

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., NOV. 28, 1913.

Editorial Notes.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier observed his seventy-second birthday last Thursday, the 20th inst. He is in splendid health and received a great number of congratulatory messages, among them being one from King George.

Mount Allison University is erecting a new science building costing between $30,000 and $40,000. This was decided at the meeting of the board of regents held at Sackville last week. The new structure will probably be of stone. The University endowment fund is making good progress.

Persons driving into Wolfville during the late season of dark nights and muddy roads have seen the benefit of our good roads movement forcibly demonstrated. Our town has made a number of good investments during recent years but none better than the money expended upon Main street. This ACADIAN takes special pride in this evidence of civic advancement because for many years in season and out, it has advocated this important work. Now that our citizens are beginning to reap tangible results for the money expended and to realize fully the advantages, we expect to see the good work continue. Not only will Main street be finished but, one by one, the other streets will be similarly treated and modern side-walks provided.

The Boy Scouts.

No doubt everyone in the town of Wolfville and vicinity has received during the past week at least one visit from the enterprising small boys of this town.

So far the sale of tickets for the entertainment has been disappointingly small and from the answers given to the boys it would appear that the object of this entertainment is not as desired and therefore a word of explanation may be in order.

While the people of Wolfville have generously given the boys of the town a building of which they are deservedly proud, their responsibility cannot end there. Funds are absolutely necessary to carry on the work and without such funds the Boy Scout organization cannot exist.

It has been found that at least one hundred dollars is required each year to meet the expenses of hockey, camping, "wireless", etc., which activities constitute the life of the movement.

Some are not satisfied with the work being done. They claim that the boys are just as bad as ever and that the movement is failing in its object. Surely it should be sufficient answer to this that the men in charge of the work and who are naturally most closely in touch with it are so hopeful for the future that they are willing to give unreservedly of their time and money to push it actively along provided that they receive the slight financial backing asked for.

All that is asked of the people is that they purchase a ticket for an annual entertainment at the small cost of twenty-five cents. If they are able to present the boys will try to give them the money's worth. If they cannot be present they might try to deny themselves some slight extravagance in order to purchase at least one ticket from the small boy who offers them.

Acadia Notes.

The annual relay race for the Buller Cup was run on the campus last Saturday afternoon. The teams were those of the College classes, the Acadia crew and the Kings department. Each team was composed of eight men and each man ran one mile. From the start the Acadia took the lead and maintained it to the end. At the end of the first mile their man had a lead of a hundred yards, and the interest began to centre on who should win second place. The Kings held this position until the sixth mile, when the Sophomores forged ahead and finished second place. The Engineers came third, the Freshmen fourth, Juniors fifth, Seniors sixth.

The fastest mile was run by Cook of the Acadia. In the eighth mile his time being 1 min. 39 sec. and Horse of the Sophomores in 2 min. 8 sec. The total time for the race was 43 min. 47 sec. This is the second year the Acadia has won the cup. Their team was a faster bunch all round, each man winning on his own time and not any lead given him. They finished nearly half a lap ahead of second man and nearly a lap and a half ahead of the last. After the race the cup was presented to the winners by Dr. Cotton, President of Acadia University.

When Baby Cries.

Do not get out of patience or scold or shake your baby for crying. He does not do that to be angry—that is not a baby's nature—he wants to laugh and be happy but when he cries that is the way he indicates that you he is in pain; that his little stomach is out of order or that his teeth hurt him. Instead of being angry give him a dose of Baby's Own Tablets and you will soon see him laughing and happy again. The Tablets soothe the stomach, make feeding pleasant, break up solids, ease constipation and expel worms. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail for 25 cents a box. Death's Message on Football.

When Death enters a home there is no uncertainty about it's much dreaded presence. But with it comes always a message spoken in the still, small voice, and all too seldom failing to catch the attention of mourners and friends.

Can you not imagine Death whispering, 'Why do you fear me? I can resp only what you have sown. Make this, then, not a day of remorse, but a day of dedication to more active work in the longer preservation of valuable lives now sacrificed in immaturity through human ignorance and folly.' (See Hosea 4:6)

A recent death in Wolfville ought to bring a distinct message to all of us, and more especially to fathers and mothers of boys. If education is a preparation for fuller and better living, then the first question to be asked of all branches of educational effort, intellectual, moral or physical, should be this, What is the relative value of all these things to the ordinary human life; to the man with an ambition to carry his own weight here and to leave the world perhaps a little better than he found it?

Let me be brief. What is the relative value of football in a proper scheme of education? Does football pay dividends out of earnings or out of capital?

Without appealing to our limited statistics of fatalities or of broken bones and other externally recognized injuries, or to that larger class of internal injuries and strains which no statistics can cover and which may only be suspected by the unfortunate footballist later in life, let me ask you to admit that in football a man brings into play every ounce of physical energy in his body.

When you buy a horse you become aware of a certain value wrapped up in that collection of bone and muscle and of its possibilities in the way of work and profit.

How many dollars will you take and let me put your horse to some rough work which will call for the expenditure of all he has in him? I don't want your answer. I know it.

Or perhaps you have a piece of inanimate property. It may be an engine or a vehicle of some kind. What will you take and let me load that engine or that vehicle to the limit?

Again, I say I know your answer. It will be the whole value in dollars and cents. Nothing less.

Now there is no question here of bringing boys down to the level of horses and machinery, but as has been said before, it is a question of bringing boys up to the level of horses and machinery. And if parents cannot be appealed to on higher grounds, then I wish to remind them that their boys cost them as many times the future possibilities of loss as they do to buy.

Go among men past middle life and ask them if they are conscious of strains from over exertion which partly incapacitate them for ordinary work. I am sure the majority will acknowledge that they are. And it really seems as if misery did love company, for these people send their boys seaward over the paths they themselves have trodden to their undoing.

Boys should be continually improved, both by prompt and judicious action, except when life is in danger, does it pay to put forth one's greatest energies either physical or mental; and that the plaudits of the crowd are as nothing when weighed in the balance with life, health and happiness.

Home Buttermaking.

Market reports invariably quote creamery butter higher than dairy butter, which is the designation given to that which is made on the farm. It is unfortunate that circumstances at times make it impracticable for dairy farmers to patronize a creamery. When this can be done, not only are the profits, as a rule, increased, but much hard work is taken away from the overburdened members of the family.

There is no good reason why butter made in the home dairy should not be as fine as that made in a creamery where cream produced under all manner of conditions has to be made up. All that is necessary is the carrying out of a well established system in feeding the cows, caring for the milks and cream and the churning and putting up of the butter. In order to teach the proper method of carrying out these various operations, there has been prepared, under the direction of the Dairy and Cold Storage Commissioner at Ottawa, a bulletin entitled 'Buttermaking on the Farm,' written by Mr. Geo. H. Barr, Chief of the Dairy Division.

This work, which may be secured free from the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture, explains the common defects of dairy butter as well as the conditions that are necessary to produce a fine flavored cream. It then deals with churning, washing, salting, working and packing butter, and considers the modern necessary utensils and their care. There are shown in clear illustrations. This bulletin, which is No. 17 of the Dairy and Cold Storage series, concludes with the following recommendation:—Keep good cows, feed them liberally, keep them comfortable and clean when in the stable, skim a rich cream and keep it cool, churn at a temperature that will give a baby granule in the butter; use clean, pure water for washing butter and more than three degrees colder or warmer than the butter-milk. Put the butter up in neat, clean, attractive packages, and keep everything in and about the dairy clean and attractive.

NOTICE
On the premises of G. W. Trenchard, Grand Pre, two strayed last month, and delivered an interesting address on 'Church discipline.'

The service in our church for Temperance Sunday was helpful and interesting being an appropriate sermon by Rev. Mr. Powell, and a short program of readings and music by members of the Division and Sunday-school.

Our Division meetings are largely attended each Saturday evening. A series of debates is being carried on this autumn, and is proving very enjoyable and interesting. The subject under discussion last week was 'Which is the greatest curse to the world, money or intoxicating drink?' A kirkland party was given in the Division hall recently, the guests being the young men of the village, and the hostesses the young women.

Miss Jean Sexton, student at Acadia Seminary, spent the week end with Mrs. W. B. Anderson.

The returns received here for apples shipped to the English markets have been generally disappointing this fall. New flooring was laid in the iron bridge over the river here last week. Mumps is very prevalent among the young people.

Bishop, late of Wolfville in the County of Kings, deceased, are requested to send in the same, duly attested, within twelve months from the date of this advertisement; and all those indebted to said late are requested to make immediate payment to the undersigned.
