FINANCIAL COMMERCIAL

TRADE WAS QUIET ON LOCAL MARKET TODAY

After yesterday's brisk selling, trading was unusually quiet on the local market this morning.

Hay sold from $12 to $15, but only one load brought the maximum price. Only one load of oat straw of inferior quality brought $8.

Grain was firm with a very light supply and but a few demands. Oats sold from $1.05 to $1.10, while new oats brought 95c to 1.00. Wheat was steady at 85c per bushel, and $1.12 per cwt.

Young live chickens have dropped to 13c to 14c per pound.

Dressed hogs are now selling for $12.50, and small pigs bring $10 to $15. Prices on all other live stock remain firm.

Butter and eggs are scarce with prices steady.

MAY EXTRADITE HARRY K. THAW VERY SHORTLY

But the Outside of "City Hall" Has a Beautiful Coat of Fresh Paint.

At last the outside of the "city hall" is being painted. It is real paint, too—slate-colored, and somewhat of a contrast to that section of the Spencer Block that the water commission has taken as its own, and where Manager H. J. Glauzitz's Irish lord led him to make the color scheme green. However, the city hall is losing the variegated appearance that it has sported since "our mahar" ordered the city officials to move, a month ahead of time.

It is now over two weeks city officials vacated their old quarters in the Richmond street city hall, and moved to the Spencer Block, yet only one office in the whole galaxy is really completed. That office is the city assessment department.

Decorators finished their work this morning and left behind them the only completed office in the building—two weeks after the last of the city department found shelter under the roof of the Spencer Block.

Over the water commission offices and that of the assessment department, the remainder of the city hall is incomplete. The treasurer's office chafes yet to be glazed. The same condition applies to city clerks, the engineering quarters have considerable yet to be done, the halls have all to be papered and painted. The relief office has to be partitioned off from the garbage department, the tax collector's department has to be fitted up with counter railings and more paper, the city auditor has to have his partitions glazed and other work done, and so it is down the entire line.

Jumping Contests. — The jumping contests at the Western Fair yesterday afternoon brought out a number of entries, and the contests created a great deal of interest on the part of the spectators. Jack Roche, of Stratford, carried off the red ribbon, while W. J. Blacklock, of this city, was second. Third and fourth prizes went to Col. Reason's jumpers. There were no serious spills during the event, although some of the horses balked at the hurdles, and one of the Beck riders was thrown.

Induction at Mt. Brydges. — The induction of the Rev. Dr. Robertson took place this afternoon at St. Andrew's Church, Mt. Brydges. Rev. Dr. Robertson will have charge of the Mt. Brydges and North Cayce churches. At this afternoon's service the new pastor was given a hearty welcome by a large gathering of his congregation. Rev. W. L. Nichol, of Dumbage, presided. Rev. J. McNeil delivered the charge. The Rev. Geo. Weir addressed the minister and the Rev. Mr. McIntosh the people.

Factor Not Called. — A dispatch from Laporte, Indiana, published locally, stated this morning that Rev. F. Z. Burkett, pastor of the First Christian Church, Rochester, Indiana, had been called to the pastorate of the First Street Christian Church in this city. Inquiry from members of the local church, however, brought forth the information that the case had not yet been officially extended to Rev. Burkett, although his name has been under consideration along with several others for some time. The local pastorate was made vacant by the resignation of Rev. Bela H. Hayden, M.A., to accept a professorship in a Tennessee college.

Failed to Get By. — Considerable trouble has been experienced by the gatekeepers at the King street gate of the Fair grounds in dealing with drivers of vehicles, who attempt to work various bluffs to obtain entrance to the grounds without paying the admission fees for themselves and horses. This morning two men driving a team appeared at the entrance, and while one of the men was attempting to drive through the gate, the other was being held back by the gatekeepers. The man being held back was a woman, and she was being held back by the gatekeepers. The man being held back was a woman, and she was being held back by the gatekeepers.

Enjoyed Ride in Patrol. — Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson and Miss Cottrell, all of St. Thomas, who gave the police a clue as to the thief by telling them they had seen a woman carrying a bag of stolen goods on the grounds last night, accompanied the officers to the station in the automobile patrol this morning.

They enjoyed the ride immensely. They told the officers, and said that they had been to the fair grounds on account of the fine ride one could get in the new patrol. Saunders will appear in police court tomorrow morning to stand trial on a charge of theft.

Few Baskets for Peaches. — Fruit this season has ripened too fast for the supply of receptacles.

Big Market Saturday. — London would buy four or five carloads of peaches on Saturday if the baskets were delivered, but owing to the basket famine in the Winona district not more than two carloads will be received, according to a local fruit merchant.

Last year I sold 45,000 baskets myself, said the dealer. "This year I will probably not sell more than 30,000 because I can't get them. They will just dump them in boxes, and take them to the cannery factory rather than the risk of losing them by waiting for baskets."

Basket manufacturers are working overtime and running night and day shifts of employees in the vain attempt to overcome the shortage in the supply of fruit baskets, but the peach crop is ripening ahead of the output of baskets, and so the basket sales will be smaller as a result.

Elberta peaches are expected for Saturday's market. The Crawford's are nearly exhausted, but there will be some left for Saturday.

Little Chinese Boy to Become Minister. — Louis For is to be educated in the Schools of London.

Charlie For, the Clarence street laundryman, stated to The Advertiser today that his wife and little son Louis will come to London before long.

Mr. For is certain that his son is going to grow up to be a good boy and develop into a great man. He is planning to educate him for the ministry.

"I want him to be educated in London," he said today. "There are fine schools here. The boy and his mother will come to Canada before long, and I will live with me here. I want him to get the very best education."

Mr. For only recently received the photo of his son. He has never seen him yet, and is looking forward with much joy to his arrival in London.

Twenty-Four Killed in Last Five Days. — [Canadian Press.] Toronto, Sept. 12.—The body of a man believed to be J. H. ("Count") Taylor, of 114 Bond street, was found floating face upwards near the eastern flap today. It is almost certain that the man found is Taylor, as a gold signet ring bearing the initials "J. H. T." was on one of the fingers of the right hand.

Taylor had been camping with Lloyd Findlay. The last seen of the two young men was on Aug. 25, when they went out swimming in the lake. It is supposed that Findlay, who was a poor swimmer, got into trouble, and that Taylor perished in an attempt at rescue.

FINANCE COMMITTEE TO TALK ELECTRIFICATION

First Discussion of Various Reports Will Come Up This Afternoon.

First discussion of the various reports on the electrification of the London and Port Stanley Railway will be held this afternoon when the finance committee of the council convenes. The discussion is hardly likely to be a prolonged one, however, and according to Ald. J. P. Moore, chairman of the committee, it will take the form of making arrangements for a general meeting of the council. To obviate a second round of discussion on the question, the finance committee, to which was delegated the reports of the "experts," are anxious that these be taken up at a general meeting of the council rather than at the finance committee only.

By having the council sit as a committee of the whole and discuss the situation from start to finish, considerable time and energy will be saved, according to the minds of the aldermen. Just when the "general" meeting will be held is indefinite as yet, but that it will be early next week seems to be the general impression.
