About nine days before posters were put over the estate, in which it was stated that an abatement of 15 per cent, on judicial, and 20 per cent. on non-judicial rents would be allowed, on con-dition of rents being pald before the 6th of August. Meetings of the tenants were immediately held in the Cully-hanna Land League Hall, and a deputa-tion appointed to wait on the Cross-magien portion of the tenantry, who came to the conclusion that they could not accept the abatement offered. When the sgent found that they were determined, he offered 15 per cent, to all the tenants. They, however, refused to accept this, and so paid their rents into the "Campaign Fund," When this was found out, many of the leading tenants were immediately served with ejectment processes, which they met by selling their crops, &c., at Campaign auctions, and thus kept the landlord at bay. When the successful result of the struggle became known the National drum was immediately called out, and followed by a large crowd, paraded the streets till a late hour. The eviction was carried out, the old woman useing carried outside by the balliffs. A procession was formed which marched back to Ballinasloe, the prisoner being in the centre of the police. although most of the older generation of Irishmen and Irish-Americans are familiar with his career, it is not inoportune, in view of the above-mentioned event of the week, to give some outlines of his bio-graphy. The doctor, whose fall name was Daniel Willism Cahill, first saw the light at Ashfield, which is situated near Arless, in Queen's county. He was born in 1796. His parents were in comfortable, if not affluent, circumstances, the father being a scientific engineer of much local celebrity. From him yourg Daniel un-doubtedly derived a large share of that taste for the mathematical and physical sciences which strongly characterized him through life. The future doctorof divin-ity acquired the rudiments of education at a school in Athy, Kildare, and also what is commonly designated the academic course of studies. Subsequantly he entered Maynooth to make the studies for the priesthood. He was then but 18 years of age. It will be remembered that in February, 1885, his remains, which had reposed in Holyhood cemetery, Brock-line, were exhumed and taken, with great honors, to New York and thence to Dub-lin. Glasnevin received them, and over their final resting place in that necropolis of Ireland's great ones now rises a life-like figure of the doctor. FIVE-MINUTE SERMONS FOR EARLY MASSES By the Paulist Fathers.

Preached in their Church of St. Paul the Apostle, Fifty-ninth street and Ninth avenue, New York City. FEAST OF THE HOLY NAME OF MARY.

TEAST OF THE HOLY NAME OF MARY. Never in all the books of the world has so much been said of any woman as we find recorded of the Blessed Virgin Mary in St. Luke's Gospel. It is not the num-ber of pages written about a person which makes us esteem him; it is rather the lofty ercellence and merit of the facts of his life. It is the grandeur and excellence of the events which makes us find that so much has been said of the Blessed Virgin in Sacred Scripture. There is much in aneme. One of the Ten Commandments forbids irreverence towards the holy name of God; the sacred name of Jesus is more revered and loved by Christians than any other. It is a greater sin to show disreof God; the sacred name of Jesus is more revered and loved by Christians than any other. It is a greater sin to show disre-spect to this name than to the name of God, because God became Jesus for our redemption. As the name of God cannot be separated from His very Being, so the name of one of His creatures is identified with the person represented by it. The rame of Mary was given to her who was predestined by God to be the Mother of the promised Saviour, and who was con-sequently to crush the head of the serpent. We rejoice in the birth and the name of the World, the San of Justice, is to come forth from Mary. The darkness which had overshadowed the nations is about to disappear, the knowledge of God shall abound, the bonds of sin in which all mankind are fettered shall be loosed, the curse so long resting upon creation shall manking are lettered shall be loosed, the curse so long resting upon creation shall be taken away, and the fulness of bene-diction shall reign upon earth. Such are the glorious hopes that this sweet and holy name of Mary awakens in us. How fre-quently we recite the "Hail Mary"! By this prayer we show what reverence is this prayer we show what reverence is due to the name of the Mother of Jesus. The word "Hail" is a solutar of Jesus. The word "Hail" is a solutarion of rever-ence as well as joy. It shows the dignity of the person addressed. On state occa-sions when the President of the United States appears in public, bands play in his honor, "Hail to the Chief." Mary was soluted with the word "Hail" by the archangel Gabriel. How much more ought we wretched sinners to thus rever-ence her. Oh, that Christians would give to her all the reverence and love which et all the reverence and love which et all the reverence and love which et deserves! Was she not chosen to the highest dignity that a creature could hold in her Maternity? Was she not chosen to be united to her Son during His whole life 1. As she protected Jesus in infancy from the crueities of Herod, so she will save you from the perils of a wicked world. If you invoke her all-powerful name, she will plead your cause in hea-The word "Hail" is a salutation of rever-

Quinn, Blackrock College, as Deason and Sub Deacon. The newly appointed Pastor, Very Rev. John Doyle, P. P., Newbawn, acted as Master of Ceremonies. After the unveiling of the pioture, the Rev. Father O'Mahony, O. S. A., New Ross, preached a most eloquent and impressive sermon, suitable to the occasion.

Cork. On August 23d, two extensive seizures, under distress warrants, were made on the farms of Maurice Spillane and Mrs. Russell, Corrin, Fermoy, for one year's rent in each case. It seems the tenants offered one half-year's rent, leaving a hanging gale, as under the old system, and on refusal by Mr. O'Flaherty, solici-tor, the agent on the Cliffe estate, Mr. Spillane, called an auction of his stock and crops. Just as the auction was about to commence, Mr. Kelleher, the auctioneer, found all the available effects were seized upon under the old, obsolete auctioneer, found all the available effects were seized upon under the old, obsolete law of distress. The tenants then con-sulted Mr. Richard Rice, solicitor, who advised the proceedings were wrong, and illegal, and that the bailiffs were tres-massers. Mr. Rice than several network passers. Mr. Rice then served notice of the illegality of the warrants on the head bailiff, and after some time the distressmen withdrew, having served notice of abandoning the property seized. After sunset, and during the night, the tenants sunset, and during the night, the tenants caused the entire goods to be removed, and before morning both farms were cleared of all available property on them, to the great discomfiture of landlord, agent, and bailiffs.

In a skill as an instructor. In 1894 Dr., Cabill went to Dublin, and in the suburbe opened a school. Then began his singu-larly successful career as a preacher and lecturer. As a priest, he, of course, dealt chiefly with religious subjects, but he ranged over historical and literary fields, and brought the wealth of his massive, as well as diversified, scholarship to bear on every topic. He was an orator in the elevated sense of the word, possessing, to an extraordinary degree, the five great qualities of oratory : earnestness and per-sussiveness of manner, the art of accomo-dating himself to the menal standing of his listeners, thorough grasp of his sub-ject, aptness and fluency of expression, and a fine voice. He had, moreover, a wonderfully impressive presence, being of Herculean frame and stately demeanor. One who knew him intimately says that he was six feet and four inches in height, and well proportioned. His countenance and well proportioned. His countenance betokened intelligence, DAUNTLESS COURAGE AND TIRELESS ENERGY. It was a leonine face, lit up in moments of enthusiasm, and in Dr. Cabill they were frequent, by lustrous dark eyes. In con-troversy be stood in the topmost place.
