SALESMAN—To cover North sian leaders a clearer realization of their country's memacing attitude to strongly adverse to the idea of stricken Russia being represented at the Genoa Conference. They go so far that great association of nations as to declare this decision an idiotic concession on the part of the leading provers. Thot is one side of the question. No doubt it has its points which would support argument in its favor. But on the other hand, if Europe is to be reconstructed the Russian problem must be disposed of . No land for international readjustment would be complete or adequote in coping with the tremendous demands that will be made upon it unless one can stand.
