May Have to Drop Games
 Montreal News: Nova Scotia baseball is in a complete muddle now, and doesn't seem to be any way out of it. Probably the end of it all will be the dropping of the league for this year. It certainly is a shame that such a sch of rules by one or two clubs should work out to spoil the whole provincial league and give amateur sport Nova Scotia such a black eye. The club that is accountable for it all will in some way be made to pay the bill.

POPULATION INCREASED FIVE IN LAST CENTURY

Inhabitants of Pitcairn Island Number 175.
 New York, Sept. 14.—The population of Pitcairn Island, a tiny speck of land rising from the mid-Pacific, has been increased by five souls since the official count of last century, according to Robert O'Brien, master of the freighter Minnaha, which touched there last month en route here from Australia.

The little country, a British possession, now has a population of 175. At the last previous count there were but 170.
 Captain O'Brien said the residents, descendants of fifteen mutineers from the British ship Bounty, who settled there in 1789 with wives brought from Polynesia, are thriving, and as yet are showing no signs of the mental deterioration which scientists predicted for them as a consequence of long continued intermarriage.

The island, according to O'Brien, is rich in fruit and vegetable products. A supply of these and fresh spring water was furnished him for his homeward journey.

SUPRARENAL GLAND PRODUCES GLUCOSE AFTER HOMER BY RUTH

(New York Times.)
 What happens at the Polo Grounds when Babe Ruth knocks out one of the occasional home runs will be made clear by the following scientific answer to this question, as supplied by nerve specialists at local hospitals. There arises a tremendous concept of anticipation which is fulfilled when the homer is made; the sympathetic nervous system overstimulates the endocrine substances; the suprarenal gland affects the insoluble glycogen so as to change it to glucose; the thyroid gland affects the body's protein metabolism so as to supply new protein substances for the which are broken down, and the crowd, displaying mass emotional instability, acts along the familiar lines of mob psychology, brings about a general demonstration in which individual participation is wholly involuntary. When Babe misses the ball, however, the visual centres register the fact that he is making ready for another attempt, and, as well.
