One restriction which has prevent ed a great many men from joining the ranks of Canada's army has been the regulation prohibiting the acceptance of a recruit wearing any artificial teeth. This regutation has been amodified, so that those with only martial plates are now acceptable

The rural routes were established for the benefit of rural homes, or in other words the farmers. They have heve proven a greater benefit and blessing to the farmers than was ever anticipated by the most sanguine. A farmer who has once enjoyed the advantages of the rural mail service would hardly know how to live without it. It did not come to the farmer, however, until he had many times earned it. The farmers are our heaviest taxpayers. What property they have is in plain sight and is taxed, while the town gents, at least some of them, who deal in motes and bonds, are able to hide their wealth from the assessor.

WATFORD PEOPLE PRAISE SIMPLE MIXTURE

Many in Watford praise the simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., known as Adler-i-ka. The Western Fair

The Western Fair of London, Ontario as an Agricultural Exhibition occupies prominent position in Western Ontario, and throughout the whole Dominion. This will be the Forty-eight Annual Exhibition without a break, and every dollar of prize money won during that time has been paid. The management has been increasing the prize list from rear to year and this year through the assistance of the Dominion Government they are enabled to add over $3,000 to what was already a liberal list. WAR TIME "AGONIES"

THE TIMES REVEALS STRANGE RECORD OF CONFLICT.

Numberless Charitable Funds, Many of Which Are Anything But Welcome to the War Office, Are Advertised In Columns of Paper-Swindlers Use War to Work on Sympathies of British Public.

The British censor has pencilled out hundreds of important events connected with the war, but discriminating readers of the Personal or "Agony" columns of the big London dailies have unfolded to them the story of the war as it is being lived by the pecple, and told by the adver-tisers in appeals to the public, tragical, comical, and ridiculously exag-

The poignant grief of the soldier's wife or mother is sharply outlined in the dignified, simple statements of facts relating to the soldier's identifacts relating to the soldier's identification, asking for news from any one close at hand when he died. The petty ambitions of "society climbers" are portrayed in their efforts to "butt in" among the great folks of the army and navy, by pushing themselves into the limelight through projects designed to contribute to the comfort of the soldiers and sailors but entirely unauthorized by the officials, who, on their part. by the officials, who, on their part, consider that the Government ought to take measures against such interference. The sordid ambitions of unscrupulous swindlers are revealed underneath the surface of some ap-

Lady Jellicoe. the wife of the com manding admiral of the fleet, has inserted advertisements in all the important newspapers to say that no naval man need be without warm blankets, that all he has to do is to have his commanding officer send word to her, as her supply from charitable contributions is almost in-exhaustible. Yet, in the personal columns of the newspapers the appeals for money to buy blankets for soldiers and sailors are repeated with agonizing reference to the unhappy condition of the men so far from the comforts of home.

Possibly the most heart-stirring call is this: Will you help the sorely-tried womenkind of the brave men at the front? A most urgent appeal is made for funds to carry on the unique and immensely important work of Needlework Savov Guild which in helping to protect the lonely womankind of our brave soldiers against the many temptations of drink and its terrible evils. We are saving many houses from ruin and many lives from demoralization. We ask each member to take a War-Time Abstinence Pledge, and supply them with, and pay for, the work of making garments for the soldiers. Will you help to extend this double benefit to a wider degree? Send us benefit to a wider degree? Send us to-day if possible a donation, large or small, or an order for garments. Our need is very pressing and every contribution will be most gratefully accepted and acknowledged. Please address Mrs. -. honorary secre

Yet additional appeals flood the columns for money to peals flood the columns for money to buy flint and tinder boxes for the soldiers and sailors, the collectors paying from a dollar and a quarter (the minimum charge) to five dollars for each insertion in the personal column, giving an address where the money will be gratefully received. Mrs. A., the wife of an officer in a certain regiment, appeals for woollen garments, also for games and pipes. Mrs. B. advertises that she would be grateful for any comforts for the soldiers, or the money with which to buy them. Mittens, scarves, warm underclothing or the money to purchase the same comes in another appeal. Books and jig-jaws are wanted by still another lady, the wife of an officer unknown to social fame before the war. Warm pants, vests (large) shirts, cardigans, mittens, tobacco, and field-glasses come in the category of some other lady's advertised appeal. Wristlet watches, football shirts and stockings, khaki wool comforts and khaki handkerchiefs — or the money with which to buy them— these include the wants of some lady who has volunteered to receive anything that the kind hearted public will send, paying a good many dollars to the newspapers to spread abroad this fact. Mrs. X., on her part, wants the public to go down into its pockets and furnish her with one thousand raincoats — or the money for their purchase; while Mrs. Y. is collecting 1,000 khaki hose tops, or the money. A dozen other ladies want gramophones, organs, or pianos — or the money.

The Grand Drama.

When God conceived the world, that was poetry; he formed it, and that was sculpture; he colored it, and that was painting; he peopled it with living things, and that was the grand divine, eternal drama. - Charlotte

Take Life Like a Man.

It is a pitiable thing to see a young man whining over his lot in life and excusing indifference and in-action because of hard luck or some cruel fate which has put stumbling blocks in his way. No matter what your environment or what you may be called upon to go through, face life like a man, without whining. Turn your face to the sun, your back to the shadows, and look the world in the face without wincing. Make the most of your situation. See the beauties in it and not the ugly fea-This is the way to improve an unfortunate environment.

The First Saw.

Talus, the Greek, is said to have invented the saw from having once found the jawbone of a snake, which he employed to cut through a small piece of wood. In early periods the trunks of trees were split into boards with wedges, and, although these deals were not always straight, they were regarded as much better suited to construction than sawed boards be-cause they followed the grain and lasted longer and were stronger. Water mills for the purpose of sawing came into use in the fourth century.

Why We Keep to the Right.

Why do we keep to the right in this country, and why do they keep to the left in Europe? The paradox of these conflicting traffic customs is brought to the attention of the manufacturer of left-hand drive automobiles every time he receives an order from Eu-rope, because they always order a right-hand drive car.

In Europe, in the days of the spear and sword, a horseman kept to the left in meeting anyone in order that he might have his adversary, if such he proved to be, on the free or right. In this country horseback was the first general mode of travel because of the almost impassable roads. A horseman in meeting an adversary kept to the right in order to have the enemy on the protected side, the horse's body and neck forming a shield and his own body protecting his gun arm.

Traffic custom did not become definitely crystallized until the advent of the automobile, and then in Europe the driver sat on the right side. In Europe the arrangement was all right because with the reverse traffic regulations the driver was close to the vehicles he was passing.

Belgians' Courting Customs.

In love-making the Belgians have some curious customs. In the peaceful days of Bruges an engaged couple would throw chestnuts into the fire, and if the nuts burned quietly the augury for happy relations was good, but if they "popped" or burst, then the whole disposition of the lovers' lives would be altered. Another custom was for a lover to go to the window of his beloved and fire off a pistol. The greater the number of shots the more intense, his love must be. The lady was supposed to hide a bottle of Schnapps or gin in the garden for the lover to discover, but it sometimes happened that another admirer was more In love-making the Belgians have that another admirer was more pt and found it. To make sure the bottle fell into the right hands, the lady would often lower the bottle from her window by

According to some French scien-tists seaweed will become one of the popular foods of the future. ready Japan uses it in a number of dainty table dishes, and also culti-vates it extensively that the supply may not give out.

In Brittany, too, the lower classes gather as much as twenty to thirty tons a year, and call it by the name of Iceland moss. The peasants of Northern France are beginning to follow the example and number it among their articles of diet.

In other localities the weed is looked upon as possessing great medicinal value, and in Corsica it is prescribed by the doctors as a sure cure for all kinds of goitre. As gelatines and alkalis are contained in the seaweed it is considered by the Asiatics to be invaluable in cases of severe indigestion.

Mother-of-pearl Buddhas.

The clever priests of China often insert thny images of Buddha within the shells of a living clam, which are left undisturbed for about a year. At the expiration of that time the images are covered with mother-of-pearl to such an extent that they appear to have grown in his natural manner. The Chinese people hold these shells in great reverence, believing that Buddha dwells within them. How-ever, should a Christian chance to look upon one of the shells it has no further value to them, as its supposed to have left it. as its charm

House Hints

In cleaning house, begin with the attic. When peeling onions keep your hand inder water.

To fasten labels to tin cans, add one aspoon brown sugar to one quart paste In sick room, fill paper bags with coal and lay on fire to prevent noise and dirt. A heavy chalk mark laid a finger distance from your sugar box will prevent ants from troubling.

To brighten the inside of a coffee or tea pot fill with water, add a small piece of soap and a little soda and let boil about 45 minutes.

Kerosene will make tea kettles bright as new. Saturate a woollen rag and rub-with it. It also removes stains from and cleans white furniture.

A new clamp to hold a cover on a milk bottle also serves as a handle to carry the bottle.

CREATORE'S FAMOUS BAND

Guiseppe Creatore and his famous concert band need no introduction to the music lovers of Toronto, or of Canada. They were the big musical feature of the Canadian National Exhibition last year, when despite the war scare and the cold wet weather, they drew the most enthusiastic crowds that ever assembled on the grand Plaza. That this reputation is world wide is evidenced by the fact that they were the band chosen for the opening ceremonies of the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco during the early part of this Francisco during the early part of this
