In Case of Fire.

In case of fire if the burning articles are at once splashed with a solution of salt and nitrate of ammonia an incombustible coating is formed. This is a preparation which can be made at home at a trifling cost and should be kept on hand. Dissolve 20 pounds of common salt and 10 pounds of nitrate of ammonia in 7 gallons of water. Pour this into quart bottles of thin glass, and fire grenades are at hand ready for use. These bottles must be tightly corked and sealed to prevent evaporation, and in case of fire they must be thrown near the flames so as to break and liberate the gas contained. At least two dozen of these bottles should be ready for an emergency.

In this connection it is well to remember that water on burning oil scatters the flame, but that four will extinguish it. Salt thrown upon a fire if the chimney is burning will help to deaden the blaze. If a fire once gets under headway, a covering becomes a necessity. A silk handkerchief moistened and wrapped about the mouth and nostrils prevents suffocation from smoke. Failing this, a piece of wet flannel will answer. Should smoke fill the room, remember that it goes first to the top of the room and then to the floor. Wrap a blanket or woolen garment about you, with the wet cloth over your face, drop on your hands and knees and crawl to the window.

One of Sothern's Jokes.

That inveterate joker, Sothern the actor, had made an appointment with Toole, the comedian, to dine at a well known London restaurant. The hour of meeting was fixed and Sothern arrived some few minutes before the appointed time. An elderly gentleman was dining at a table at some little distance from that prepared for the two actors. He was reading a newspaper which he had comfortably arranged before him as he was eating his dinner. Sothern walked up to him and striking him a smart blow between the shoulders said:

"Hello, old fellow! Who would have thought of seeing you here? I thought you were dead!" The assailed diner turned around angrily, when Sothern exclaimed: "I beg you a thousand pardons, sir. I thought you were an old friend of mine—a family man whom I never expected to see here. I hope you will pardon me."

The old gentleman growled a reply, and Sothern returned to his table, where he was presently joined by Toole, to whom he said:

"See that old boy? I'll bet you half a crown you don't go and give him a slap on the back and pretend you have mistaken him for a friend."

"Done!" said Toole, and done it was immediately with a result that may be imagined.

How Horses Rest.

"Have you ever noticed," asked a German town veterinarian the other day, "that every horse left standing by a curbstone for any length of time invariably turns around so as to place his fore feet on the sidewalk? He always does it if the road on which he is standing slopes the least bit in either direction. This shows that the horse has a great deal of plain common sense. He will not allow himself to be worn out where it is not necessary. If people only had his wisdom, there would be a great deal less sickness in the world than there is at present. When a thoughtless driver leaves his horse standing on a slope or at an angle of the street, all the animal's weight is thrown upon one side, causing strain, and if left long enough painful exhaustion. Twenty minutes of such an ordeal will fatigue a horse more than a whole day's travel. But when he is able to plant his fore feet on the curbstone it gives him a better plant and adjusts his weight more equally. Many of the muscular ailments from which horses suffer are brought upon them by being continually obliged to stand by the gutter side on streets which slope downwards. A good driver will always seek to rest his horse on a level when possible."

Arizona Forest.

Arizona is supposed to be almost an unbroken desert, but in reality it has the largest unbroken pine forest in the United States, covering an area of over 8,000 square miles. This timber is usually found at an altitude of between 5,500 and 7,500 feet. The total quantity of pine timber fit for sawing purposes within the boundaries of the territory amounts to 10,000,000,000 feet, which can supply the needs of a populous state for more than a century.

Highest Cross in the World.

The highest cross in the world is said to be that which caps the loftiest peak of the Harz mountains. The cross is in reality a tower, and it commands a magnificent view of the country around. The height of the tower is 120 feet, and it stands on a mountain 1,731 feet above the sea level. A stair of 200 steps leads to the top of the cross, but there is an elevator of which people may avail themselves who for any reason wish to avoid the long climb.

Buying Molasses.

She was newly arrived from the old country, and she went to the store for sirup.

"Give me a pound of treacle," she said to the grocer. "Treacle!" repeated the grocer. "You mean molasses."

DOMESTIC OPINIONS.

Hubbard—"I think only sensible women ought to marry."

Wife—"Well, you'd be a bachelor if that were the rule."

The healthy old man wears his gray hairs like a silver crown. What if he be threescore and ten if there is still fire in his eye, firmness in his step, command in his voice and wisdom in his counsel? He commands love and reverence. Yet how few wear the mantle of age with dignity. Dim eyed, querulous of speech, halting in step, childish in mind, they drag out the lag end of life in a simple existence. The secret of a healthy old age is a healthy middle age. The man who takes care of his stomach, who keeps his body properly nourished, will find that the body does not fail him in old age. The great value of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery lies in the preservation of the working power of the stomach and the other organs of digestion and nutrition. From this centre is distributed the nourishment of the whole body, the salt of the blood, the lime for the bones, phosphates for the brain and nerves. A sound stomach means a sound man. A man who keeps his stomach sound by the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" will wear the crown of gray hairs as befits a monarch, with dignity and ease.

DISEASES OF WATCHES.

Useful Information on How to Cure Them.

How many people understand the diseases which affect their watches? Like human beings, watches suffer from exposure, they take cold, or they catch the contagion of dynamo or strongly vitalized bodies. An ounce of home remedies will save many a watch from the use of simple jeweller's bill.

Watches often suffer from changes of temperature. After a watch has been worn next to a warm body all day it should not be left over night on cold marble or near an open window. The pivots however slightly tighten up the works. The next morning, for no apparent reason, one's watch will be found to be losing time. It frequently happens that watches are slightly magnetized by static electricity given off by the human body. It has been found that dark people are more likely to exert this influence, over their watches. This influence is, besides, no common among women than with men. Persons of this sort can never hope to carry the correct time unless they carry their watches in rubber or steel cases.

Never lay your watch down for the night in a horizontal position. It should always be hung vertically, as it is carried during the day. If the pivot of the balance wheel be in the least worn this change of positions tends to loosen the "cap jewel."

Every one has had a watch suddenly stop for no apparent reason, and go on again. This may not happen once a year, but all watches are liable to such an accident. This is due usually to the catching of the delicate hair spring. It is caused by some sudden movement such as jumping on or off a car. The joint must come at the exact fraction of a second, so that the chances of such an accident are rare. A watch should be oiled every eighteen months. The oil dries up in this time, as a rule, and if the mechanism be run with the oil dry it quickly wears out.

Many jewellers have collected fees for repairing watches which they refuse to go because they are the best customers of the watch doctor, since they seldom wind their watches regularly. A watch should be wound early in the day, and not, as is the common practice, late in the evening. The reason for this is that the spring is then tightest during the day while the watch is being carried and is less sensitive.

Men as Bargain Hunters.

"This perennial joke about the love of women for bargains wears me," said a bright business woman the other day. "With most presumptuous superiority men charge our sex with an extravagant zeal for bargains, but I see enough of business men to assure me that they are just as eager as women are to get an article at a few cents less than the usual price."

"Mr. A. is a generally extravagant man in his personal expenditures, but he is keen after bargains. The other day he came into our office wearing an air of great satisfaction and his jubilation had no other foundation than the discovery of a street stand where 'seconds' in lead pencils were sold at two cents each."

"If you know a good pencil when you see it," he explained, "you can rummage in the pile and pick out five and ten cent pencils at two cents each, or three for five."

"And that reminds me of another bargain. You know the ten-cent cigar I smoke? Well, there is a little shop down near the ferry where you can get them four for a quarter. I just heard of the place and ran down there at lunch time and filled by pocket. Great bargain."

"And would you believe it, that man, whose transactions run into the millions, went on telling my employer of bargains in clothes, stationery, etc., and Mr. B. stopped in the midst of his estimates on a big contract to note addresses and to tell Mr. A. of bargains he had discovered in neckwear and shoes and household supplies."

No Need for Cook Books.

"We have little use for cook books in our town," said the man from Algonquin, N. M.

"Why, don't you eat?" he asked. "Yes," he answered, "and that's why we do not use them. If we did everything would be cooked wrong."

"How's that?"

"Well, you see, we are so high up."

"I don't understand."

"We are nearly 5,000 feet above sea level—almost a mile. Water normally boils at 212 degrees; with us it boils at 203 degrees. Consequently everything cooks slower with us than in places lower down. The cook books are based on the normal degree of heat and cold effect. They are useless to us; we have to make up our own recipes. Farinaceous food like beans, corn and such, has to be left a long time in water or it is moistureless when we go to eat it. We have to modify our recipes as to eggs, baking powder and the like too."

This may explain, if followed up, some features in cooking in the way that "mother used to do." The hint is recommended to brides for trial on their husbands. Find out where mother used to live.
