ROOSEVELT, KING OF ALBANIA? JOB IS HIS IF HE'LL ACCEPT

Ismail Kemal, Who Is Filling in Until First-Class Man Is Secured For Vacancy, Says the Colonel's Application Would Be Considered Favorably — Albania Wants a Hustling, Enterprising Ruler.

Special Cable to The World. LONDON, May 11.—(Copyright.) The Toronto World is in a position to offer Theodore Roosevelt, late president of the United States, the throne of Albania. Negotiations have already been carried to the point that the colonel has only to signify his willingness to accept and the crown is his.

Then the correspondent named monarchs sprung from the people who had won immortal fame, whereas Kemal shrank his shoulders, as if to say that he was unable to controvert the incontrovertible. He added: "I agree that Roosevelt is an extraordinary situation, and that he is the man my country needs at this moment, whom we require a strong man. Roosevelt has only to approach me, I don't propose him, but if he will propose himself, that is a different matter. You have suggested his name to me and my answer is 'Why not?'"

First Option on Job. "There is no man more fitted than he to step into our throne. I tell you if Roosevelt will suggest himself we will put him in front of all the others. There is no special form of etiquette to be observed in presenting his candidacy, for in the crisis which Albania now faces, we cannot stand on ceremony as to the manner in which Roosevelt's name may be submitted to us."

They all showed the greatest interest in and were evidently agreeably surprised by the suggestion as to Roosevelt. Ismail Kemal said with a pleased smile: "This is truly an interesting idea, but why should Roosevelt care about becoming ruler of Albania when he is already almost king in his own country?"

The correspondent explained that the prospect of the Albanian kingship was more immediately tangible. Kemal was tickled by the novelty of the suggestion, which he accepted as complimentary to his country. The other members of the group bent eagerly forward on their chairs anxious not to miss a word of the conversation, which was conducted in French, as the delegates speak little English.

Another Mansion Burned. The $50,000 mansion, called Farington Hall, near Dundas, the residence of Henry McGrady, a former lord provost of the city, was also destroyed by fire. This affair is believed to be the suffragettes' work, because the outbreaks occurred simultaneously in several places in the building.

Liner Held Up by Fog. MONTREAL, May 10.—(Special to The Sunday World.)—The steamship Englishman arrived in port on Monday after a long voyage of 16 days from Bristol. She was held up in the big fog in the Gulf for over four days, and when it lifted ten big ocean liners were lying near by, all in the same fix. On the first day after the fog cleared the ship passed 70 icebergs, some of them very large and in the path of navigation.

TIS ONLY "AU REVOIR" WAITING TO BE QUEEN

Bride, Formerly Maxine Seagrave, Is Promised a Blissful Reunion.

Special Cable to The World. NEW YORK, May 10.—Half an hour before sailing of the steamer Carrillo for Central America and West Indian ports, a handsome couple went aboard. That they were bride and groom was evident. The man was Teodoro Gonzalez. The bride was formerly Miss Maxine Seagrave of Crawford street, Toronto, Ontario.

Last January Miss Seagrave, accompanied by her mother, made a winter cruise to the West Indies on the steamer Thives. On the return voyage Gonzalez boarded the steamer at Fort Limon. He fell in love with the beautiful Canadian at sight. He proposed and was rejected.

He told the girl his father had a great plantation outside of San Jose, Costa Rica, and that he was on his way here to spend two weeks purchasing machinery for his father, but he was calling for an explanation of Miss Seagrave to her home in Toronto. His suit progressed and finally Cupid triumphed and they were secretly married.

Gonzalez attended to the neglected business, on his arrival several days ago, in New York. He had been receiving telegrams from his father, calling for an explanation of his long absence, and demanding to know why the machinery had not been shipped. But he was gay and happy with his bride. He knew that as soon as his father beheld her he would take her to his arms, and would forgive his son.

Some days ago he broke the news of his marriage to his father. He called him he had married the sweetest girl in the world, and that he would sail with her on the Carrillo. But a few moments before the vessel sailed, a steward handed Gonzalez a cablegram. "A message from my father," said Gonzalez. He tore open the envelope, hurriedly read the message, and then cried: "My God!"

"What is it, Teddy?" cried his bride, the smile gone from her face, and her blue eyes troubled. "Oh, what's the matter, Teddy?" "Read for yourself," he said sadly, handing her the message. "I can't read it," she exclaimed petulantly. "It's in Spanish."

Translated, the message read: "Come without haste. Will meet you in Port Limon." "It's terrible," said Gonzalez, and tears filled the blue eyes of his bride. "His anger is awful. He has been known to kill servants when aroused. There will be an awful scene at Port Limon."

They talked it over by themselves. Then it was decided that first Gonzalez's father would see the father's awful anger alone. That she must return to Canada. But he declared he would send for her in two weeks.

and so her little steamer trunk, her suit case and bags were taken ashore. He accompanied her to the pier and there was one more wild, tearful embrace. The steamer slowly pulled away from the wharf, with Gonzalez weeping at the rail and the brave little bride trying to smile confidence and courage to him.

CZAR'S COMING VISIT KEEPS POLICE BUSY

All Strangers Subjected to Close Examination by Berlin Authorities.

Special Cable to The World. BERLIN, May 11.—The recent attack on the Grand Duke of Baden at Mannheim, proved to be the work of a weak-minded laborer, but the incident has been sufficient incentive to cause the most exaggerated efforts to prevent any recurrence of such an event during the coming visit of the Czar. The police, assisted by the Czar's special police, are already at work in Berlin and along the route from St. Petersburg, looking for suspicious characters and questioning strangers.

An American woman staying at the Hotel Aldon, told The World correspondent she had been ordered to stand gazing at the Emperor's palace and three times within ten minutes detectives inquired her name and where she was stopping. The same woman asserted that she and other Americans had been subjected to a close scrutiny while inspecting shop windows in Unter den Linden.

The arrangements for guarding the railway before and during the Czar's journey are being made on the usual scale. Troops being sent in small detachments to patrol the roads, while the whole route from the frontier to the hundred yards for twenty-four hours before the Imperial train passes.

MANUEL'S BRIDE GETS NEW TITLE

She Will Be Known as the Duchess of Saxony.

WAITING TO BE QUEEN

Hopes Some Day to Occupy the Throne of Portugal.

Special Cable to The World. BERLIN, May 10.—"Royal Highness Duchess of Saxony" is the title that will be first borne by Princess Augustine Victoria of the Hohenzollern as the bride of ex-King Manuel of Portugal. She hopes eventually to be the recognized queen of Portugal.

They first met about a year ago in Munich, when Manuel was paying a visit to his kinswoman, the widow of Duke Charles Theodore of Batavia, who was Infanta Maria Joseph of Portugal. They were betrothed in the latter part of last month with the consent of Emperor William. The marriage probably will take place soon.

Manuel was born on Nov. 15, 1889, the day his father's great-uncle, Dom Pedro II, was deposed from the throne of Brazil. He succeeded his father and elder brother on the throne of Portugal after their assassination in Lisbon, Feb. 1, 1908. The revolution in October, 1910, put an end to the monarchy, and Manuel escaped to Gibraltar. From there he went to England, and for some time was the guest of his mother's elder brother, Duke d'Orleans, at Wood Norton. He subsequently took the lease of Kald Sir Harry McLean's house, "Abercorn," Richmond, where he has since resided with his mother, Queen Amelie.

The bride-elect, the only daughter of Prince William, the head of the non-reigning line of Hohenzollern, was born in Potsdam Aug. 13, 1890, and is nine months younger than her fiancé. Manuel is second cousin to his future bride thru her paternal grandmother, Princess Antonia, who was a daughter of Queen Maria da Gloria of Portugal, and so the aunt of King Carlos, Manuel's father.

Princess Augustine's mother was an only child, the Princess Maria Theresa of Bourbon-Sicily. She was the granddaughter of King Ferdinand II of the Two Sicilies, better known as "Bomba," and the niece of Emperor Elizabeth of Austria, the Duchess of Alencon, who perished in the fire at the charity bazaar in Paris in May, 1897, and of Queen Maria Sophia, a heroine of the siege of Gaeta. Her first cousin, Infante Don Carlos, was once brother-in-law of the King of Spain, and has since married a sister of the Duke of Orleans. Another of her first cousins, Princess Maria Immaculata, married the brother of the King of Saxony.

The bride's senior uncle is the Crown Prince of Roumania, who married the Duke of Edinburgh's daughter, Princess Marie, and Prince Charles and Princess Elizabeth of Roumania are her great-aunt, the Countess of Flanders, was the mother of the King of the Belgians, of Princess Josephine, the wife of Prince Charles of Hohenzollern, the bride's junior uncle, and of Princess Henriette, Duchess of Vendome.
