

CONTENTS.

CHAPTER I.

Departure from Norfolk—Weather—Orders to the "Relief" to proceed to Rio Janeiro—Orders for the remainder of the vessels to rendezvous at Funchal—St. Michael's Island—Vast Fields of Sea Weed—Impression they made on Columbus's men—Arrival at Madeira—Beautiful scenery—General Description of the Island—Manufactures—Personal appearance of the Peasantry—Their dress and habitations—Culture of the Grape—Description of Funchal—Monks unpopular with the present Government—Nunneries—The celebrated recluse, Maria Clementina—How the Nuns support themselves—Cheapness of labor—Public Amusements—Portuguese etiquette previous to dancing—Beauty of the Environs—Ride to the famous Cural—Catholic Burial Ground—Story of Robert Machim and Anna D'Arfet.

CHAPTER II.

Departure for the Cape de Verde Islands—Phosphorescence of the Ocean—Arrival at St. Jago—Description of the Capital—Passage to Brazil—Arrival at Rio Janeiro—The U. States Frigate "Independence"—Observations on Rio Janeiro and its Commerce with the United States—Passage to Terra del Fuego—The enemies of the flying-fish—Arrival at Good Success and Relief Bays—Orange Harbor—Description of the country in its vicinity—General Observations on the Natives of Terra del Fuego—Departure for Valparaiso—A terrific storm off Noir Island—Loss of all our Anchors and Cables, and narrow escape from Shipwreck—Arrival at Valparaiso—Obliged to borrow an anchor from H. B. M. Ship "President."