BOURGET COLLEGE, RIGAUD, P.Q.

INDULT.

His Lordship Bishop Emard, of Valleyfield, has obtained for Bourget College an Indult in favour of the sanctuary of Our Lady of Lourdes at Rigaud.

This Indult gives to every priest who wishes to offer up the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass in this sanctuary, permission to say the entire Mass of the "Apparition" even on "doubles," excepting those of the first and second class, on Sundays and Feasts of Obligation, as well as on ferias, vigils and privileged octaves.

By the same Indult, the Holy Father grants a plenary indulgence to all the faithful, who, having confessed and communicated, shall visit this sanctuary, and there pray for the Propagation of the Faith and for the intentions of the Sovereign Pontiff. This Indulgence is, moreover, applicable by way of suffrage

Feasts determined once and forever by the Ordinary. These Feasts have been fixed as follows by His Lordship Bishop Emard: Our Lady, Help of Christians (24th May), Assumption of the Blessed Virgin (Aug. 15th), Holy Name of Mary (Sunday within octave of Nativity of B. V. M., in September), and Most Holy Rosary (First Sunday in October).

PATRICK MOLEY DEAD.

GAINED WEALTH IN HANDLING STANDARD BRED HORSES AND IN STOCKS.

Patrick Moley, one of the oldest and most highly esteemed citizens of Brighton, Boston, died suddenly of heart disease on the 4th inst., at his home on Chestnut Hill av. Mr. Muley has been subject to the disease for some time past, and dared not drive out alone for fear of being stricken down beyond the reach of aid.

He was a native of Armagh county, Ireland, where he was born 71 years ago. When 18 years of age he went to Canada, where he engaged in horse trading. He came to Boston in 1849, taking up his residence in Brighton in '57. He continued to trade in horses, between Montreal and Boston, up to the time of his death. He handled only blooded stock and accumulated considerable property, owning several large blocks of real estate in Brighton. He was one of the organizers and directors of the Brighton Five Cent saving bank and a large stockholder in the Brookline gas company.

He was a democrat in politics, and for several years was a member of the board of selectmen, when Brighton was a town. When it was annexed to Boston he went to the city hall as one of the first councilmen from that ward. He was active in the temperance societies, a member of the Boston Irish charitable society and of the Holy Name society.

Mrs. Moley has been dead six years. Mr. Moley leaves one son and two daughters, one of whom is married to Mr. R. McShane of Montreal.

The funeral will be public and will probably be held Wednesday, at 8 a m., from his late residence, services following at 9 at St. Columbkille's church. The pallbearers will be members of Holy Name Society and his intimate friends. The burial will be at Holybood.

ARCHBISHOP LANGEVIN

VISITS VALLEYFIELD AND THE MONTBEAL INSTITUTIONS.

Archbishop Langevin returned on Thusday last from Valleyfield, where he went Wednesday afternoon to pay his respects to Bishop Emard. While at Valleyfield he was royally entertained by the clarge and laity and see the reciby the clergy and laity, and was the recipient of an address to which he responded in appropriate terms. This morning the Archbishop went to the Grey Nunnery, where he presided at a religious profession when some sixty ladies pronounced their primary or final vows. Among the ladies who pronounced their final vows, were four ladies from the diocese of St. Boniface, Manitoba. The ceremony was a very imposing one. Subsequently His Grace visited the Montreal College, his Alma Mater, where he was entertained by the Superior of the Seminary Rev. Abbe Colin, S.S., and Abbe Lelandais, S. S., the College director. At noon, His Grace partook of dinner, after which French and English addresses were read and acknowledged. After some remarks by Rev. Abbe Colin, SS., His Grace was the recipient of a magnificent pectoral cross, made of gold and inlaid with precious stones. There was also vocal and instrumental music by the students. On Thursday afternoon His Grace, accompanied by several prominent clergymen, visited the Grand Seminary as well as the new Seminary of Philosophy. On Friday evening His Grace was the guest of the Cercle Ville Marie, at the Seminary Hall. On Saturday He left for Ottawa, where, on Sunday, he was invested with the Pallium, in the Basilica.
