

BINDLE

OUTLOOK

" ' Bindle ' is the pleasantest book that has come to us for many a long day. It bubbles with the milk of human kindness : it scintillates wit of the raciest kind. Bindle himself is a great creation."

NEW WITNESS

" Joseph Bindle takes us immensely. You can open it anywhere, but it is impossible to close it till you have reached the last page. The characters are almost uncannily true to life. It is gloriously funny."

PALL MALL GAZETTE

" A publisher who can add so effectively to our small stock of gaiety at the present moment by the writing and publishing of so delicious a piece of fooling as ' Bindle ' deserves all the success it will assuredly bring him."

LADIES' FIELD

" Bindle is calculated to amuse the most serious-minded as well as the depressed and heavy hearted. The schoolboy hard up for practical jokes should read ' Bindle,' and the soldier in need of a laugh should read ' Bindle.' "

EVENING STANDARD

" Mr. Herbert Jenkins is to be congratulated on Bindle. He has a heart of gold and the optimism of Mark Tapley, and the philosophy of a Plato and a wife. We are led willingly captives by the humour of that writer."
