BUY AT HOME CAMPAIGN MEETING

R. A. Macaulay Going to Moncton to Organize Branch

St. John, Aug. 29.—A meeting of the executive committee of the "Buy at Home and Maritime Made" campaign was held on Thursday and a progress report was submitted by the secretary.

The committee members present were Hon. W. E. Foster (chairman), R. P. Hayes, M. P., J. G. Harrison, W. C. Allison, P. W. Roach, R. A. Macaulay, field organizer, and P. H. Butler, secretary. J. M. Robinson being out of town, was unable to attend.

Hon. W. E. Foster stated that he was firmly convinced that the "Buy at Home" and "Maritime Made" movement would be the means of righting many of the industrial ills obtaining in this part of Canada, and with a really responsive from the public, looked forward to a material improvement in Maritime activities.

In view of the highly satisfactory report submitted, it was decided by the committee to immediately commence campaign activities as a part of the general organization work.

The work of the secretary and the field organizer was reviewed and further plans formulated. It is expected that Mr. Macaulay will proceed to Moncton within the next few days, for the purpose of organizing business interests there.

A POOR ALIBI

Sir: The radio comes in useful after all. I returned home the other morning, about 8 a.m. from a little genteel game of cards, and was just getting along the hall to my room, when I had the bad luck to find that my wife called out from her room. "Is that you, Abbe?" Quick as a thought I started to murmur in a low voice: "This station is broadcasting the radio play, 'The Case of the Missing Girl', by Rachmaninoff, and played by Miss Shannon. Whereas, I am not."

Which if I say so myself, was darned cute of me. The only thing wrong was that my wife knew something I didn't, that "Sonny" was completely dismantled his set that evening.

The short and simple cuss words of his poor make poverty less annoying when applied to the rich.

It is especially annoying to be arrested for speeding after you have got by several hundred times.

WILL ADVERTISE MARITIME PROVINCES

The installation of a radio broadcasting plant at Moncton in connection with the Canadian National Railways is an event of considerable interest not only to employees of the railway but to the public generally.

Aside from the entertainment that may be afforded, there should be much information broadcast that will prove beneficial to the Maritime Provinces.

Many instructive addresses pertaining to the resources and development of the country are being broadcast from the C. N. R. stations, already constructed. The messages are picked up hundreds of miles away, a great deal of information reaching Canada from being made available for people in the United States.

With the new station at Moncton completed, those who arrange the programs will doubtless give serious attention to the dissemination of facts regarding the Maritime Provinces. Thousands of people in the New England States for instance will be able to listen in stories of tourist attractions and opportunities for industrial development in the Atlantic Region. And the Maritime view-point on various public issues can be broadcast.

Now that many observers are emphrasing the need of increased publicity in the interests of the Maritime Provinces, the possibilities of using local Maritime advantages through the radio should not be overlooked.—Moncton Transcript.

TWO LIBERALS ARE ELECTED

Rimouski and St. Antoine Return Supporters for Gov.

Montreal, Sept. 2.—Two Liberal candidates were returned in the federal by-elections held today in the Quebec Province constituencies of Rimouski and the St. Antoine division of Montreal. In the former Major General Sir Eugene Fiset, late deputy Minister of Defence, was elected over his Conservative opponent, Elzéar Sasseville, advocate of Rimouski, by a majority which late returns placed around 1,800.

In the latter, Alderman W. J. Hushon was returned by a majority of approximately 1,000 over the Conservative standard bearer, W. M. Birks, of Montreal.

HUMORIST WRITES ROAD SIGNS

"Bugs" Baer, a well-known newspaper humorist, has written and published a series of "road signs," probably merely intended to entertain. But many of them might be erected with benefit to the safety of traffic.

"Don't run up your mileage with kids," contains a lot of real caution in tabloid form, "Don't do your thinking with brakes," will strike a responsive chord in every man who has had near-nervous prostration at the sight of the reckless driver stopping in a hurry. "There are three grades of eggs, but only one grade of crossing, and that's dangerous," ought to be posted in the hats of all those who try to "beat the train" across its right of way.

"The glass in your windshield is the same stuff they put in hospital windows. Which you look through?" is a very pertinent query, and "Fifteen miles an hour may be a chill, but fifty is fever," is not too medical to be understood.

To towns troubled with too much speeding by tourists, Mr. Baer suggests "Speed limit in this town fifteen miles an hour. One day for every mile over that!" or "We have seven hotels and one jail, take your pick!"

"Don't try to scare locomotives with your horns," "Be nice to the clerks, they may not take the time to themselves and the general public."

In other words (Mr. Baer once more), "Accident insurance is a good thing to have without the accident."

There is also the violent wag of friendly greeting when advancing to welcome a guest.

There is also the violent wag of welcome for members of the family when one expects momentarily to see it wag loose from its moorings.

There is the apologetic wag, which comes into play when a reprimand is administered, and other movements, respectively, adagio, etc., "too numerous to mention."

It is also useful as a flag. On joyful occasions with what joyful abandon it is flung to the breeze.

In moments of dejection how mournfully it hangs at half mast, in time of error disappearing entirely, only to reappear happily at the first word or earnest. And how it will wriggle at the first sign of danger to a loved one.

Then there is the gentle, almost imperceptible motion which is reserved for the best beloved, how tenderly, albeit motionally, he speaks, as in love, his head on the knee

THE DOG'S EXPRESSIVE TAIL

David Lee Wharton

In his long and intimate association with man the dog, though lacking human speech, has evolved a method of expressing himself. By the tail he tells us what he is thinking.

This highly important member is quite sufficient as a means of communication. It speaks the language of the heart more eloquently than words.

As a barometer there is none more accurate; with it, its owner registers every known emotion. With it he responds intelligently to every advance, friendly or otherwise. There are none so dull as to be unable to read its message.

Most Informative, Contained in Publications of Natural Resources Intelligence Service

When the Scottish editors visited the Maritime Provinces recently they remarked on the lack of knowledge in Scotland of this portion of Canada. This same condition exists elsewhere unfortunately.
