.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 26.—Leon F. Czolgosz, the assassin of President McKinley, was this afternoon tenced to be electrocuted in Auburn state prison in the week beginning

Before sentence was pronounced the assassin evinced a desire to speak, but he could not get his voice above a whisper, and his counsel repeated his words to the court. "There was no one else but me," said Czolgosz. "No one else told me to do it; and no one paid me to do it. I was not told anything about the crime, and I never thought anything about that until a couple of days before the crime." "Czolgosz sat down. He was calm, to knock the boards off; he would have but his temples glistened with perspiration. His weakness and vanishing strength were well indicated by his difficulty of speech.

The detectives touched the prisoner on the shoulder and told him to stand up, that they might place the handcuffs on his wrists. He looked at them with an expression of the profoundest fear and helplessness in his eyes. He glanced at the crowd who were anxious to get a glimpse at his face. It was evident that he feared violence.

At this juncture, Judge Titus stepped over and said in a kind voice: Czolgosz, good-bye." "Good-bye." plied the prisoner, tremulously. prisoner was hurried down stairs and through the "Tunnel of Sobs" to the jail, where he will remain until taken Sheriff Caldwell was asked if he was ready to take the prisoner to Auburn. "You may say that no one but those who will act as guards and myself will know the time of departure.
