

Had Fourteen Fits In One Afternoon

BUT IS MADE WELL AND STRONG
BY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Mr. R. J. Thompson, of Uxbridge, Tells the Story of His Terrible Trouble and Almost Miraculous Cure.

Uxbridge, Ont.—March 26th (Special).—Mr. R. J. Thompson, living near here, had fourteen convulsions in one afternoon. The doctors did not think he could live. To-day he is well and strong. He says Dodd's Kidney Pills did it. But let him tell his own story:

"I am delighted with Dodd's Kidney Pills," Mr. Thompson states. "I have only taken eleven boxes and I feel like myself again."

"I was taken ill very suddenly I ate my dinner and went to take a man home. I just got about three-quarters of a mile when I was taken with a convulsion. I had fourteen that afternoon and the third day I had nine more."

"The doctors said I could not live and if I did I would never be able to do anything again as I had chronic Bright's Disease. But, thank God, I am doing my own work once again, by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Bright's Disease is the most advanced stage of kidney disease. It can be avoided if the earlier stages of kidney trouble are remedied by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

KALADAR-DENBIGH HIGHWAY

Adding Deputation Is Assured of Help From Government

Governmental assistance towards the construction of an automobile highway from Kaladar to Denbigh in the county of Addington, was practically assured a large deputation headed by W. D. Black, M.P.P., and W. J. Paul, M.P., by Hon. F. G. McDermid, Minister of Public Works, recently.

The deputation was thoroughly representative of the county affected, and included in its personnel Mr. Bowerman, Mr. Graham, and Dr. Dwyer, of the Bon Echo Mines; Mr. Dorcas, representing the Ore Chimney Gold Mines and the Golden Fleece Mines; Messrs. Howard and Snell of the Can. Pac. Ry., and Mrs. Glasgow, who owns a private resort on the Michnow waters; C. G. McKnight, Warden of Frontenac; W. Kimberly, Warden of Lennox and Addington, and W. W. Pringle, Colonization Road Inspector.

The length of the proposed road, it was pointed out, would be about forty-five miles, traversing one of the most picturesque sections of the province. All interests present expressed their willingness to pay a substantial portion of the cost of construction, which they believed would be a benefit not only to the immediate neighborhood, which was now without road facilities, but would open up a large and delightful tract of country. Mrs. Glasgow was perhaps the first woman appearing before the minister on such a deputation, and her remarks were listened to with much interest and carried considerable weight. It was pointed out that the road could be built at a moderate cost, the proposed route winding around the Bald Mountains, through which a pass had been found. The highest grade at any point being one of 7 per cent.

The route from Kaladar through the Bald Mountains has already been surveyed and part of the line passes through the eastern forest reserve.

Besides having a large agricultural area awaiting development, the district is a sportsman's paradise, and abounds in game and fish.

Hon. Mr. McDermid confessed himself impressed with the remarks of the deputation. He was gratified at the willingness of those interested to contribute towards the cost of the road, and so far as he could see at present there was no reason why the Government should not be willing to make a substantial grant and have the work proceeded with during the coming season.

The proposal to construct the highway has a certain interest to Belleville, as a large number of people who frequent the great northern resort, call at Belleville on their way to and from the lake.

PORT HOPE MAN BURIED ALIVE FOR THREE DAYS

Breathed Through the Barrel of
His Rifle—Badly Wounded

Pte. Mark E. White, of Port Hope, who some time ago was reported wounded, writes his wife giving the particulars of his experience. He was crossing "No man's land," when he was struck by a bursting shell and thrown into a shell hole and was completely buried. Fortunately, Pte. White was able to get his rifle above the earth and he breathed through the rifle barrel. He remained in the perilous position for three days and three nights before he was discovered and taken to a dressing station. He was in a very critical condition, and up to his time of writing, had been tapped four times and a total of 118 ounces of fluid removed. Pte. White was treated showed another piece of shrapnel in the wound. This piece was buried so deep that it had to be allowed to remain. The doctor expects that it will probably work to the surface. Pte. White is quite jolly and expects to be out of bed in a couple of weeks.

A SUNDAY TO THEMSELVES

WRITTEN FOR THE ONTARIO

"Well, Charlie, I am going to have a good sleep after dinner as this is Sunday and we will have the day all to ourselves until evening. Then we will take a good long drive before bed-time. I am glad there aren't any visitors here."

"So am I," said Charlie. "I am tired of visitors. We never have much time to ourselves lately." (Charlie was her husband.)

"No indeed." Then she said, "I don't know why so many people persist in calling. It is very annoying—the door bell! oh, who can it be?"

"I hope it is not anyone to stay." Enters Mrs. Delorne.

"Oh, how are you, dear; I am so glad to see you."

"Thank you, Mrs. Jones. How are you? I do hope you are well. And you also, Mr. Jones, are you in good health?"

"I am quite well thanks, Mrs. Delorne. Won't you take off your things and stay?"

"Oh no, I have only a moment. Oh, do take them off for a while."

"Well, I will just for a few minutes only, as I cannot stay long."

Two hours later—"Well, I will be going. I did not intend to stay so long."

"Why, you are in such a hurry. Come again soon as we are always glad to see you. Good-bye."

"Well, Charlie, did you ever see it fall? Just when you think you are going to have a while to yourself, that old thing must drop in."

"I'll tell you what we'll do. Just put our things on and get out somewhere, or there will be somebody else come in. Here, Charlie, hold my coat please. There, thank you. Now, we are ready. Hark! there is the door-bell, again."

Enter Mrs. and Miss Smith. "Oh how are you, Mrs. Jones?"

"How are you, Mrs. Smith and Miss Smith?"

"Well, quite well, thank you, and I see Mr. Jones is looking well."

"I'm first thanks."

"Mrs. Smith, I am so glad you dropped in, as it was so dull all by ourselves, you know."

"Yes, I know, and as we were just out for a stroll, I said to my daughter, we will call in and see how Mrs. Jones is."

"Oh, thank you, it is very kind of you. I am so glad you did. Take off your things, Mrs. Smith, and you also, Miss Smith."

"Well, yes, thanks. Just for a few minutes, as we can't stay."

Three hours later—"Well, Charlie, what do you know about that? The check, to come in and stay all after noon—and they knew we were going out as I had my coat on when they came. Now, it is tea time and we will have tea and go for a drive as I am tired in the house all day."

"Plague on that old door-bell! Who in the world is it now?"

Enter Mrs. Brown and the twins.

"Oh, how are you, Mrs. Brown?"

"How are you, Mrs. Jones; and Charlie, how are you? Yes, I think I will take off my things as it is quite warm in here. And what do you think of my babies? Do you think they are growing?"

"Why, yes. Aren't they the darlings? And they look so much alike. You will stay and have supper with us, Mrs. Brown?"

"Oh, I think I'll be going."

"No, no, you will have to stay and have a cup of tea."

"Well, since you insist."

Two and a half hours later—"Charlie, I am just disgusted with this day. People calling and staying so long. But it is a blessing that we can go for a short drive yet before bed-time. So let us go—and hurry, dear, or somebody else will come in. Great snakes! There is that door-bell. Who can this be?"

Enter Mrs. Reid and four small children. "I am so glad to see you and the children. My, how they are growing."

"I am well, thank you, Mrs. Jones. And Mr. Jones, how are you?"

"Quite well, thanks, Mrs. Reid."

"Oh, Mrs. Jones, I hope it will not be any trouble for you to mind the dear little children for me for a little while, as I am going out to Mrs. Keane's for the evening, and you see I can not very well take them with me. They are not rude children. They will be real good, now, splendid solo. Mrs. Sprague pre-won't you, darlings? Thanks, Mrs. Jones, you are so very kind. Good-bye. I must hurry for I am late as it is."

"Well, Charlie, how about it?" But Charlie only said a few words politely under his breath to relieve his mind. And though Mrs. Jones doesn't, as a rule, approve of such language, this time I think she did.

THE CHILDREN IN HEAVEN

In loving memory of little Howard
Clarke who died Dec. 22nd, '16

Oh, what do you think the angels say,
Said the children up in heaven
There's a dear little boy coming to-day

He's almost ready to fly away
From the earth we used to live in
Let's go and open the gates of joy
Open them wide for this dear little boy

Said the children up in Heaven,
God wants him where his little ones meet
Said the children up in heaven
He shall play with us in the golden streets

He has grown too fair, he has grown too sweet
For the earth we used to live in
He wants the sunshine, this dear little boy
That glids this side the gates of joy

Said the children up in Heaven,
So the King called down from the angels' dome
Said the children up in heaven
My little boy, arise and come

To the place prepared in thy Father's home,
The home that My children live in
Let's go and watch at the gates of joy
Said the children up in heaven.

Far down on earth you hear them weep
Said the children up in heaven,
For the dear little boy has gone to sleep
The shadows fall and the night clouds creep

O'er the earth we used to live in
But we'll go and open the gates of joy
Open them wide for this dear little boy
Said the children up in heaven.

Fly with him quickly, oh angels fair
See he is coming, look there, look there
At the Jasper light on his sunny hair
Where the veiling clouds are driven

Oh hush! hush! all the swift wings are
Furl
For the King Himself at the gates of joy
Is taking his hand, dear tired little boy

And leading him into heaven.

THE HEART OF REV. DR. SCOTT
The heart of Rev. Dr. Scott the pastor of Bridge Street Church must have been gladdened last evening by the large attendance at the special service.

Sunday evening the members of the Quarterly Officials, Board met in the Church Parlors after service and spent an hour in earnest prayer for the success of the special meetings. Committees were appointed and arrangements made for good organization and effective work.

Prayer service is held every evening before the regular service in the Church Parlors at 7.30, which is conducted by the officials of the church and to which everyone is invited. Song service is held from 7.45 to 8 o'clock and the regular service commences at 8 o'clock.

Last evening a large number of the business men of the city were present. The address of Rev. Dr. Scott was received with great interest and the prayers and singing added much to the success of the meeting.

Mr. Ernest Ridley gave a splendid solo. Mrs. Sprague pre-won't you, darlings? Thanks, Mrs. Jones, you are so very kind. Good-bye. I must hurry for I am late as it is."

The children were very good of course, all children are. Still there were some of the furniture and dishes in Mrs. Jones' house that weren't broken when, three hours later, Mrs. Reid took them home. And by increasing religious interest throughout this large congregation.

FOUR FINED FOR INTOXICATION

Forty Dollars in Fines Levied
Today—All Found Guilty

Today was a regular field day for charges of intoxication in Belleville police court. Four fines were levied of $10 each and costs.

John Belnap admitted that he was intoxicated. He had had some liquor to drink at a celebration in Belleville yesterday. The usual fine was levied.

Youth, Carr, denied the charge of being intoxicated.

Constable Ellis said just before one o'clock this morning he saw Carr come out of the Empire Cafe. Carr was staggering and smelt of whiskey. Carr had said he had been at plumbing and would get a lot of fixtures for nothing for the officer. He had said he knew the constable for three or four years.

Carr in his defence said he took two drinks out of a bottle in the house which he brought from Ottawa months ago.

The magistrate found Carr guilty and fined him $10 and costs. "You know there has been considerable change in the law since Sept. 16th."

Robert Burke and Thomas Cornell pleaded not guilty to being drunk contrary to the city bylaw. They were represented by Mr. W. D. M. Shorey.

Constable Ellis testified that before one o'clock this morning he saw Burke and Cornell come out of the restaurant now in the Victoria block. They went in twice when they saw him coming. Out they came staggering and crossed over to the market. There he arrested them.

At the station both had strong traces of liquor on their breath. About five minutes to one Burke and Cornell were standing in a doorway. Burke said something and Cornell said "What the h— are you going to do that for?" Burke said "It may save us three months."

They walked to the Victoria gangway and the constable heard a bottle smash. He examined it, found it was a new one and said there were traces of whiskey about it. It was a Gooderham and Worts bottle.

Cross-examined by Mr. Shorey—Carr, Cornell and Burke were arrested at the one time. Liquor was smelt from each of them at the station. On the street the three staggered more before they were arrested than after. When the bottle was heard smash, the constable was at the Molsons bank corner. The noise was heard a moment after they left the walk and went into the gangway. They then stepped out again.

Sergt. Harman saw the three men at the station. All three were staggering and all smelt strongly of whiskey. Cornell was staggering so much while bearing searched that he fell back into a chair at the station. The officer had a conversation with Burke and let him out of the cell. Burke smelt very strongly of liquor and his staggering was particularly noticeable.

Carr and Cornell staggered more than Burke.

Cornell in defence said he did not have any liquor to drink last night. He did not see Ellis until he met him on the market. He did not smash a bottle in the gangway nor did he see nor hear Burke smash one. He did not have a bottle of G. and W. nor did Burke. During the day he had two or three drinks of older and local option port. Yesterday morning he had a drink of whiskey. He was not staggering last night. He thought he sat down in a chair at the station. He was not under the influence of liquor when arrested.

To the court—He did not make a remark to Burke about destroying a bottle. He did not hear Burke say it might save them 3 months. During the day he had about 6 or 7 drinks of local option stuff. In the evening he had two or three. He did not put anything in the local option drinks.

Robert Burke also denied the charge of drunkenness. He had one drink of liquor yesterday morning and none since. He saw Ellis in a restaurant he had two drinks of two per cent. at night. He saw an Indian earlier going up into the gangway with a G. and W. bottle and saw him break it. This was about 8 o'clock in the evening. Burke made no remark about destroying a bottle. When arrested he was sober as ever in his life. He was not under the influence of liquor.

To the Court—He got one drink yesterday morning at Thos. Cornell's house.

Magistrate Masson found them guilty. He said "I believe the officers. I've never had reason to doubt them. I'd give the defendants the benefit of the doubt if I had any. He felt like imposing a heavier
