Chief Ranger of I. O. F. Tells of Moneys Used in the Western Land Deals.

Toronto, Feb. 21.-With the conclu sion late on Saturday afternoon of the evidence of Mr. Elliot G. Stevenson supreme chief ranger of the Independent Order of Foresters, the first stage in the libel suit of the Hon. George E. Foster against Dr. J. A. Macdonald Milkmen's Exhibit Will Likely Be Held editor of The Globe, may be said to have closed. The day was not without incidents of a deeply interesting nature, and in the cross-examination The grounds and buildings commitin repartee and directness of answer he could easily hold his own. The investments of the Union Trust Company in lands in the west were summarized by the witness, and shown to be as follows:
The Montague loan mortgage, $133,

The Great West Land Company, $958,000 Aird Land agreement of June 1, 1909, $229,150

Aird Land agreement of a late date, $94.080. Carrot River Lands. $204.800. Swan River lands, $52,080. Kamloops lands, lumber, mills and other properties, $1,000,000. Total investment, $2,671,110. Hugh Sums Used. It was also shown that from Octo ber, 1903, to the end of 1904, the In dependent Foresters advanced to the Union Trust Company $1,337,500.

vote which $340,000 was for investments. and $997,500 for stock in the company The total advances were $1,582,217 27 For the investments outside the stock the Foresters got no security. Mr. Stevenson said the investments were repaid, and he believed all the stock would be returned.

One of the amusing passages of the day occurred when Mr. Hellmuth, cross-examination, was pressing Mr. Stevenson as to the antagonistic titude he had adopted in regard to the ise of the Foresters' funds for speculative purposes. "I may tell you Hellmuth," said Mr. Stevenson, did not look at it from a Sunday school point of view." "Oh! I am glad to hear you say so," responded counthe son of a bishop would have looked at it from that point of view," was Mr. Stevenson's smiling retort, amid a burst of laughter, which was renewed when Mr. Hellmuth, in no way discomfited, replied: "It is too bad to remind me of that. I have been trying to live it down for years.

Mr. Hellmuth appeared to be anxious that Mr. Stevenson should know that bank directors could loan money of the bank to themselves, and that inferentially company directors managers could do the same. Stevenson could not believe that the law would permit directors of a trust ompany to lend money to themselves, for their own benefit, and he thought "law and morals go pretty well
