

SATURDAY, MAY 8th.

Leaving Vancouver at 9 00 a.m. the Princess Charlotte will proceed through the Gulf of Georgia, passing Lasketti Island, Hornby Island, Denman Island, etc. Shortly before noon Vancouver Island will be seen, with Union and Comox in the distance, and on the starboard the snow clad peaks on Mainland. Then Campbell River, the Sportsman's Paradise of Vancouver Island, will be passed, then through Seymour Narrows where the fierce current at certain stages of the tide has to be reckoned with by steamers less powerful than the Princess Charlotte. In the afternoon the steamers' course will be along the Johnson Straits, passing Alert Bay where the finest display of totem pole, on the entire Coast is to be found. Early in the evening Queen Charlotte Sound will be reached, and if the weather is favorable steamer will proceed direct to Queen Charlotte Islands, if not journey will probably be made via Nain, Bella Bella and Milbank Sound.

SUNDAY, MAY 9th.

The passengers' first glimpse of Queen Charlotte Islands will be the snow capped mountains which contain vast treasure vaults of copper and gold, and passengers on arrival at Ikeda Bay, between 10 and 11 a.m., will be given an opportunity of visiting the Ikeda Mines which are less than a mile from the wharf. The next call will be Jedway where the mines, a short distance up the mountain side can be seen from the deck of the steamer. From this point, for the entire length and breadth of Moresby Island, both gold and copper have been discovered in paying quantities, among the important discoveries being the Swede Group and the Tasso Harbor mines. Moresby Island is about 100 miles long with an average breadth of 30 miles. Leaving Jedway about 3 p.m. steamer should reach the strait between Moresby and Graham Islands about 8.00 p.m., and passengers will have an opportunity of viewing a stretch of level farm lands before reaching Queen Charlotte City between 9 and 10 p.m.

MONDAY, MAY 10th.

Queen Charlotte City is situated at the Southern end of Graham Island. There is a vast valley extending from the north end of Graham Island, southward down the Honna River and to the Townsite of Queen Charlotte. This valley contains at least 300,000 acres of exceptionally good land, As far as the eye can see, and
