Vietnam issue
high on agenda of model UN

On Sunday, March 15, the UN Club is holding a model Security Council. The focus of this council will be a resolution concerned with the issue of Vietnam.

The day will begin with policy speeches, followed by debate and lobbying as the delegates attempt to resolve the issue. A banquet at Room at the Top will complete the day.

Participation in a model Security Council is a learning experience. Participants have the opportunity to try on the role of the diplomat. They can become involved in world problems and develop a better insight into the difficulties of finding lasting solutions to international tangles.

There will be an organizational meeting on Wednesday, Feb. 25, at 7:30 in SUB 140. The resolution will be discussed and plans made. Interested persons can leave their name at the students' union reception, second floor, SUB.

More roads closing

More road closures in the university area are up and coming with 89 Ave. from 112 St. to the northeast corner of the Med Building being blocked off beginning March 2 because of work on sewer program.

Construction on Phase 2B of the services tunnel program will also necessitate closure of 90 and 91 Ave. from the northeast corner of the Old Power House to 112 St.
