THE TRUE SISTERS.

There was a wealthy lady who had adopted as her own child an orphan girl, who was extremely pious, obedient, industrious, and always pleasant and cheerful. One day the lady said to her, "Theresa, as you are always so good, I intend you to have a new dress for our next Christmas festival. I have already spoken to the shop woman. There is the money; so go and get for yourself the beautiful stuff of sky-blue colour which pleased you so much."

The lady gave her two crowns. Theresa looked at the money, and then said, "Oh, dearest mother! I have already got clothes enough; but my sister, Francesca, has not got such a good place as I. She is very poorly clothed; and it will be a mortification to her if she sees me dressed in the beautiful new gown. May I not give her these two crowns? She has always loved me so; and when I lay ill, she came here so readily, and was the very kindest nurse to me."

"You good child?" said the lady, "write to your sister; she shall come to us: I will then have you both dressed alike. And since you have the like affection towards one another, so you shall also have the like dress."

HORSFORD'S ACID PHOSPHATE FOR ALCOHOLISM
Dr C. S. ELLIS, Wabash, Ind., says: "I prescribed it for a man who had used intoxicants to excess, for fifteen years, but during the last two years has entirely abstained. He thinks the Acid Phosphate is of much benefit to him."

HINTS TO HOUSEKEEPERS.

When a felon first begins, a sure remedy is to apply a piece of soft kid over the part affected, in which is cut or punched a hole as large as a split marrowfat pea. On the part left bare apply a fly blister, double strength, until it draws a heavy blister, as large as the hole, when the felon is cured.

A solution of oxalic acid has been used for removing ink-stains from cotton, linen, or the fingers, but it is attended with the danger of injuring textiles and the skin. A much safer and better treatment of ink or rust-stains consists in the application of two parts of powdered cream of tartar and one part of finely powdered oxalic acid. Shake up the ingredients well together, and apply the powder with a dry rag to the dampened stain. When the spot has disappeared the part should be very well washed.

Among the pretty and ingenious trifles in the fancy work world, are shopping bags made like the old-fashioned long purses on an exaggerated scale, with a lengthwise opening in the centre and two silver or gilt rings. A very attractive bag recently noticed was made of black satin, one end of which was embroidered with butterflies, while the other had a fanciful design wrought in fine gold cord. One end of the bag was drawn up and finished with a bullion tassel, and the other was left square and ornamented with gold coins.
