ORPHANAGE FAIR DAILY NEWS-LETTER.

St. John, N. B., Sept. 22, 1921.

Greetings.—Yesterday we were dealing with the question of responsibility in regard to the care and education of orphans and other homeless children. The fact was mentioned that this present movement was organized through a few individuals interested themselves among their fellow members of the fraternal societies. This action on their part was merely "a means to an end," the object of which was not only to arouse the Protestants to a sense of their duty, but also to create an independent organization around which all might rally, and from which might arise in due time a permanent and aggressive force whose efforts would never be relaxed until suitable accommodation had been provided for all. The immediate need, however, is for every Protestant man or woman, not merely those who have received a personal invitation, but all who can, to seek out for themselves some way in which to participate in this movement. Times are hard; many who have not the means to contribute as they would like, may find other ways of assisting. Those who have any desire or wish to help in a movement of this kind should never wait for a personal solicitation, advise those in charge of your readiness to assist. If you have a contribution of any kind no matter how small, even such as the "Widow's mite," which in the Master's eyes was the greatest of all, kindly advise us, or forward if possible. In the press you might be missed by those soliciting, and, if you intend to help, your action in volunteering such assistance relieves the workers to that extent and enables them to see others who may not be so open hearted as yourself. Study this carefully and let us hear from you as soon as possible. "The Lord loveth a cheerful giver." How much more so must He love the voluntary giver.

CHAIRMAN, Jas. E. Arthur, Sec., Box 12, City.

FIRE IN MONCTON

Moncton, Sept. 21—Fire in the wooden buildings owned by Mrs. G. H. Brown and Eloi Cormier, at the corner of Main and Mechanic streets, tonight caused damage of $8,000 or $10,000. The buildings were badly damaged by water. The losses are understood to be covered by insurance.
