Reasons for the money stringency were found in the tremendous expansion of brokers' loans and last week's report of the clearing house, actual loans and discounts of that institution exceedand discounts of that institution exceeding all records. There were occasional spurts in high-grade industrials and ralls, but the movement as whole suggested an overextended bull position, which evoked warnings from conservative interests. Speculative conditions were offset to a degree by the more hopeful labor outlook, sustained investment inquiry and favorable tenor of general business advices, although retail trade in certain sections suffered a moderate setback. The one distinct retrograde movement was in foreign exmoderate setback. The one distinct re-trograde movement was in forcign ex-change, virtually all forms of remit-tance, working against London and continental Europe. FINANCIAL REVIEW.

New York, Oct. 18.—Tighter money was the governing factor of the active but irregular week on the stock exchange obscuring all other developments, even the improved industrial situation. Scarcity of funds seemed to exert little adverse effect upon the operations of pools in various specialties, some of these issues scoring new maximums, while various obscure stocks made gains of five to twenty points.

THE insurance companies of America pay out to their policyholders and beneficiaries during the year an average of about $1,600 per minute for every working hour during the year.

Life insurance is no longer a theory. Nearly two hundred years ago it was established upon a thoroughly scientific foundation and to-day there are no other institutions more entirely dependable than the life insurance companies of the world.

The amount of good accomplished by the life companies is incalculable. Homes have been saved from the mortgagee; widows delivered from lives of slavish toil; sons and daughters have been educated and made useful and influential citizens -all through the good offices of the life insurance companies.
