CHALLENGE.

The swimming pupils of the west side (If Mr. Burns is willing) wish to challenge those of Mr. Redfern to a swim at the North End scows on Tuesday at 5 o'clock (daylight). If accepted please answer in Tuesday's Telegraph.

MRS. MATILDA PRICE.

The death of Mrs. Matilda J. Price, widow of James A. Price, occurred yesterday in this city. Mrs. Price was a native and a life-long resident of the city and enjoyed the respect and esteem of all who knew her. Her husband was a well known carriage builder in the North End. She was a sister of the late Irish Drake and was the last of that family. The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, daylight time, from the Mission Church, St. John Baptist, Paradise row.

FOR BRIDE-TO-BE.

Miss Barbara Sheehan of the millinery department of Manchester Robertson Allison, Limited, was pleasantly surprised on Thursday evening, when a large number of M. R. A. friends called at her home and tendered her a novelty shower in anticipation of her marriage, to take place in the near future. The bride-to-be was the recipient of many beautiful tokens of good will and a thoroughly enjoyable evening was spent by all present.

About forty of the friends of Miss Nellie Brown gave her an enjoyable surprise on Thursday evening at the home of Miss Corie Higgins, Victoria street, by honoring her with a novelty shower. She received many pretty and useful remembrances in anticipation of a nuptial event in which she will soon figure as one of the principals. A pleasant time was enjoyed by all present.

At her home, 90 Manawagonish Road, last evening some forty friends of Miss Clara Beveridge tendered her a novelty shower. She was the recipient of many valuable gifts. She is to be married soon.

Man in The Street

Has anybody noticed what a particularly lively programme of entertainment there is in the city for the holiday?

It is reported that a speeding automobile was actually seen to slow down at the head of King street this week when passing a street car. The rumor has not yet been verified.

It should be understood that those who gave the exhibition at the Orchard Field Day this week were "bud-grafters." This is quite different from "budding grafters."

"In our army," says George Pattullo, American war correspondent, "it doesn't pay to pull the long bow." If he's correct we have an idea that quite a few across the line are being frightfully under-paid.

Aside from honoring the prince, the chap who has suggested a return visit before he goes home, Canada, probably wants to see the streets cleaned once more.

And Wiser, famous quarter back, will likely play with the Ottawa team this season. He should be popular with many fans because of happy recollections of the name.

The United States senate will soon begin to imagine themselves a court of appeal from the peace conference. The Scotch have followed the Irish in sending an appeal for aid in getting home rule for Scotland.

There's a Difference. In United States some spies have been reduced. In Canada the board of commerce announces that it will make a tour and hold an investigation.

If the Mexican bandits could capture a few U. S. senators the league of nations might get a run for its money across the border.

Conservatives are wondering if that Winnipeg speech of Hon. Robert Rogers really was their "Master's Voice," or merely another record on the political phonograph.

Is the continued leather shortage in any way due to the quantity required to bind all those addresses which are being presented to the prince?

The shoe workers who have been making $120 a week might like to give us some idea why the selling price of shoes is so high.

When the Prince of Wales returns to St. John in future years, as he promised, he might be given a trip over the Valley Railway—provided the C. N. R. and C. P. R. have agreed on running rights at that time.

And we may even hope that, when that distant occasion arrives, the long promised Union station, which was to have replaced the present apology for one, will have become a reality.

And now they want Hindenburg to become president of the new German Republic! What is it, faith, hope or charity?

Not His Fault.

The story of the aviator who, according to this morning's papers, was fined for flying his airplane too close to a farmer's roof is along the same lines as that of the man who was driving with his new chauffeur. Passing a street sweeper, the driver came within a few inches of the head of the sweeper. "You just missed that fellow," gasped the car owner. "I didn't try to hit him," was the driver's caustic reply.

Ty Hang, Leung Gindow, Shin Yook, Eah Woosyow, Han Chew, Kin Sew, Chin Seung and Mun Leung Loy. This is not a college yell, but the names of the Chinese who were arrested while being smuggled across the border into Maine. Try it over on your ukelele.

After looking over this line-up, our sympathies are with the Chinese proof-reader.

People in Maine are said to be working hard for the nine-inch lobster. Personally our inclination is greatly toward the six-inch steak with yards and yards of onions. Hebian perhaps, but mighty acceptable.

The Standard has moved to its own satisfaction in the housing matter that Hon. J. B. M. Baxter, city solicitor and director of the Standard, does not know what he is talking about. Mr. Baxter is in the west.

WAR MUSEUM

FOR PROVINCE

Suggestion That is Well Worth Taking up—Some Views on the Matter

What about a war museum for the province? Any steps being taken to preserve the various trophies which should be available for New Brunswick from the war in which her sons have so well played their part? Inquiry made by the Times-Star during the last few days would seem to indicate that nothing was being done but that there was in the mind of some representative most favorable towards the establishment of a museum in which could be kept for all time souvenirs which would serve as a reminder of the share the people of this province had in restoring peace to the world. All that seems to be required is for some public body or society to foster the idea and carry it through to success.

The suggestion its made that one of the rooms of the parliament buildings at Fredericton could serve the purpose. It is believed there is sufficient accommodation there to provide for space being allotted to this purpose, to allow of a room being fitted for the reception of various trophies, some of which should come through the department of militia at Ottawa as having been secured by New Brunswick units at the front, others by private donation. The mention of Fredericton is made because of its being the capital and being quite centrally located and because no unit which went across from this province can be said to be a representative of any one particular city or town, its members having joined from all parts.

As a means of preventing discussion in regard to battalion colors it is believed this scheme would be well received. While arguments can be advanced as to why colors of one or other regiment might be placed in some particular place there are bound to be some who perhaps may have served in the unit who will not be satisfied because it is not in their town but who would be inclined to favor their being deposited in some place where were collected colors from other units as well as trophies from those units in valorous service overseas.

Because of the several denominations represented in all the units it is argued that a church is in the proper resting place for battalion colors but that they should be in some municipal or provincial building.

Besides articles pertaining to the war which should be received as part of the share of New Brunswick on distribution of Canada's trophies, it is believed that many of the souvenirs brought or sent home by the boys in the different branches of the service would eventually form a museum if such were established.

Already the Natural History Society in this city has received souvenirs of a fairly valuable nature from the sons of war but if the idea of a provincial museum were promoted it is thought that more would be received because of the broader interest created. And thus would be provided a memorial of high value, a sanctuary in which the souvenirs obtained might be preserved, honored and honored in a shrine where our children and children's children might keep alive the memory of what their fathers had done in the great war which in a few years will be a matter of history.

EXPRESS CHANGE IN EFFECT ON MONDAY

New Tariff and Classification—Some of the Phases of the New Arrangement

A new tariff, classification and graduation of charges of all express companies in the Dominion will come into effect on Monday, September 1. While the tariff shows a general increase, there are some of the clauses in the new classification which will result in a reduction of charges on certain weights between certain points.

Charges are now based on one of two rates, known as first and second class and a great many of the old special rates are done away with. Section "D" which took in printed matter on which there was a low rate, has been abolished and the first class rate is now paid on all this matter with the exception of newspapers and magazines which are still carried at the low rate. Scale "K" for fruit, vegetables, etc., on beer, and aerated waters, etc., has also gone out of existence, second class rates applying.

Most of the old general special or produce rates will be gathered together under the second class rates; this includes farm and dairy produce, etc., which was at one time carried at a rate per pound. Bread is the only commodity which will still be carried at this rate after the first of next month.

No changes will be made in the special rates which apply to the shipment of fish from Atlantic points to places in Quebec or Ontario, nor to the shipment of fresh fruit from Ontario to points in the maritime provinces.

The charges are to be based on a block system, and all Canada is divided into several thousand blocks for this purpose. The charge per hundred pounds from one block to another will apply all over the country, no matter how many companies will have to handle the goods.

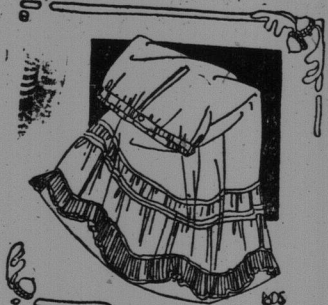

One of the points in the new regulations which will meet with favor is a clause which provides for the reduction of the rate to or from a point where no cartage service is maintained. For instance, if a parcel is delivered to an express company at St. John, going to a point where the express company has no delivery teams, fifteen cents a hundred pounds will be deducted from the rate. If there is no cartage service at either end then thirty cents will be deducted.

There are some minor changes also in both classification and tariff which may present some difficulties to the shipping no delivery teams, fifteen cents a hundred pounds will be deducted from the rate. If there is no cartage service at either end then thirty cents will be deducted.
