

TRULY A GREAT EVENT

Wonderful Display of Seasonable
Overcoat Fabrics at Hobberlin
Tailor Shops.

MANY MILES OF CLOTH

To-day will be the first day of the wonderful exhibit of seasonable overcoats at Hobberlin's, 151 Yonge Street.

It is truly a remarkable collection, and as such, comprises thousands of yards of cloth from the greatest mills in Continental Europe. Every color, weave and design that one could possibly want will be found in the vast collection. Numbers of weaves that one never conceived of or heard of before.

You will find fancy weaves, strikingly attractive with their variegated color effects, side by side with their more sombre brethren. Bright hues, quiet tones, close weaves and loose weaves. You will find the biggest range of the popular chevrons in the city, great rolls and bales of these rough, shaggy cloths that look so well in the big loose ulsters, truly wonderful creations of the foreign weavers' skill, for be it understood that these rough chevrons are all imported. In fact, every yard of cloth on display is the imported brand, for Hobberlin's have their foreign buyer. And there's the real Irish frieze and Donegal tweeds for heavy and medium overcoatings; real Irish manufacture, that smacks of the heather. There's the genuine Carr's famous meltons, fine, soft faced cloth, tough as leather, in blue, black, tan, steel and deep gray tones, and there's the famous Marling beavercloths. A special feature this season is the "Royal Ascot Grey." It has a "snappy" tone that those who favor grey will like very much.

But it's useless to attempt to describe the best plan is to go and have a look. No man is ever likely to forget the sight of all these miles of beautiful fabrics, covering every possible weave, shade and design. And you can have the coat made from a dozen or more different styles, such as the new "Raglan," Hobberlin's famous 5 in 1 style (better than a fur coat), the great loose ulster, with or without belt, flyless front, and the fly front, short box, semi-form fitting Chesterfield, Paletot, or short box, for business, for touting it, for dress. Without doubt, we believe this is the greatest and most important event in specialized tailoring ever seen in Toronto. Every man should visit the store while the display is on. It is an education, and is free, whether you care to buy or not. The opening is to-day. Hobberlin's, 151 Yonge Street, or 3, 5, 7, 9 East Richmond Street.
