SOUTH BUXTON.

We noticed an article in last week's issue of the Merlin Mirrar, giving the enterprising merchants of that place a great send-off for their push in getting down the cement walk across the cemetery, which was a work worthy of much praise to its promoters. Doubtless the writer was not a subscriber to the fund, or in looking over the list he would have noticed that some of the enterprising farmers in that vicinity had given twice as much towards this work as any one of those enterprising merchants, and he might have acknowledged the subscription of our friend from Glencoe, which was more than that of any one of those enterprising merchants, and this petition of his that was so largely signed by his enterprising merchants was only imaginary, as such petition never existed, as the grant was secured from the Council by Marshall, Powell and Foxton.

Hamilton Responsible.

Hamilton June 10.—The coroner's fury that investigated the death of John Hamilt, the G. T. R. yard foreman, who was fatally injured last Monday by being crushed between a car and a shed in the city yards on Wellington street, says "the City of Hamilton is wholly responsible for the accident." The evidence showed that there was only ten inches between the car and the wall, and the unfortunate foreman had to go into that space to give the signals to the engineer.

Victoria's Tame Moose.

Victoria's Tame Mosse.

The young bull moose in the park at Victoria, B. C., was captured in the north of British Columbia when quite young, while swimming a river in company with its mother, and was halter-broken and brought down to Victoria. It is now just about a year old, and its horns are just appearing.

At first this moose used to browse on different young trees, such as the willow and alder, but at present this diet is rather limited, it having killed off most of the trees in its enclosure, so that it usually fills up on grass. The grass clippings from the lawns are placed in the moose's enclosure, and when it wishes to eat any grass it kneels down on its forelegs and feeds in this position. I do not think the length of the animal's neck would permit it feeding on the ground unless kneeling. This moose, however, does not seem to floursh on this diet, as it is getting rather thin.

GUELPH HORSE SHOW.

Pepper & Co., A. Yesger and Hen. Adam Beck the Principal Winners. Guelph, June 10.—The second day of the Guelph Horse Show passed off most successfully. The attendance numbered nearly 4,000 people, and included many from outside points. Three excursions were in the city from Centre Wellington, West Middlesex and Stratford, and the majority of the excursionists took advantage of the opportunity and attended the show. The different events were closely contested, and Pepper & Co., A. Yeager and Hon. Adam Beck were the principal prise winners. From a social point of view it was a brilliant function, and the ladies contributed largely to its success. I Dr. McKinnon of Coningsby won the sliver cup for the champien draught horse.

June 9.—At a meeting of the Village Council last night a resolution was passed adopting the street committee's report recommending the submission of a by-law to the electors next month to raise the sum of $3,100 for the purpose of extending the water mains on Yonge, Catyle, Stewart and Prospect streets, and the putting in of five additional fire hydrants. As about 20 additional water services are already assured there is no doubt about the investment being a profitable one for the village, and it should receive the sanction of the ratepayers.
