

benefits bestowed on so many indigent families, will convince the mass of the nation, that the proposed change is to be introduced upon just and kind motives; and new laws, if needed, may be passed by a Parliament freed from some of the existing difficulties.

It has been suggested to me, "that as an intermixture of classes usually improves the character of society, a defect in this point is observable in my projects." If this remark be well founded, it may be replied, that a few years will produce inequalities enough in the proposed township; and general education with the certain good consequences of independence of circumstances, will every day increase the personal respectability of these colonists. It may also be expected that a certain number of persons with capital will resort to a township upon the plan of this sketch; practitioners in medicine, attornies, keepers of stores, and many others will not fail to see inducements to go thither. But further means may be adop-
