Dear Sir Arthur,

Will you be good enough to give me a little information on Military regulations.

As you know, His Majesty asked that all flags be at the mast head on Armistice Day. At St Lambert we had a ceremony at the Monument, and the flag was at the mast head, but a man rushed in, and put it at the half mast just before the programme began, and then ran it up to the head at the finish. I asked him why he did this, in view of the King's expressed wish, and he said that it was because we had a religious ceremony.

Will you kindly tell me if he was right.

Thanking you in advance,
I am Dear Sir Arthur,
Yours sincerely,

Harry Bragg
