

“Shall not we, through good and ill,
Cleave to one another still?
Britain’s myriad voices call—
Sons, be welded, one and all,
Into one Imperial whole,
One with Britain—heart and soul!
One Life,
One Flag,
One Fleet,
One Throne!”

—Tennyson.