

Just WHY

Old Dutch Cleanser

Is The ONLY
Cleaner
For

Marble
Tops,
Basins,
Columns,
Floors, Steps, and Statues.

Because nothing else cleans marble without dis-coloring it. Old Dutch Cleanser not only pre-serves the whiteness and purity of marble, but also restores its original beauty when turned yellow from soap-cleaning.

Wet the marble and sprinkle on a little Cleanser, then rub over carefully with a cloth or brush, getting into every crevice. Then wash in clean, warm water and wipe dry.

IN LIGHTER VEIN

A Grand Stove.—A Georgia woman who moved to Philadelphia found she could not be contented without the colored mammy who had been her servant for many years. She sent for old mammy, and the servant arrived in due season. It so happened that the Georgia woman had to leave town the very day mammy arrived. Before departing she had just time to explain to mammy the modern conveniences with which her apartment was furnished. The gas stove was the contrivance which interested the colored woman most. After the mistress of the household had lighted the oven, the broiler, and the other burners, and felt certain the old servant understood its operations, the mistress hurried for her train.

She was absent two weeks, and one of her first questions to mammy was how she had worried along.

"De fines' ever," was the reply. "And dat air gas stove—oh my! Why, do you know, Miss Flo'ence, dat fire ain't gon out yit."—Sacred Heart Review.

Much Cheaper.—"So you wish to marry an actress?" "Yes; I fell in love with her voice after hearing it in a phonograph." "Better go slow. You can buy the record for 50 cents."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

High School Fiction.—The freckle-faced boy who was about to be emancipated from high school thralldom was writing his graduating essay.

"I suppose I ought to wind it up," he reflected, "with something touching and sentimental about the leather-headed, snub-nosed, squeaky-voiced, conceited old snoozer that runs the shebang." Thereupon he wrote: "And now, our dear and honoured principal, we turn to you," etc.

A Rash Remark.—Diner: "Who is that singing so dreadfully out of tune?"

Restaurant Proprietor: "It is my wife."

Diner: "Perhaps the accompanist plays out of tune."

R. P.: "She is accompanying herself!"

Those Girls.—"Your fiancée doesn't seem to have much to say for himself," remarked the first Sweet Young Thing. "I presume you have found the 'little self-contained flat' you were after." And now they do not speak.—M. A. P.

Stiff Penalty.—"There seems to be a penalty provided for everything but stealing a man's daughter!"

"There's a penalty for that, too."

"I'd like to know what it is?"

"Hard labour for life."—Houston Post.

Ready For More.—Missionary—"And do you know nothing whatever of religion?"

Cannibal—"Well, we got a taste of it when the last missionary was here."—Toledo Blade.

Then He Fled.—"On your way," shouted the lady of the house. "I aint got no wood to chop. There aint nothing you could do around here."

"But, madam, there is," retorted the wayfarer with dignity. "I could give you a few lessons in grammar."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Reasonable Restraint.—Jones—"Is it necessary for you to send your daughter to Europe to complete her musical education?"

Brown—"Yes—I can't stand the infernal racket here any longer."—Portland Oregonian.

Neighbours.—Mother: "Don't you know, darling, that we are commanded to love our neighbours?"

Little One: "Yes; an' I s'pose that's 'cause we can get along with most everybody else."—Boston Transcript.

Is There Danger In Your School ?

If your school is ceiled with plaster your children—and many others—dwell under a menace. For plaster ceilings may crash down and kill or maim at any moment.
