ORGANIC CHURCH UNION DESIRABLE

The Meeting at Whitby Drafts a Constitution.

NOT TO BE PRESSED AT PRESENT

Some Difficulties in the Way of the Anglican Church Entering a Union.

Whitby, May 3. - Church union which has been in the air at several places in the Province recently, seems to have reached almost the tops of the mulberry trees in the County of On-The idea had its origin or, perhaps it would be more correct to say that it was quickened by the peculiar conditions in the village of Brooklin, Here are three churches, and it happened that Rev. J. B. Maclaren, Presbyterian; Rev. M. E. Wilson, Methodist, and Rev. James Harris, Church of England, are all on the most friendly terms. It was natural should arise, and one phase of the question was particularly interesting in that the Church of England clergyman took a leading part. A prelimi ary meeting was held in Brooklin, and the result was so satisfactory that it was decided to call another and larger meeting about a month ago in the hall of the Ladies' College at Whitby. Unfortunately the roads were very and, moreover, there was a storm that night, which, in itself, would have kept many away. It was, therefore, decided to hold another meeting yester-

Those present were: Presbyterian Rev. J. Abraham, Whitby; Rev. P. F. Sinclair, Sombra. Rev. Hugh Crozier, Ashburn; Methodist, Rev. J. E. Moore, Pickering; Rev. M. E. Wilson, Brooklin; Rev. V. H. Emory, Whitby, and Rev. Dr. Hare, principal of Whitby Ladies' College; Baptist, Rev. M. Gold. Whitby, and Church of England, Rev. A. H. Wright, Whitby, in the place of Rev. James Harris, as secretary, who was unable to be present. The discussion was on the lines of agitating and stirring up the Christian sentiment ra-ther than on any definite basis. It was evident from the first that there would be difficulties for the Church of England in organic union. A draft constitution for the union of Presbyterans, Methodists and Congregationalists was submitted, but it was not thought wise to press at the pr time. But consideration of financial means and effective results made a strong impression. Rev. J. E. Moore, Methodist, for example, pointed out the waste involved in maintaining five Christian churches in Pickering, which had only 500 to 700 inhabitants. Rev. Dr. Hare, Whitby, was a strong advocate of breaking down narrow denominationalism and building up a wide and strong Christian unity. The situation, he said, was not the same finncially in Whitby as in Pickering, but there was the kindliest feeling between all denominations. As an instance, he Catholic pupils in the college, one in her third year, and they all had perfect liberty in matters of religion. As a further instance, he said, that recently a Methodist clergyman had given an address in the college upon Father Ryan's poems, and the Roman Catholic clergyman, who was a frequent visitor, presided on that occasion. In the evening a public meeting on The notice given of it was insufficient, but, nevertheless, there was a fair attendance. Rev.
