HUDSON BAY CO. HEAVILY FINED

Will Appeal Against Levy of Sixteen Thousand Five Hundred Dollars.

Chief of Provincial Police J. E. Rogers at the parliament buildings yesterday when acting as a magistrate fined the Hudson Bay Company $16,570 for the illegal purchase of beaver, otter and muskrat pelts during the close season.

The post of the company at Long Lake was visited by Constables Edwards, C. A. Jordan, W. H. Stringer and Inspector McCurdy, who on their way from Nipigon were joined by Police Magistrate Depew some time ago. The posse found, it is said, eleven pounds of beaver castors and two rows of beaver pelts. When the books of the company were scanned it was found that they had purchased 424 beaver, 86 otter and 1,274 muskrat furs.

The defence of the company was that they purchased their furs under their old charter from the British crown.

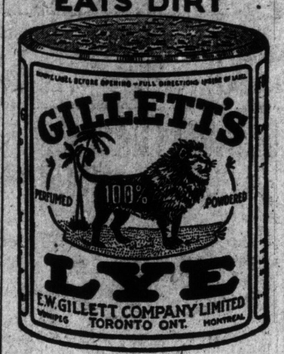
GILLETT'S LYE EATS DIRT



DIFFICULT DRAMA PRODUCED WELL

"Darling of the Gods" Played Excellently at Royal Alexandra.

SCENIC EFFECTS FINE

Bonstelle Players Showed Creditable Grasp of Exacting Parts.

Few stock companies would attempt to produce such a play as "The Darling of the Gods," a play which would tax the ability of some of the greatest actors in the country. It is a production which requires not only ability, but the scenic effects require to be considerably above the average.

"The Darling of the Gods," as produced by the Bonstelle Players at the Royal Alexandra Theatre last night, is deserving of the greatest credit. Throughout the entire five acts, there was not a flaw, and altho at times the waits between the scenes, of which there were no less than ten, were a trifle long at times, the effects were splendid.

For the players there is nothing but the highest praise due, Miss Catherine Proctor making a most charming Yo San, a girl who sacrificed the lives of ten to save that of her lover. Edward H. Robins as Prince Kara was splendid, but the chief praise must be given to Robert Homans for his wonderful representation of Zakkuri. The character is a most difficult one, but it lost nothing from the hands of Mr. Homans, whose impersonation of a Jap was splendid.

DR. GODFREY MAY NOT HAVE ANY OPPOSITION

Liberals Have Made No Effort to Choose a Candidate, Tho Names Are Mentioned.

Opposition to Dr. Forbes Godfrey by the Reform party seems to be in doubt. With election date fixed the Liberals have as yet made no effort to put up their candidate. A number of names have been mentioned as possibilities in the event of putting a candidate in the field. G. W. Verral, the defeated candidate in last election, is freely spoken of as a candidate. Chas. Silverthorn, the popular reeve of Etobicoke, a good fighter and a young man with ideas, is canvassed. J. K. McEwen, Weston's auctioneer, is mentioned by a number as a likely man to enter the field for political honors. Two young men are also named as willing to allow their names to be put before the convention, W. E. Shean of Islington, and Dr. P. D. McLean, jr., of Woodbridge.

FLYING BOAT CHASES SHIP TO CATCH GEM THIEF.

A flying boat and the wireless telegraph working together proved effective means of thief catching recently in preventing the escape of a gem thief from a Florida winter resort. A valuable diamond brooch had been reported lost by a woman prominent in New York society. Suspicion pointed to a negro hotel employe who disappeared on the day the Miami sailed, and who was reported to have been spending a great deal of money. By the aid of the wireless the negro was found to be on board the Miami. A flying boat was then brought into service and started in pursuit of the ship. The negro was found on board and arrested and then brought back to port in the flying boat.

RECOVER BODY OF LAURENCE IRVING

Identification Made by Means of Initialed Signet Ring on Finger.

Canadian Press Despatch.

QUEBEC, June 1. — The corpse of Laurence Irving, the actor, was picked up on the south shore of the St. Lawrence, below Rimouski last evening and the information was given to the C. P. R. officials here this morning. His face was badly bruised and hardly recognizable, but on his finger was a signet ring with the initials "L. I." He had a piece of a woman's nightdress in his death grip, and it was evidently Mrs. Irving's, because when last seen alive, the distinguished actor was making a desperate effort to save her life. It was thought that in his brave efforts to save her life he lost his own.

A few bodies have been taken straight from Rimouski to Montreal.

The body of Leonard Parmer, English journalist, was identified today.

The arrangements for the combined funeral of the bodies of the victims of the wreck who were members of the Salvation Army are not as yet completed. The Arena has been secured for the service, but the time on Saturday when it will take place has not been decided on. This subject was also considered at the meeting, and an announcement will be forthcoming shortly.
