A SMART MOIRE.

Summer suit in dark brown moire trimmed with buttons and an adjustable collar of bonneted linen.

Quant yet exceedingly attractive suits of moire are shown for summer wear, especially for use when traveling. The costume illustrated for today's lesson is carried out in dark blue silk, with trimmings of its own material. The collar is detachable and may be of any desired material. Nothing is smarter, however, than sheer white linen for this purpose. Four yards of 36-inch moire will be needed to make the suit.

HON. DR. PUGSLEY TAKES A HAND

Leads Attack on The C. N. R. Agreement

MINISTERS ROUTED

Misleading Statement of Hon. Mr. White Exposed — Dr. Pugsley Insists That Mackenzie & Mann Should Pledge Personal Fortunes

Ottawa, May 20.—Hon. William Pugsley, member for St. John, the Liberal hero in the great fight on the naval debate last session, signalled his return to parliament this morning by promptly tangling up the government apologists for the Mackenzie & Mann deal. When the house opened he was there in his seat smiling through the smoke from the Gatineau forest fires, which has hung like a pall in the chamber, throughout the day. And the government smelt trouble as soon as it caught sight of him.

They got it too, for Dr. Pugsley came into the fight at the very start, and throughout the day and night sessions kept the front row of the government busy defending the various points of their proposals. Great strength has been added to the opposition by the addition of the "right" of $7,000,000 of the Canadian Northern stock, which the minister of finance had secured last session as part return for the $15,000,000 subsidy to the company. Mr. White had led the house to believe that this $7,000,000 was part of the then authorized and issued stock of Mackenzie & Mann. He had declared that the country was getting one-tenth of that stock. As a matter of fact the company had simply turned out the extra amount on its printing press and that was what the country had got.

"He misled the country," remarked the member for Pictou. "The minister could stand no more. When the member for Pictou declares that I deliberately misled this house he says what is not true. I am unable, owing to the rules, to say to him here what I would say outside the precincts of this chamber," declared the prime minister.

Mr. MacDonald came back to the attack. "Here is the watchdog of the treasury," he said, "and he admits to this house that he did not know anything about the bargain last year to tell parliament what the amount of stock in the company was. No minister of finance was even in the position before of not knowing what he was buying with the country's money. If the statement last year was not an error of judgment, the minister was guilty of the most positive negligence in his dealings with the C. N. R. I am not saying that he deliberately misled the house, but I do say that he was guilty of absolute negligence and did mislead the house, because of that negligence, and because he didn't know what he was getting with the public funds."

Dr. Pugsley held that the finance minister should make an explanation of his statement to the house last year in return for the guarantee then given the government was getting one-tenth of the C. N. R. stock when, as it afterwards turned out, and as already pointed out by E. M. MacDonald of Pictou, they were getting but one-eleventh, since the railway had issued $7,000,000 more stock immediately.

He criticized the government's attempt to take credit for the routing of traffic over the C. N. R. to Canadian points, and thought it was a dangerous provision by which the C. N. R. was given the right to define over what portions of the government railways they could get running rights.

Hon. W. T. White explained that he had not been in the house when Mr. MacDonald had made statements in this regard. Turning up Hansard of last year he pointed out that he had said the government would obtain "one-tenth of the authorized capital of the company, $70,000,000." As a matter of fact the authorized capital at the time was $92,000,000 and he had been in error in rating it as $70,000,000 when interrupted in the middle of a speech; still it was evident from what he had said that he had meant the house to get the impression that the one-tenth of the $70,000,000 or $7,000,000 received, was from the authorized capital of the company. He had not misled the house.

Mr. Pugsley contended that Mackenzie & Mann should put up their personal assets as security. He had information from the best sources that these two men were "rich beyond the dreams of avarice." Why should they not put up their assets, inasmuch as it is sixty per cent. of the common stock they held reached par as a result of government assistance they would realize immense sums thereby. Mr. Pugsley thought the government auditors had apparently been told to be careful not to inquire into the other assets of these two men.

The prime minister replied emphatically that no such instructions had been issued, and the statement of Mr. Pugsley was entirely unwarranted. He pointed out that the Liberal government had not requested Mackenzie & Mann to put up their assets in 1911 when they had guaranteed the bonds of the Canadian Northern Ontario railway. Would securities issued then without the backing of the government have been of any value, he asked.

Mr. Pugsley's reply was that he had not considered the matter at the time. "That is the difference between the two governments," said Mr. Borden. This government had considered the question. Mr. Borden said that the late government had failed in 1911 to secure the safeguards which they demanded now and he was not disposed to attach much importance to their representations.

You can remove your corn quickly with a 25c. bottle, sold and recommended by druggists.

White Cake

One cup sugar, 1/4 cup butter, 1/2 cup milk with 1/2 teaspoon of soda in it, 1 1/2 cups flour with 1 teaspoon cream of tartar; last thing, whites of 3 eggs, beaten. Flavor frosting with lemon or any preferred flavoring. Butter is nice.

Value of Salad Oil.

We English folk seldom realize the wonderful properties of salad oil, says Mrs. Orman Cooper in "Everyday Accidents and Ailments." It is a most useful kitchen physic. In that most distressing and sudden malady, croup, a teaspoonful of salad oil mixed with another of vinegar works wonders. It may be administered freely, as often as wished. Oil lubricates the laboring throat, while the acid of vinegar cuts away phlegm. As a laxative salad oil is very useful. A spoonful of it, instead of castor oil, is a favorite aperient for very young children. Adults may take it regularly with benefit, and without nausea, if it be kept in a thoroughly liquid state. I think most of us would do wisely if we more frequently followed the example set by Esquimaux and other Indians, who rub their children regularly with oil to keep out the cold and to keep off the sun. In severe weather—especially in easterly winds—it is very well to rub a delicate child's chest and back with salad oil every morning. It certainly acts as a breastplate and keeps off chills.

This Removes Hairs Almost Like Magic

(Helps to Beauty.) Much favorable comment is being made upon the new formula for removing disgusting hairs. One serious objection arises and that is, any woman can employ this treatment in her own home and thus deprive the beauty specialist of her fee. For the benefit of others, the formula is here repeated: Mix some delatone with water; apply to hairy surface and in 2 or 3 minutes rub off and with it comes every hair. The skin should then be washed to free it from the remaining delatone.
