

THE PRISONED MOON

The moon is low in the purple sky
And peers through the barring pines,
Like prisoner pale whose hopes are high
Though Morning will bring the word to die,
For the Dawn her warrant signs.