What About Germs.

Yesterday was "Clean Up Day" and many went in with a will to meet the Council's demands in this respect. The streets were piled with garbage and refuse taken from back yards, basements and garages, but strange to say instead of being removed it was left on many streets as an eye sore to passers by and no doubt a danger to the health of many. If as we hear so often emphasized the germ-theory is correct and as dangerous as stated then the many children who played about these heaps of rubbish yesterday and last evening must have run a great risk. Shortage of horses and men it is alleged we hear was the cause of the refuse being left on the street. If so clean up day should have been postponed and not undertaken until horses and men enough had been secured to clear the streets in the minimum of time.

McMurdo's Store News.

WEDNESDAY, May 14, 1913.
We have had many requests of late for the famous Plaignol Olive Oil which is recognized as one of the best oils as a medicinal food, in constipation—especially in the case of infants and children—and as a Salad Oil. Certainly the flavor of this Marseilles Oil is delicious and there is not the smallest tang of an after taste. We would advise enquirers, and all who are looking for an extra good pale oil that we have just opened a consignment of Plaignol's Olive Oil which we sell at $1.50 a bottle.
Lazell's Talcum certainly has "caught on." The softness of the powder and its pleasant perfume has a great deal to do with this, as of course, being a new addition to a long list of Talcum Powders it can be sold on its merits only. Price 25c. a tin.

Rossley's New Troupe.

Last night there was a full house at Rossley's to see the funniest of all the acts: "Oh, What's the Use." It is a laugh a minute, Jack Rossley had the audience in roars. The best picture seen in a great while is the Derby Race of 1912, a splendid film showing the greatest of all races—with the Royal Family in attendance. The new company left New York yesterday and will open their engagement on Monday with everything up to date, they have a great reputation and come with a good supply of all the latest in the amusement line.

UNLUCKY 12.—The number thirteen seem to be asserting its baneful influence (if such it possesses) in this year of grace 1913, and the fact was remarked yesterday evening when the Parker & Moore factory fire broke out on the 13th May. On the morning of the 13th March the Reid Nfld. Co's. locomotive shops were destroyed by fire, and the Bonaventure and Beothic were in collision, which disabled the latter to such an extent that she had to give up the sealing voyage.

Summer Comes

Spring is passing, and once more summertime is at the door. Soon the winds will round us slide, hot as though they had been fried, and we'll get up in morn wishing we had never been born, muttering, with grievous frowns, as we don our handkerchiefs. "Not a minute have we slept!" Men and women, we'll be kept busy till the summer dies, boiling germs and swatting flies! Soon we'll languish in the shade drinking pale pink lemonade, and the more that we consume, deeper will become our gloom; summer drinks, already yet, but increase the flow of sweat; they reduce the victim's vim, bringing lassitude to him, so he's feeble when he tries boiling germs and swatting flies. Summer comes when men repeat "time-worn lies about the heat." "It was worse in '64," says the Gulliver next door; "our thermometer then made 700 in the shade; you could fry an egg real nice on a block of river ice." It is well to tell such tales in the scorching summer gales, if we work while telling lies, boiling germs and swatting flies. Summer comes, so let us all take our swatters from the wall, and send forth our battle cries, boiling germs and swatting flies.

Here and There

MESSAGE FROM KYLE.—Mr. H. D. Reid had a wireless last evening from the s.s. Kyle, stating that the ship was then 210 miles off the Fastnet Light and was making good progress. She is due here on Tuesday or Wednesday next.

FLORIZEL SAILS.—The s.s. Florizel sails at 6 o'clock to-morrow morning for New York, taking as saloon passengers: J. Barr, H. Denton, J. Wright, O. and Mrs. Schivenc, Misses Elvira and Barelton, and 5 in steerage.

GOT THREE MONTHS.—Jack Quinn, alias "Quinn Honey," a semi-demented and dangerous character, kicked up a dust last night, attracting a crowd of children around him. His conduct was not edifying and two constables had to arrest him. To-day he was sent down for three months.

LOST HIS SIGHT.—A man named Hiscock, totally blind, entered the General Hospital to-day a few years ago while working in the Tilt Cove mines a piece of steel got in his right eye, taking away the sight. Last year the left eye became affected. He is now deprived entirely of any sight whatever and his case is a sad one.

SPLENDID NEEDLEWORK.—In the shop window of Mr. Chas. Ellis, tailor, Water Street, are some beautiful specimens of needlework done by the skillful hands of the Nuns of St. Jacques. Flowers, etc., are beautifully wrought in natural colors in various kinds of material and the display should be seen to be appreciated.

Narrow Escape of King & Queen

Special to Evening Telegram.

LONDON, To-day.
Owing to a change in yesterday's programme, the King and Queen escaped an alarming and possibly a dangerous experience at Aldershot. The Queen was to fire a mine by means of an electric button from an iron shed fifty yards away. The charge was too dangerous to leave unexploded, and when it was known their Majesties were unable to carry out that part of the programme the order was given to fire it.

The danger zone was a circle of 50 yards. The explosion caused masses of clay to rise high in the air and fall mainly on the high road, a distance of more than a hundred yards. Quantities of earth fell near the shed where the Queen would have been and where the King almost certainly would have been watching the explosion, probably on horse back. One piece weighed over half a pound in weight.

American for Mediterranean.

Special to Evening Telegram.

LONDON, To-day.
The Daily Telegraph devotes an article to the proposed visit of the American fleet to the Mediterranean ports early next year and says British hospitality will be extended to the crews at Gibraltar and Malta and at probably one Egyptian port. The Telegraph points out the American fleet to be by far the most powerful in Mediterranean and says the decision of the States Government to dispatch a force of such commanding power indicates the importance attached to the task of showing the flag to the old world with a view of supporting American diplomacy. The opinion of the Telegraph is the visit of American ships will have the effect of inducing the British Government to modify the present policy of continuous concentration of naval power to home waters, which many officers consider injurious to spirit and character of service.

LONDON, To-day.

Owing to the loss of the Titanic and the laying up of the Olympic for repairs and because of labor disturbances the annual dividend of the White Star Line was only half that paid last year; thirty per cent.

Sensational Police Case.

YOUNG MAN STEALS $150—CONFESSES HIS GUILT AND ESCAPES FROM CUSTODY—GIRL FIGURES IN THE CASE.

Having planned to go abroad with his proposed better-half, after he had robbed Alexander Lewis, a fisherman, of a hundred and fifty dollars, James Kennedy, a nineteen-year-old laborer of the West End of the city, who was arrested last night, escaped from police custody and is still at large. The facts surrounding the case are somewhat exciting and sensational and the entire affair is compelling the police to work a little overtime to-day. Kennedy was in company with Lewis, on Monday last drinking. The latter got so filled up that he did not know what he was doing. Consequently his companion availed of this chance and relieved him of $150. Following the spree Kennedy had a faint recollection of who had his money. He acquainted the police with facts as well as he could remember. Last night Kennedy was arrested under warrant. After being brought to the police station the prisoner confessed taking the amount mentioned and told the police that the money was hid at the Reid Co's premises. Thereupon Kennedy, escorted by two police officers, proceeded to get the cash. In some way, the accused, who is an active fellow and evidently a good sprinter, got clear of his guards and ran in the direction of the Topsail Road. The officers gave chase but up to 1 p.m. to-day had not succeeded in capturing their man. This morning the police authorities heard a whisper that a girl, who kept company with Kennedy, was connected with the robbery. At noon to-day Detective Byrne boarded the Red Cross Liner Florizel, which sails early to-morrow, and arrested a female named Jones, who was booked to go to New York, and there, if possible meet her lover. It appears that Kennedy handed the money over to his girl after he had stolen it. Several dollars were spent for clothes and goods, which were seized to-day by the police.

COMING SOUTH.—The s.s. Prospero could not get north of Tilt Cove and was obliged to return home. She left Fortune Harbor at 8.40 a.m. to-day and is due Sunday next.

Takes Poison; Becomes Insane.

Last evening, a man named Brien of Petty Harbor, in an accidental way took some poison but was given an emetic in time to prevent its effects becoming fatal. The poison, however, was so injurious that it affected his brain and he became a raving maniac and had to be restrained. Dr. Roberts, who was sent for, went to the Harbor quickly and treated him and he will be brought to the Lunatic Asylum this evening. Mr. Eli White-way having made arrangements for his admission there.
