DEMAND THAT MEN BE

AS MORAL AS WOMEN

Determined Stand Against Re-marriage

After Divorce, Urged by Episcopalians.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 27.—The House of Churchwomen took up yesterday the problems that touch most vitality the very foundations of the social structure; namely, divorce and remarriage and personal purity for men and women alike. This body of churchwomen, as representative of any body of women of the Episcopal church that was ever gathered in the whole length and breadth of the land, went on record squarely as opposed to remarriage after divorce, as demanding the same standard of purity for men as for women, and as opposed to card playing when it led to gambling, and to social dissipation on Sunday that interfered with the sacredness of the day.

The resolutions to this effect were embodied in a report of the committee on Women's Influence in Society and in the Community, which was read by Mrs. Gallard Stoney, the chairman of the community.

"The typewriter at our office," Mr.
Sharpe was explaining to the caller, who was thinking of buying a machine, "is what they call the visible kind."
"Visible?" snapped Mrs. Sharpe, entering just in time to hear the closing remark. "She's conspicuous."—Boston

ST. JOHN, N. B., MARCH 28, 1907.

ORGANIZE.

A very large number of citizens have for some weeks been opposing to the best of their ability the making of a change in the electoral system without first calling for a plebiscite. The Star believing that the rights of the people in this matter were being grossly infringed, has supported the opposition, not with the intention of creating a heated temper, but solely on the principle involved. Every step consistent with the interests of the people has been taken, and while the main object has not been achieved, a compromise has been effected which provides much better terms than were contained in the bill as it at first passed the municipalities committee.

It would appear at the present time that further opposition is useless, and would tend only to divert public attention from the more important phases of the coming civic contest. The Star believes that the only proper course to be followed by citizens now, is in securing as candidates the best men available, forming ward organizations and doing all things possible to elect as aldermen a more business like group of representatives. Under the new bill which will finally pass the legislature within a very few days, no restrictions in regard to residence or place of business qualifications are imposed. A Carleton man may run for North End, a South Ender for Carleton. This opens the way for a better selection of candidates and with proper organization ward workers should be able to place in the field men of the highest type. There is little value in a so-called ticket, when the ward system is in effect, but there is no reason why earnest men should not support each other in so far as possible, for this will most certainly be done by the present aldermen, or by groups of citizens towards this end will be made, that organization will be urged, and that if at all possible a list of names of men believed to be capable and worthy of public confidence will be placed before the people.

It is greatly to be regretted that a number of city papers are endeavoring to arouse sectional feeling. St.
John has in the past had most unpleasant experiences of this nature, now happily forgotten, but which brought about no good result. Instances now made, and in fact direct statements that the opposition to the bill now before the house is promoted almost entirely by members of the Orange order, are entirely without foundation. Orangemen as such have, so far as the Star can learn, taken no more active interest in the matter than have the different lodges of Masons, Knights of Pythias, Knights of Columbus, A. O. H., C. M. B. A., or any others. The contest is not being fought on sectional prejudices, and any effort to create such feeling must be injurious to the best interests of the city.

A year ago some members of the common council announced for the benefit of the people that it would be to the advantage of the city if aldermen were elected for a two year term.
The people do not seem to have been reasons of those making such a suggestion were not stated, but were left to be guessed at. A plebiscite was taken and it was learned that the majority of the people were not in entire agreement with the proposal for an extended term. This decision applied to the mayoralty as well as to the council, and there exists no now and has been in operation for a considerable time an unwritten law which gives to each mayor two years of authority. This is distinctly in opposition to the expressed wishes of the people. It is true that elections are held every April, but it is equally true that no citizen holding the office of mayor is ever opposed on the completion of his first year. As a rule the chief magistrate is chosen from among the ranks of the aldermen, though it occasionally happens that an outsider steps in to contest the seat.
But no alderman has of late years been persuaded to run for the mayoralty until the then incumbent has completed at least two years. There is no reason why this should be so.
There is no reason why this should be so that they want a two year term for aldermen. There are many members of the council, and all the best men among them should be given a chance in the position of highest honor. This is impossible under the present custom.

The Star will not be published tomorrow.

Expedition Leaves for the African Coast

Nearly Nine Wrecks Have Been Located

Which It Is Claimed Can Be

Reached for Gold

LONDON, March 27.—There is a fastinating air of romance and adventure about the expedition which leaves the East India docks on Wednesday in the steamer Alfred Nobel, to search for sunken treasure worth $6,000,000 off the coast of Africa.

According to Capt. C. A. P. Gardiner, of Bloomsbury, who heads the expedition, the African coast is lined with bullion sunk in every kind of vessel from old Dutch galleons to modern liners. Here is an alluring list of a few of the treasure which, it is hoped, will be brought to the surface: Immensely rich treasure captured from pirates and sunk in the Wilhelm der Secunda.

Priceless china, bullion, tin, lead, and silver, sunk in the Dutch valloon Mid-deburg, which was scuttled off Hoo-t's Bay 192 years ago to avoid capture.

Valuable cargo lost in the Dutch Government's armed merchantman Craas-tenstein in 1698.

Copper, tin and silver of great value, which went down in the Aberdeen White Star boat Thermopylae.

Captain Gardiner has served in the British and Chinese navies, and is an officer of the Royal Navy Reserve. His attention was drawn to the records of the many wrecks which have occurred along the African coast, and he spent several years in endeavoring to locate them.

WRECKS DISCOVERED.

He was rewarded by the discovery of twenty-nine wrecks, which could be reached, and the result of his discoveries was the formation of the South African Salvage Company, Limited, with a capital of $25,000.

The steamer Alfred Nobel, once the Oronoe, a pleasure yacht, and more recently engaged in carrying dynamite was chartered, and no pains or money was spared in equipping her as a salvage vessel.

There will be twenty hands, including two divers, all ex-Navy or naval reserve men. They will sign on for five years, and will be given 5 per cent. share of all treasure found.

"We are not going only to look for wrecks, but we shall do salvage work permanently," said the captain. "There is at present no salvage company in South Africa, and eight or nine valuable boats are wrecked there every year."

The Cape Government claims 15 per cent. of the value of all silver raised, 25 per cent. of the value of gold and

HE MIGHT NOT BE

A lady who was recently appointed a visitor to a hospital for children, fearing that poor children failed to receive the same attention bestowed on only those of richer parents, paid her first visit to the institution, intending to effect a change. In a ward she found a tiny boy quite alone. He looked around her for evidence or neglect on the part of the attendants.
A suit of clothes lay huddled on a chair. Folding them in an ordinary manner, she said:

"Surely, my dear, these trousers are too long for you by several inches."

"Yes, ma'am" replied the boy.

"A sin and a shame," cried she, and took a "companion" from her bag.
She sat down and cut off the legs of the garment and hemmed the edges.

"Now," she said, triumphantly, when the task was complete, "they will fit you better."

"The other boy's taller than me," replied the child. "They belong to him."
