conductors. I do not complain of the carly hore the night mails close, but I maintain the Postmaster should adhere to the hours he publishes.

Another complaint is that the mail due on Saturday or Sunday morning is allowed to remain in the Railway Station on Sunday. This was the case on Sunday, the 22nd inst. and had the Railway Station with its contents been destroyed by fire, or had the mail bag been stolen, on whose shoulders would rest the blame? These are matters for the P. O. Inspector to look into. And there is still another complaint; but this perhaps is due to the interest of the Papal Government, to the public has announced.

MR. C. Sparkow begs to intimate to she was an old friend of fine and was kept beyond her luncheon hour. Monsignor de Merode was an old friend of here in the has engaged one of the best and most skillful cooks to be had from Boston, and he is now prepared to furnish breakfasts, dinners and suppers in the highest style of the cultimate to the hours he public as a salad; and the wine was not dressed as salad; and the wine was miserable sour stuff, every dish was a penitence. And this was his dally habit. Monsignor de Merode possessed a very large fortune, at least million and a half of dollars! His vast income was devoted in the most generous and lavish manner to public charitted, and, doring the period of the Papal Government, to the public improvement of Rome.

Burning of a House with a History. A three-story wooden house, corner of Lancaster and St. James Sts., Carleton, was burned this morning, the fire breaking out about 1 o'clock. The house has a history of its own. Some twenty years Ann Maloney said she was not drunk moved there. We don't know whether a when arrested in Sheffield street. She successful canvasser for the Assembly had been working hard all day, was sick promised to have it removed, whether at her stomach, and got tripped up by a some wise man dreamed that it would be stone. An officer swore that she was removed, whether somebody professing to penitentiary.

Alex. Diggs confessed to drunkenness in Duke st., and was fined $6.

Win. Winyard. Geo. Tippets and the Government and the deliberations of Daniel Callahan, in for protection, were persuaded that Carleton was the Covernment and the deliberations of the Assembly. In the firm belief that Carleton was the chosen place, and the
