A BACHELOR'S CONSOLATION.

In a snug little cot, not a thousand miles off, Lived a lonely, contented old "bachelor" Who wooed his own girl and died by himself, And had no one to weep on a patch.

With his cat, and his dog, and his little pet mouse, He spent a whole day in merriment; But needles were sharp, and would frequently pierce, So he often went with holes in his clothing.

There no doubt were misses and maids quite near, Who would fain to relieve his distress, But he would fly to his window and shut it, For he was too much inclined to feel free.

Now, this lucky old bachelor - being near a friend, He took it into his head to get married; And he thought the "Whisper & Willson's" was the best.

He thought the "Whisper & Willson's" was the best, And he thought the "Whisper & Willson's" was the best, And he thought the "Whisper & Willson's" was the best.

He thought the "Whisper & Willson's" was the best, And he thought the "Whisper & Willson's" was the best, And he thought the "Whisper & Willson's" was the best.

He thought the "Whisper & Willson's" was the best, And he thought the "Whisper & Willson's" was the best, And he thought the "Whisper & Willson's" was the best.

He thought the "Whisper & Willson's" was the best, And he thought the "Whisper & Willson's" was the best, And he thought the "Whisper & Willson's" was the best.
