The Evening Chit-Chat

By MISS CAMERON

"Oh, do a riddle for me," said the lady-who-always-knows-something. "I'd just love to go. There is nothing I'd like better than to slip off to the woods on a day like this. But, my dear, I've promised to meet Mrs. L. in town—you know we are on that fair committee together—and buy some decorations."
"Why, big sister," said Molly, "didn't I hear you saying that she broke an engagement with you the other day because she had a chance to go autoing with some rich neighbours of hers?"
"Yes," said the lady-who-always-knows-something. "Then, why on earth don't you telephone her and break the engagement to-day for the same reason?"
"I shouldn't like to do that," said the lady.
"But if she does things like that to you," protested Molly, "why shouldn't you do things like that to her?"
"That," said the lady-who-always-knows-something, "is just exactly the reason why I shouldn't."
"I don't see that," said Molly.
"Why, you see," said the lady, "it's quite evident from her doing that sort of thing that she isn't used to people who have much sense of honor and obligation. Now, isn't it all the more incumbent on me for that reason to show myself that kind of a person? It always seems to me that when peo-

A Clean Man

Outside cleanliness is less than half the battle. A man may scrub himself a dozen times a day, and still be unclean. Good health means cleanliness not only outside, but inside. It means a clean stomach, clean bowels, clean blood, a clean liver, and new, clean, healthy tissues. The man who is clean in this way will look it and act it. He will work with energy and think clean, clear, healthy thoughts.
He will never be troubled with liver, lung, stomach or blood disorders. Dyspepsia and indigestion originate in unclean stomachs. Blood diseases are found where there is unclean blood. Consumption and bronchitis mean unclean lungs.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

prevents these diseases. It makes a man's insides clean and healthy. It cleans the digestive organs, makes pure, clean blood, and clean, healthy flesh.

It restores tone to the nervous system, and cures nervous exhaustion and prostration. It contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs. Constipation is the most unclean uncleanliness. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure it. They cover stripes. Easy to take as candy.

Fads and Fashions.

The train has returned. Fewer satin shoes are seen. Vivid colorings are fashionable. Bordered effects appear everywhere. Never was such a season for heavy laces. More and more broaded silks are seen. There is a slight nipping in of the waist. The straight line is still in favor for petticoats. Great favor is given new suits of broadcloth. There is a tendency toward smaller collars for suits. Plaid back shawls are being made up into tourist coats.

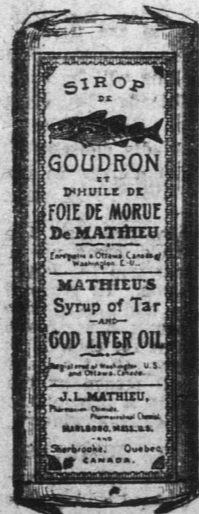

Novelty waists for dressy wear show brighter colors. The straight silhouette is the dominant fashion note. Deep bands still prevail at the skirt edge of evening gowns. Cutaway coat effects are meeting with considerable favor. Nearly all the evening gowns are veiled and draped with chiffon. The charm of the new winter millinery is in its simplicity. Large pointed and round coat collars are much in evidence. Interest in velvet suits is growing stronger from week to week. Hats in the softest of beavers are in demand for everyday wear. This season promises to break all previous records for the use of fur. Belt effects and belt suggestions distinguish many of the new long coats. The Empire style, so far as the waist line is concerned, prevails again. Some of the latest gowns form

Dear Sirs,—In reference to your inquiry as to the selling qualities of Mathieu's Syrup, we might say that it is of no use whatever for us to keep any other Cough Medicine in stock. When you first began to sell it here, the Druggists did not handle it, and now every Druggist in town has it, and we are sure they find a ready sale for it. Mathieu's Syrup is sold by at least 18 dealers in Springhill.

Paris snuck strongly of the Directoire. White lace waists will undoubtedly have a great vogue throughout the winter.

Ostrich feathers are dyed in every modish shade—green, red, gray and the like.

Expensive afternoon gowns are trimmed with large quantities of rich lace.

Rich, velvety corduroys will make many of the most fashionable tailored suits.

Poulards are still strong in popularity and on the increase rather than the decrease.

Practically all the skirts one sees are made with the panel in the back and one in front.

Black lace is extremely fashionable this season, as are all the embroideries, nets and laces.

Fur trims the collars, cuffs and sometimes the entire outline of the new evening coats.

The idea of the most effective afternoon gowns is to give the effect of veiled richness.

Many suit skirts are made with the long tunic, and some have a separate underskirt of satin.

Still increases the favor to waists having the peplum or girde finish to wear outside the skirt.

Fruit trimming for hats for early fall include tiny white apples, white raspberries and white peaches.

New tailored waists are shown in soft crepes and satins as well as fancy worsteds and soft-finished silks.

Single ornaments of passementerie are attached to linen collars in some cases in place of ordinary ties or bows.

Coats in the highest favor are made of two contrasting materials, such as gray and violet, blue and green, tan and blue.

Not So Bad as We are Painted.

Dear Editor,—On the occasion of the late visit of the Bishop of London to Canada, he deplored the anti-English feeling which pervaded large sections of the people, and attributed it to the class of British emigrant whose "know-it-all" conduct naturally grates on the feelings of those among whom he comes to better his position. Hitherto we had nothing to complain of in this way; the English, Irish and Scots who have come to us sell in with us and we've found them all "jolly good fellows"; in fact there's plenty of room for more of them.

In fact the three nationalities better us and we are proud of our pedigree! But cranks will crop up in all walks of life, and I am sorry to say there are a few of them among us at present who are endeavoring to carry things too far—in fact they came to redeem us! Of course there are no sinners behind in their own cities—Liverpool for instance—the "Sodom and Gomorra" of the Empire. Not at all! We alone are sinners! I am sure to go into some of our churches the past year and listen to the harangues from the pulpits, strangers would imagine we were the greatest drunkards and the most depraved people on God's earth! Ay, notwithstanding the great "Thunderer's" complimentary reference to us a year ago, speaking of our probable union with Canada, alluded to us as a "Contingent of the purest and the best!" And Earl Grey, late Governor-General of Canada, flatteringly remembered us as a "lovable people."

But it takes cranks from the "Babylon" of London and the "Sodom" of Liverpool to fling their imaginary offences in our faces, and I'd not wonder if the shades of some of our dead arose to defend us, for it's a terrible reflection on their labors if we are what we are painted now.

If a section of our people have not been persecuted the past two years goes without saying. And I would ask, is their business not as legitimate now as it was in the days when the parents of our "best" people carried on the same?

Why did not the great Mullock, Ayre, Pitts, Field, Power, O'Connor, Milligan, Robertson, Dean Ryan of cherished memory and numerous others ostracize us? And I think they were as clever and as human and as solicitous for our spiritual welfare and not quite so erratic, and perhaps not quite so eloquent. Dub us a colony of drunkards and in the same breath tell us we are a good, a "gentlemanly" people! Yes, we're the latter if anything; but we have yet to see if our women go into saloons and take their liquor, as in Liverpool, &c.

Yes, gentlemen! "Charity begins at home," but I fear you are not prophets in your own country, and large congregations are a revelation to you.

Yours,
P. T.

CRUELTY TO HORSE.

Yesterday the police found a horse in a field on Mundy Pond Road, near Mr. Jones Barber's place. It had been left there by the owner for two days and nights and the poor beast was in a bad state when found and the police sheltered the beast and had proper attention paid it. The owner can recover it by applying at the police station.
