

NEW BOOKS AND REPUBLICATIONS.

Sorrow—of Avicene—of the Fair Arouya—The Adventures of Aboulsonaris, surnamed the Great Voyager—First Voyage—Second Voyage—History of the two Brothers Genies, Adia and Dahy—Story of Nasreddole, King of Moussel—of Abderrahmane, a Merchant of Bagdad; and the Fair Zeineb—of Repaima.

PERSIAN TALES OF INATULLA OF DELHI. The Translator's Preface to the Reader—The Author Inatulla to the Reader—The Bear Daneah; or, Garden of Knowledge—History of the Parrot—of Comladevè—Story of the first Companion—of the second Companion—of the third Companion—of Roshana—of the Mouse and the Prince of Gilan—of the young Merchant of Tatta—of Altafash, Viceroy of Chahism—of the Contending Brothers.

ORIENTAL TALES. History of Hudjage and Moradhak—Story of Ebouali Sina—of Dakianos and of the Seven Sleepers—of the Birth of Mahomet—of Abdal Motallab, the Sage—of Yaarab, the Judge—of Zemindari, the Soldier—of Aboutaleb, the Doctor of Law—of Naour, King of Casmiere—of Naerdan and Guzulbec—of the Dervise Abounadar—of the Griffin—of Nourgehan and Damake, or the Four Talismans—of Jahia and Meimouns—of a Dervise—of the Merchant of Bagdad—of the Basket—of Gulsoom, and of the King of the Genies—of the Porter of Bagdad—of the Robber of Seistan—of the Black Bull—of the Fisherman.

HISTORY OF NOURJAHAD.

ADDITIONAL TALES FROM THE ARABIAN NIGHTS. History of Naama and Naam—of Alasddin Aboulschamat—of Abou Mohammed Alkeslan—of Ali Mohammed the Jeweller, or the False Caliph.

MOGUL TALES. Introductory Tale—History of Karabag—of Canzade, Princess of Ormuz—of Aboul-Assam, the Blind Man of Chitor—of Cazan-Can, Sultan of Ormuz—of the Prince of Visappour—of Zem-Alzam, Prince of Kasgar, and of Zendebroud Prince of Samarcand—of Katife and Margeon—of Megnoun and Leileh—of Massoud the Son of Soffar—of Abderraim—of the Sultana Goul-Saba—of the Princess Zarat-Alriadh—of Oguz and the five Sultanas.

TURKISH TALES. Preface—History of the Sultana of Persia and the Vizier—of the Chec Chahabeddin—of the Son of the King of Delhi—of Saddyq, Master of the Horse—of the Adopted Son—of the Tailor and his Wife—of Solomon's Birds—of the old King of Ethiopia and his three Sons—of King Togrul-Bey and his Children—of Prince Malikmair—of the two Owls—of the Santon Barissa—of a Sophy of Bagdad—of King Quothbeddin and the beautiful Ghulroukh—of the King Aad—of the Bralman and the young Fyquy—of Sultan Aqschid