The Thumb-Screw in Use.

Within the last seven years I mysolid have seen the thunk-screw ap-plied, with the full knowledge and consent of British authorities, to a thieving native; and in West Africa the methods adopted by the white oftreme. We in England say that the black man is in all respects the equal of the making of the white. If you go to Bombay, one of the the you go to bounday, one of the daintiest jewels in our imperial crown, you will find that not even the greatest Indian Prince is allowed to put so much as his face within the doors of the Byculla Club or the Yacht Club,

Some time ago a distinguished col-ored cricketer was staying with the Governor of one of our great Indian provinces. The Governor wrote to the Secretary of a certain club asked that this cricketer should asked that this effecter should be put up as an honorary member. The reply he received ran as follows: "My bear Lord -: I have receiv-ed your Excellency's letter. If your friend chooses to come in his turban, and take off his shoes and wait at table like his brethren, he can enter the club. Not unless." the club, Not unless.

When Lord Reav was Governor of Bombay he gave a large dinner par-ty, to which he invited a certain very high-class native gentleman This gentleman he introduced to an English lady, saying: "will you take Mrs. So-and-so into dinner?" The lady at once left the room, accor panied by her husband; and Anglo-India has not yet forgiven Lord Reay for his innocent solecism.
