

AS IN 1894

The photo was taken at the same point at which the sketch opposite was made. The grist mill has doubled in size and the stump land, gully and irregular roads have given place to beautiful buildings, immense factories and modern streets.