HARVESTER LOST HIS LEG.
Page three of the Star contains an account of the doings of the harvesters while passing through the province of Quebec and amongst other things of their cutting off the wooden leg of a cripple. It would appear from the accounts that the cripple was a stranger who happened along and fell a victim to their tricks, but it is now known that he was one of the harvesters. Both officers Collins and Leveson of the station remember seeing the cripple as he passed through with the harvesters and say that he was one of the liveliest of the crowd.

At Centenary church this afternoon an event of more than ordinary interest will take place. It is a double wedding, when the two daughters of George Jackson of H. M. Customs will become the brides of two well known and popular St. John men. The hour fixed for the double ceremony is five o'clock, and both ceremonies will be performed by Rev. G. M. Campbell. Mr. Jackson's elder daughter will be married first. Miss Katie Jackson will be maid of honor in both events. Miss Martha Margaret Jackson will become the bride of Charles W. Ramsey of the North End. At the conclusion of the first ceremony Miss Sadie Theresa Jackson and Harry H. Bettie will be made man and wife. The groom was one of the St. John boys who went to South Africa with the first Canadian contingent. The bride will be attended by Miss Edna Bettie, a sister of the groom, while C. H. Jackson will support the groom.

The bride's dress will be of white organza, while the bridesmaid will wear a gown of pale blue voile with chiffon trimmings and picture hat. After the ceremony supper will be served at the residence of the parents of the brides. They will reside at 29 Carleton street. Numerous and handsome presents were received by both couples.

The bride was attended by Miss Boden of Rockland road. She was beamingly attired in a wedding dress of blue crepe de chine, and wore a hat with a white ostrich plume. Her going-away dress was of grey broadcloth. Following the ceremony was a reception at the home of the bride's uncle, P. Brown, Paradise Row, to which a large number of guests were invited. LIQUOR LAW VIOLATIONS.

Information Laid Against M. A.

Harding Who Looked the Inspector in—Another Case.

Information has been laid against M. A. Harding, of Mill street, for violation of the liquor law by selling liquor after hours Saturday night. The case was to be heard at the police court this afternoon.

The evidence against Mr. Harding was presented by Inspector J. B. Jones and Sergt. Kilpatrick last Saturday. Between ten and eleven o'clock the lights went out with a click, leaving the restaurant were lighted. As he reached the door the lights went out with a click, leaving the place in darkness. Some men who were in a room in back, not knowing what to make of it and not recognizing Mr. Jones, asked him for information. Not receiving it satisfactorily, one of them said, "I'll bet it's the police. Let's get out of here quick."

Meanwhile the proprietor met Sergt. Kilpatrick outside. "What's the matter here," he said, "there's nothing doing here. We're all locked up."

"Locked up, are you?" queried the sergeant.

"Sure," was the reply. "If that's so, the inspector's locked in. You'd better open up again and let him out."

About this time Mr. Jones called the sergeant into the bar to get the names of those present as witnesses, and after one of them had vainly tried to blow out the policeman's electric flash light, the names were secured. Hence the case today.

It is also stated that the inspector on Saturday night visited one of the leading hotels and secured damning evidence of violation. The story is that about eleven o'clock he walked into the hotel in question. The bar door was locked, but an unexpected guardian let him past, and he walked into the brilliantly lighted bar, where a number of thirsty individuals were congregated.

One of them pulled out his watch. "By George," he said, "inspector, you're just in time. We'd have been closed up in five minutes. It's almost seven o'clock."

MILL HAND HURT.

Arthur Hector Hit in the Stomach by Flying Edging.

Quite a serious accident occurred yesterday afternoon at the mill of Stetson, Cutter Co., of Indian town, resulting in painful injuries to a sawyer, Arthur Hector.

Hector, who is a colored man, was running off edgings. Through some mishap one of the edgings broke in two and the shorter end of it flew in the direction of Hector, striking him in the abdomen with great force. He doubled up, groaning with agony and fell to the floor in a swooning condition.

His fellow workmen hurried to his assistance and he was taken to his home on Spar Cove Road, where Doctor Roberts attended him.
