There is an important feature in favor of oiled roads which no one seems to have mentioned, and that is with regard to flies. Oiled roads, it is claimed, prevent the breeding of flies in the road manure.

While working at a press in the Transcript office on Friday afternoon, Sidney Overton, the junior member of the staff, had the misfortune to get the third finger of his left hand caught in the machinery, tearing the flesh clean off and exposing about an inch of the bone. The Transcript acknowledges the receipt of $5.00 from Wm. L. Walker for the Red Cross Fund. There is a great need of money for this fund just now, and we hope there will be a generous response to the special appeal now being made. While many of Canada's sons are pouring out their life blood on the field for the Empire's defence, there should be pouring out of money by the stay at home for the very necessary Red Cross work.

License Boards Go.
The automatic resignation last week of the hundred odd license commissioners in Ontario, when the new board assumed charge, marks the ending of a system which has prevailed in Ontario for 40 years. Since 1872 the method of local commissions appointed at the suggestion of legislative members has been in vogue, and all provincial license affairs has been controlled by the legislature.

In that time the number of licenses has been reduced by nearly 4,000. When the suggestion of Hon. Adam Crooks became law there were 6,000 licenses in Ontario, and now there are but 1,900.
