

You can do more through love than through hate. Bulldozing and angry threats may sometimes seem to win, but love is the only true balm of a wounded soul, especially of a boy, even if it sometimes seems to fail.—LINDSEY.