

THE OLD FIRM OF HEINTZMAN & CO.

Great Sale of

Organs

By Mail

Opportunity Knocks at the Door of Everyone in This Sale.

WE have specially in mind in this sale our thousands of mail order customers scattered all over the Dominion, for it is worth saying many times that for years we have been selling pianos and organs in this way with completest satisfaction to thousands whose faces we have not had the pleasure of seeing.

We guarantee that each instrument is exactly as described. Our guarantee, with its fifty years' record of square dealing behind it, is worth something. If disappointment is experienced the instrument can be returned to us again. The organs are not absolutely new—coming to us in exchange when selling our famous Heintzman & Co. piano—but all are put in good condition and have our recommendation. We whittle the price down to a fraction of the original and make the terms easy. Here is the list:—

Dominion Organ, 10 stops, bass and treble coupler, 3 sets of reeds, high back, mouse proof pedals, regular price $105, our price $55, $5 cash and $5 per month, 10 per cent. discount if all cash.

Uxbridge Organ, piano case, no stops, walnut case, almost as good as new, 6 octaves, regular price $100, our price $60, $5 cash and $5 per month, and 10 per cent. discount if all cash.

Uxbridge Organ, 10 stops, treble and bass couplers, 4 sets of reeds, high back, 5 octaves, regular price $100, our price $45, $5 cash and $5 per month, and 10 per cent. discount if all cash.

of the bright ball. "This is Benjy Adams' ball, and he threw it in the window and tipped the vase over."

She was triumphant over her discovery; but Miss Berry smiled at Benjy over the heads of her other scholars and said: "Yes, I know who did it; it was an honorable and truthful little boy, who came straight to me with the story of his accident. There has been no harm done, Benjy. Most of the water dripped to the floor and the few books that are wet will dry and be as good as ever."

And that was all the scolding Benjy received.

AN APE'S CURIOSITY.

The object of popular interest in the London Zoological Gardens is the monkey-house. A few years ago its most attractive occupant was "Joe," a chimpanzee, who was lodged and boarded in separate compartment. Every morning when Joe was let out for an airing, says the Commonwealth, he abused his liberty by leaping around the outside of the cage and pulling the tails of his mates. When it was time to shut him up again in his cage, Joe would just as regularly rebel and refuse to come to his keeper. As he was too nimble to be caught, and too crafty to be allured by dainties, his keeper had to use strategy. Near an end of the monkey-house was a dark hole, out-of which came a gas pipe. Having opened the door of Joe's compartment, the keeper would peep into the dark hole, and then appear as if he saw something intensely interesting. Joe would descend from his perch, and like him, earnestly gaze into the dark hole. Then, with a gesture of fear, the keeper would run into Joe's cage, followed by the chimpanzee, chattering with fright, and the door would be shut. Singular as it may seem, though this trick was repeated daily for months, Joe never learned it. Every morning he was captured by the same ruse, and yet experience never taught him wisdom.

WHY JOHN WAS PROMOTED.

"I feel deeply hurt," said a faithful clerk, "that you should promote one of my juniors right over my head. I do not wish to seem impertinent, but I would like very much to know the reason."

"What is making all that noise in front of the store?" suddenly asked the manager, without seeming to notice the clerk's protest. "Please ascertain at once."

"It is a lot of waggons going by," said the clerk, when he returned.

"What are they loaded with so heavily?"

"They are all loaded with wheat," was the reply, after a second trip had been made to the front of the building.

FRIED ONIONS

Indirectly Caused the Death of the World's Greatest General.

It is a matter of history that Napoleon was a gormand, an inordinate lover of the good things of the table, and history further records that his favourite dish was fried onions; his death from cancer of stomach it is claimed also, was probably caused from his excessive indulgence of this fondness for the odorous vegetable.

The onion is undoubtedly a wholesome article of food, in fact has many medicinal qualities of value, but it would be difficult to find a more indigestible article than fried onions, and to many people they are simply poison, but the onion does not stand alone in this respect. Any article of food that is not thoroughly digested becomes a source of disease and discomfort whether it be fried onions or beef steak.

The reason why any wholesome food is not promptly digested is because the stomach lacks some important element of digestion, some stomachs lack pepsin, others are deficient in gastric juice, still others lack hydrochloric acid.

The one thing necessary to do in any case of poor digestion is to supply those elements of digestion which the stomach lacks, and nothing does this so thoroughly and safely as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Dr. Richardson in writing a thesis on treatment of dyspepsia and indigestion, closes his remarks by saying, "for those suffering from acid dyspepsia, shown by sour, watery risings, or for flatulent dyspepsia shown by gas on stomach, causing heart trouble and difficult breathing, as well as for all other forms of stomach trouble, the safest treatment is to take one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal. I advise them because they contain no harmful drugs, but are composed of valuable digestives, which act promptly upon the food eaten. I never knew a case of indigestion or even chronic dyspepsia which Stuart's Tablets would not reach."

Cheap cathartic medicines claiming to cure dyspepsia and indigestion can have no effect whatever in actively digesting the food, and to call any cathartic medicine a cure for indigestion is a misnomer.

Every druggist in the United States and Canada sells Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and they are not only the safest and most successful, but the most scientific of any treatment for indigestion and stomach troubles.

"How many are there?"

"Sixteen," was the reply.

"Find where they come from."

Ten minutes later the information came that all the waggons were from Lucena.

"Very good," said the manager. "Now call John, whom I have promoted, and then take a seat and listen."

"Will you see what is the meaning of that rumbling noise in front?" he continued, when John appeared.

"It is unnecessary," was the reply, "for I have already ascertained that it is caused by sixteen waggons loaded with wheat. Twenty more will pass to-mor-
