

Pizarro Francisco, his conquest of Peru, 16
 Plato, the dialogues of, 29; philosophy of, 91
 Plovna, Russian losses in the battles of, 194
 Plutarch on Alexander the Great, 46
 Poland, effect of Calvinism in, 114; discussed, 187; women of, discussed, 188-190; spirit of nationalism, 190, 191
 Polo, Marco, great personal force of, 159
 Pompeius, conquests of, 52
 Pomponius Mela, 47
Pons Sublicius, 31
 Poor Clares, religious order of, 130
 Port Hamilton, English strong position of, 73
 Portugal, imperial policy of, 64; conquered by Spain, 66
 Porus, King, defeated by Alexander, 44
 Praxiteles, perfection of the works of, 77
 "Principia," Newton's, 92
 Pseudo papyrus considered, 4
 "Prolegomena in Homerum," F. A. Wolf, 145
 Protagoras, his debates with Socrates, 29
 Protestant Church, the, as compared with the Roman Catholic Church, 128, 129, 133-135
 Psychology of nations, 82
 Ptahhotep, Prince, author of the Pseudo papyrus, 4
 Pulo-Penang, English strong position of, 73

Q

Quipu, the, or Peruvian thread-writing, 18, 39
 Quito, ancient road to, 18

R

Race, influence of, 2; characteristics not attributable to, 105, 106;

Jewish, considered, 121; Anglo-Saxon, 253
 Rafael, 106
 Ramesses, poem composed by, 4
 Rawlinson, his research in cuneiform writings, 8
 Religion, Jerusalem, 23; various, considered, 113; Calvinism, 114; the Jesuits, 115-120; Jewish, 121-128; the Roman Catholic Church, 128-136; personality the cause of the founding of, 137-154
 Rhætic, reduction of, by Rome, 53
 Rhodes, 50
 Ricci, mathematician, 12
 Richelieu, his idea of a grand canal for France, 214
 Roman Catholic Church, the, organization of, 128-134; attitude towards science, 135; personality of the Pope, 154; French Government's attitude towards, 181
 Roman Empire, beginnings and growth of, 29; compared with Greece, 31-33; its method of empire-building, 46-53, 113
 Rothschilds as types of successful Jews, 126
 Rouen, disturbances of, 233
 Roumania, progress of, 257
 Russia, added to Mongolian Empire, 55; empire of, compared with British, 74, 112; power of, overrated, 191; civilization of, 192; military strength of, discussed, 193, 194; poverty of, 195; geographical position of, 196; Eastern policy of, 197; future of, 198-201; scheme for a grand canal, 214
 Russo-Turkish War, 195

S

Salamis, battle of, 28
 Salmeron one of the first members of the Jesuits, 116
 Samarcand captured by Gengiz Khan, 54
 Samos seized by Vitali Michieli, 59
 Samson, his victory over the Philistines, 23