G. W. DONALD, Esq., Winnipeg Business College.

Dear Mr. Donald—As far as my experience goes, I can safely say that to anyone desiring to become fitted for business life, a course in the Commercial Department of your Institution would be very beneficial. In my own case, although I had studied the theory of Bookkeeping, yet I was not able to handle a set of books, simply because our common school course, being so full of subjects, cannot afford time to develop specialists along any one line. At the close of the course, I felt I was not a stranger to books, and I found the knowledge gained very helpful in teaching.

My trustees have informed me that it was on account of my Course in your Commercial Department that my application was accepted in preference to others otherwise equal. They realize that their boys need something along the commercial line. The Diploma has always been favorably commented on.

Yours very truly,
W. D. BAYLEY.
