London Denies The Charges.

MAYOR CAMPBELL-We did not believe there was room for suspicion of contamination of the London water supply when the first report was issued, and we are of the same opinion now. The traces of rollution mentioned as being found by the provincial authorities could have been in any water supply anywhere. I still have absolute confidence in the London water supply. The almost complete absence of typhoid in the city is proof positive that the water supply is pure. There was nothing in the epidemic of last year to warrant the conclusion that the London water supply was at fault, DR. ENGLISH, Chairman of the Board of Health-I have absolute faith in the purity of the London water supply. The present healthful condition of the city shows the water to be pure. The board of health has not been lax in its care of the health of the citizens of London.

SUPT. MOORE, of the Waterworks-The idea that surface water can flow into the collecting ponds is a fallacy. We have always taken great care of our sources of supply and our collecting. I believe the water supply of London to be as pure as it is possible

DR. HUTCHINSON, M. H. O.-I have confidence in the water supply. I have no reason to believe it is anything but pure, CITY ENGINEER GRAYDON-All the coke has been replaced in the sewage beds and the sewage of the city now passes through them. While a fire was blazing in the barns, spectators called out that the family of Louis Nelson, the foreman of the barns, was cut off by the flames. Without waiting for his men to accompany him, Mayer seized an axe and rushed into the building. The blazing hay gave out a thick smoke, but he managed to grope his way to the rooms, only to discover that the family already had escaped. Overcome, he fell face downward in the room and died.

As London is far to the south of the track of totality, only a part of the sun's surface will be ob

But in the magic line of totality there is a great deal more to be seen. The line is like a large pencil mark, 167 miles wide, commencing at Lake Winnipeg, and moving with almost incredible speed through Canada to Labrador. It will enter the Atlantic a few miles north of Newfoundland, cross over to Spain, which country is traversed diagonally, plunge Algiers and Tunis into some minutes of darkness, and crossing over Assouan on the Nile will end in Southeastern Arabia. For the people in this area an inky darkness will approach like a giant wall extending miles into the heavens, and when the line of shadow passes where they may stand, all will be dark as in the twilight. Then will come the corona, the magnificent wreath of sun flames standing out like a halo around the black disk of the moon.

The reason for this long swath of darkness is simple. The moon is spherical, and when it comes between the sun and the earth there is a long conelike shadow projected towards the north. It is like the point of a giant pencil, and the end which touches the earth is 167 miles across. The speed with which it travels from west to east along the earth's surface is due to the speed with which the earth revolves in the opposite direction. When the shadow strikes obliquely as it does at sunrise it travels with terrific speed, as great as 5,000 miles an hour.

"Rubber" At Old Sol Tomorrow Morning.

Providing there is a clear sky at sunrise tomorrow. Londoners who are about will be enabled to get an idea of what a total eclipse of the sun means. At 5:39 tomorrow morning the moon's shadow will creep across the disc of the sun, until 77 per cent of the surface is hidden away. The eclipse will
