

Scrofula in the Neck

The following is from Mrs. J. W. Tillbrook, wife of the Mayor of McKeesport, Penn.

My little boy Willie, now six years old, two years ago had a bunch under one ear which the doctor said was Scrofula. As it continued to grow he finally lanced it and it discharged for some time. We then began giving him Hood's Sarsaparilla and he improved very rapidly until the sore healed up. Last winter it broke out again, followed by Erysipelas. We again gave him Hood's Sarsaparilla with most excellent results and he has had no further trouble. His cure is due to Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Sarsaparilla. He has never been so healthy and is growing stronger."

LACROSSE.

BRUTAL PLAY.

The Montreal Witness editorially denounces the brutal play of the Shamrocks on Saturday. It says: "The Shamrocks lost the championship on Saturday, and from all accounts they richly deserve it. It is to be believed even the Montreal reporters, who are not disposed to condemn the home team if they can help doing so, the Shamrocks, with a few honorable exceptions, acted like a lot of roughs. Can the explanation of the murderous play on Saturday be that the lacrosse players of these days are for the most part roughs? If that is the explanation of the rough-and-tumble play of Saturday, lacrosse will soon be left to the roughs altogether. It would appear that the Capitals were by far the most gentlemanly players. Although, according to recent authorities the heaviest and strongest team, they were comparatively gentle, and allowed themselves to be wantonly assaulted in many cases without making any return. Several of them seem to be very severely injured, while their opponents did not suffer. The Shamrocks have been soundly beaten in spite of their strategy in disabling their opponents. While they were giving their attention to beating their opponents over the head, neck and arms with their sticks, their opponents were probably giving their attention to the ball, with the result that they are the champions of 1923."

Wm. Leacy, one of the lacrosse players of the Capitals of Ottawa, who was so badly hurt in Montreal, was brought to his father's home on Saturday. He was hurt internally, had a back ache and was otherwise very badly bruised. He will be confined to his room several weeks.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Mitchell received word on Saturday that his 6-month-old baby was dead. The little one died from blood poisoning, as a result of being vaccinated. The news affected Mitchell deeply.

MAKING HIS MARK.

ASHBURY PARK, N. J., Sept. 25.—James J. Corbett to-day signed the articles to fight Charley Mitchell at the Coney Athletic Club for a purse of $40,000.

SOLLY SMITH KNOCKED OUT BY DIXON.

CONLEY ISLAND, Sept. 25.—Despite the stormy evening the sporting fraternity came in droves to the Conley Island Athletic Club to-night to see the much-talked-about fight between George Dixon and Solly Smith. Dixon was the favorite in the betting, but the sympathy of the crowd was with Smith, who was looked upon as the most likely man in his class to go against Dixon. Smith is an exceptionally hard hitter, and while not so scientific as the colored lady, it was believed that he would be able to make up the difference with his sledge-hammer blows. Betting was very heavy. The largest bet of the night was made by John Humphries, of California, who bet $1,500 to $3,000 with Phil Howell, the bookmaker, Humphries taking the Smith end. Billy West (a minister) bet $1,200 to $600 on Dixon. The preliminary bout was a ten-round contest between Jim Barge, the Australian, and Fred Morris (colored) for a $600 purse. $500 to the winner and $100 to the loser. Morris won.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon both Smith and Dixon were under the stipulated weight, 118 pounds. At 9:30 o'clock the fight commenced. Smith was floored in the first round and had the worst of it all through Dixon knocking him out in the seventh.

In the seventh round Dixon floored Smith with a straight right. Smith staggered to his feet and was floored again. He rose just as the gong sounded, but he was too weak to stand on his feet and fell again near his corner. He rose once more and essayed to continue, but he was waved back to his corner, and Dixon was declared the winner. The time of the fight was 26 minutes and 42 seconds. They fought to a finish for a purse of $5,000, of which the winner got $3,000 and the loser $1,000.

Hardly had the battle ended when Smith was put under arrest by a squad of Royal Irish Constabulary, for being a principal in a prize fight which took place before the defunct Clubman Club. The sheriff, at Judge Swaine's suggestion allowed Smith his liberty under the promise that Newton should be responsible for the defunct fighter until to-morrow, when Solly will be taken to Roby to stand trial.

The race was a poor one. Sullivan got the lead and held it throughout with the exception of a short distance, when Bubeur spurred. Bubeur's style lacked dash and strength. The betting was 4 to 3 against him.

IT'S A CAMPAIGN OF ARGUMENT.

[Canada Presbyterian.]

The meetings of the brilliant leader of the Opposition throughout the country are being very largely attended. A feature of these meetings is that they are held in places which would be highly honorable to all our public men, whether politicians or not, to always observe, is the entire absence of bitterness on the part of the speakers towards their political opponents. It is worth to be desired that the example of Mr. Laurier in this respect should be followed by men of all parties. On Sunday evening we attended the Presbyterian Church, St. Thomas, where he heard what he described as an unusually brilliant discourse by the pastor, Mr. Macdonald, who, by the way, is one of the rising men of the Presbyterian body. Among other places visited by him was Alma College, where he was very cordially received by Principal Austin and his staff. He made an address to the young ladies, which an auditor describes as one of the finest gems of oratory which he had ever heard.

"Is the editor in?" "Yes, sir, I think they run him in last night." "I mean, is he in here?" "No, sir, he's in debt."

WORK AND WAGES.

LONDON, Sept. 24.—John Burns, the labor leader, speaking at Battersea to-day, said that at the Belfast trades union conference all sections of the congress agreed that the day of strikes was over. The money of the unions, he states, must not be spent in strikes. Mr. Burns denounced the starting of public works as help for the unemployed, claiming that the remedies were the abolition of overtime, eight hours for a day's work, the abolition of the contract system, and forbidding the employment of children.

FRANKFURT, Sept. 25.—Another conference of the joint steel committee of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers and the manufacturers will take place this week, and the workers will concede the 10 per cent. reduction in the finishers' department, which they refused when the conference was in session in July. If the question is settled at the next meeting it is probable that the mills throughout the country which are now closed will resume operations. The reduction will affect the wages of 10,000 men, and will give employment to 30,000 men. At present about two-thirds of the mills in the country governed by the amalgamated scale are shut down.

PREMIER THOMPSON AT BERLIN.

The Conservative Party Pledged to Carry Out the Same Old Policy.

BERLIN, Ont., Sept. 25.—Premier Sir John Thompson and his party arrived from Elmira this evening at 6:30, and were escorted from the depot by the Twenty-ninth Battalion Band to the Walker House, where a grand spread was prepared for them. At 8 o'clock the party repaired to the skating rink, where a large crowd had gathered. In reply to the address tendered him the Premier said their object this evening was to set forth their policy as opposed by the Liberals. It had now become a question of free trade or protection. He claimed that free trade would be simply throwing open our industries to the competition of the United States, thus ruining what we have been endeavoring to build up during the past fifteen years, namely, manufacturing and other industries.

BLOW AT CASH PAYMENTS.

"When an importer buys for cash cheaper than his rival who purchases on credit, he expects to pay custom duty on the invoice price, but the authorities think differently. They tax him on the higher price, thus doing much to deprive him of the benefit he would otherwise reap from cash payments. A Montreal house is the latest to experience this."

They say time flies, and indeed it does. To-day one thinks there is yet plenty of time to think about fall and winter dresses, mantles, furs, etc., etc. So there is if you only intend thinking about it. There is a whole eternity for that sort of thing. But we suppose that we are talking to practical, sensible people—those who are living and preparing to live. With what rapidly time moves along! Really, it is but a short step to winter. Everyone knows this, whether wise or otherwise, and we would urge intending purchasers to buy right now. No matter how the question of when to buy is looked at, there is no denying the fact that when a stock is fresh it is not only nice to select from, but there is greater likelihood of your securing that which is more becoming.

You doubtless are aware that our stock is complete, that we have never before opened a season with such a complete and extensive line of goods. To-day we quote some prices from the Dress Goods Department:

THE GOAL WE NEVER REACH.

It was sometime in the city. And the crowd went whirling past. Where a little grimy footstep. From the back of the crowd at last. Leaning up against a coal. As he ate his bite of bread. While the people hurried past him. To a more pretentious spread. "Ah, if I were but a salaried man! That's the ideal life for me." Thus the little bootblack mused. "Nothing else I'd ask to be."

Twenty years, and now the salesman has forgot his bootblack trade. In a life of ceaseless changes. And the vow that once he made. Now he sees the prosperous merchant. And the longing finds its way. To his heart, and then he murmurs. As he did that other day. "Ah, if I were but a merchant! That's the ideal life for me." And the busy salesman mused. "Nothing else I'd ask to be."

But when two more decades find him busy in the world of trade. Resting but for just one moment. In the quiet solitude of shade. And a rich retired banker. In his coach goes driving by. Then that same old old longing. Comes again into his eye. "Ah, if I could but retire. From this busy, fretful strife." So the weary merchant mused. "That is all I'd ask of life."

Then another score of summers sees him in a mansion street. But his limbs are weak and trembling. And his mind is full of regret. In that old familiar place. And the old bootblack mused. On his young but aching face. "Ah, if I could taste the sweetness of that bootblack's noonday meal! Once again to feel the freshness of that life of labor and strife. I would rather all the riches of this world than that life of ease. When that life is nearly done."
